BRITISH FLYERS ADOPT GERMAN AIR WAR TRICKS

Tribune Man Rides Night Fighter.

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—In the twilight of the English channel I went flying tonight in a royal air force night-fighter plane and learned something of the tactics Britain is using against Hitler's air force. This was the first opportunity Britain had given American correspondents to make such a flight.

The plane was one of the American made Havocs, a three place craft popular with the RAF and much used against German bombers. I had a place in the cockpit.

[The Havoc is the American Douglas A-20-A bi-motored attack bomber. It has two 1,700 horse power Cyclone engines; its top speed is reported to be 370 m. p. h. It is armed with a powerful searchlight, four 20 millimeter cannon, and several 50 caliber machine guns. The craft weighs almost 10 tons.]

"Alone in Emptiness."

I felt alone in an endless emptiness as we soared out to we knew not what. The pilot sat somewhere far behind me with no communication between us except by telephone, which was hardly usable because of my ill fitting helmet and the howl of the motors.

Because of unfavorable weather over the continent the squadron to which the plane belongs was unable to carry out its assignments on this occasion, but the flyers later described the squadron's work.

Unlike most night fighter squadrons, which specialize in attacking German bombers over Britain, this outfit goes after the Germans at the critical moment when they are circling slowly over their own airdrome preparatory to landing after completing a mission.

It is a trick the German air force's Junkers 88s [dive bombers] developed on a large scale against the RAF's homecoming bombers and now the RAF is using it effectively in return.

An Air War of Nerves.

The RAF does not mind the Germans' knowing their preference for this critical moment because such knowledge only makes the German bomber crews more nervous. The more apprehensive the German crews become, the more likely the pilots are to delay landing until a crash is unavoidable.

Often the Havocs drop small bombs along the runways to make the enemy turn out his lights and force the bombers to turn to other fields. Then the Havocs follow and often shoot them down or render the substitute fields unusable with bombs, causing the planes to crash when they finally land.

A blonde 19 year old observer who rides in a Havoc's comfortable nose berth told me:

"I think the cockpit of the Havoc must have been designed by a woman. It is so comfortable and luxurious—you might say, fastidious. You have rows of neat silver switches with green tips and handles with orange knobs."

'RUFUS DAWES' WIDOW IS DEAD AFTER STROKE

Mrs. Helen Palmer Dawes, widow of Rufus Cutler Dawes, utility executive, banker, and civic leader, died last night in St. Luke's hospital after a week's illness. Mrs. Dawes, born in Washington Court House, O., 72 years ago, suffered a stroke last week while visiting in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Beverly Jefferson of Barrington.

Mrs. Dawes came to Chicago with her husband in 1898. He was president of a Century of Progress exposition. He died in January, 1940. She had been living at 120 East Bellevue place.

Mrs. Dawes is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Louis F. Watermulder of Chicago and Mrs. Robert T. Sherman, Winnetka, and three sons, William M. Dawes, Dubuque, Ia., Palmer Dawes, Jacksonville, Fla., and Col. Charles C. Dawes, 202d Coast Artillery, El Paso, Tex.. Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, Evanston.

COUNTER DRIVES COSTLY TO NAZIS, RUSSIANS CLAIM

Russian counterattacks have inflicted heavy losses on the German armies, Moscow declared today. The German blitzkrieg, it was said, "is breaking against the firmness of Russian troops." The Reds claimed the initiative in the central and southern sectors of the long front.

The Germans said their forces were near victory in the central Smolensk area and predicted this would be followed up by a direct offensive against Moscow. German and allied forces were reported driving ahead toward Kiev in the south.

FEDERAL SALES TAX FORECAST FOR NEXT YEAR

May Make All Pay on Income, Too.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—American taxpayers, confronted with the prospect of passage of the record breaking tax bill now before congress, face a heavier and more far-reaching tax burden next year, Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, said today.

New taxes in 1942 to supplement the 3,529 million dollar rearmament revenue program proposed this year are a certainty, he said, and may include a general sales tax as well as boosted income taxes thru broadening of the tax base. The latter would be accomplished by drastic reductions in present income tax exemptions.

"I'm not sure," Doughton asserted, "that we shouldn't eliminate income tax exemptions entirely and make everybody pay."

Too Ponderous for Open Debate.

The chairman made his predictions during testimony before the house rules committee which voted to send the unprecedented tax bill to the floor tomorrow under a gag rule limiting debate and virtually restricting the offering of amendments to members of the ways and means committee which drafted the measure.

Three amendments that will be offered from the floor were agreed upon by the committee this afternoon. They include a provision making newspapers and radio stations subject to the 5 per cent local telephone bill assessment already set up in the body of the bill. The tax is chargeable against the bill of each subscriber for local service and is separate from the tax on long distance calls, which was left unchanged.

Tax Hits Newspapers.

Representative Jere Cooper [D., Tenn.], a ranking majority member of the committee, said revision of the tax on telephone bills will not remove existing exemptions enjoyed by newspapers. He explained that existing law exempts newspapers and radio stations from a tax on leased wires, but that there had been no intention of exempting them from the telephone bill levy.

The committee also imposed a floor tax on wholesale stocks of matches equivalent to the 2 cents per 1,000 excise tax on matches manufactured after the bill becomes law. Matches held by retailers are specifically exempted from the new floor tax.

The billboard tax written into the bill just before it was reported last week was eased off slightly by the third proposed amendment establishing new brackets for smaller signs. Previously the bill taxed each sign of 300 square feet or less at $5 per year. The new brackets tax 100 square feet signs at $2; 200 feet at $2; 300 feet at $3; 400 feet at $5; up to 600 feet, $8, and more than 600 feet, $11.

The gag rule adopted by the rules committee, which is subject to discussion before acceptance by the house, allows three days of general debate, to be followed by consideration of

WAR MAKES SEA ONLY HOME OF TWO WOMEN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Philadelphia, Pa., July 28 (AP).—The war has made the cook and stewardess of a tiny Estonian freighter virtually women without a country—and both are tired of it all.

"Just cook, cook, cook," said the 35 year old, smartly dressed woman who has presided over the galley of the 1,005 ton Harjurand since it sailed from the Baltic port of Tallinn a year ago. "I wish I could stay in America. But when the boat goes I go, too."

Her companion as the vessel moves from port to port and country to country is Salme Tamm, 19, the stewardess.

Capt. Hans Ruben of the Harjurand is sympathetic, but unable to help. His ship, with its crew of 17, sailed from Tallinn a year ago. They were in Portugal when the Russian government, which had seized Estonia, directed that the ship return home. But the order was disregarded and the freighter now is registered under the Republic of Panama flag.

THE TROUBLE WITH GETTING SNARLED UP WITH EUROPEAN NATIONS IS THAT THEIR STATUS IS CONSTANTLY SUBJECT TO SUDDEN CHANGE

For instance, yesterday soviet Russia was considered a menace to civilization.

And yesterday Finland was the most meritorious and honorable of all the European nations.

Yesterday England and France were stanch allies bound together by sacred ties.

Today England is blowing up French warships and has overthrown French mandated Syria.

In view of these kaleidoscopic changes in European alignments, when even the most improbable thing may happen, wouldn't it be better if———The United States stayed out of the war before some blundering Englishman says something that will get us into war with England?

97.8° Shatters Record; Heat to Stay Today

As the official temperature in Chicago yesterday soared to an all-time July 28 record of 97.8 degrees at 4 p. m., Forecaster A. J. Knarr wiped his damp brow, glanced at his weather maps, and said regretfully that no relief is in sight.

Continued warm and humid is today's forecast. Skies will be partly cloudy, and scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers today and tomorrow will bring only temporary relief. After the showers, it will be "steamier and stickier than before," Knarr said. Today's highest temperature will be 98 to 100 degrees.

Yesterday's 97.8 degree peak was the hottest of 1941 and compared with the previous July 28 high mark of 97 degrees, established in 1916.

What Causes It All.

The combination of a nearly motionless low pressure area over South Dakota and a high pressure area over the gulf states has brought Chicago its heat wave, Knarr said. Warm air masses, humid after their journey across the Gulf of Mexico, are moving slowly northward into the north central and eastern states area.

Knarr eyed a weak high pressure over North Dakota hopefully, but said it probably would not build up to a point where it could reverse the trend of air masses and bring cool Canadian breezes into Chicago.

Hotter in Suburbs.

Official and unofficial readings in suburbs yesterday showed that, despite the record temperature, Chicagoans were luckier than their neighbors. In Hammond the thermometer hit 110. Park Ridge police said it was "95 in the shade, 110 in the sun." In Mundelein and Fox Lake it was 104, and 103 was the reading in Barrington and Lake Zurich. Readings of 100 were common.

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, health editor of THE TRIBUNE, advised Chicagoans to eat less while the heat wave lasts. Meat should be eaten once daily to maintain a balanced diet, but fruits and vegetables should replace heavier foods, he said. One to two teaspoonfuls more of salt than is eaten normally should be included in the daily diet. Drink plenty of liquids, but avoid too much of sweet beverages with sugar content. Iced drinks in excessive quantities may be harmful.

Closing Windows Helps.

Housewives will find they can keep their homes 5 to 10 degrees cooler by closing the windows in the morning and leaving them closed until night. A fan should be used to keep air in motion.

Dr. Cutter warned against overexercise and excessive exposure to direct sunlight. Keep your head covered if you go to the beach, and avoid crowded beaches, where the water is none too pure.

If you can't sleep at home, grab a blanket and walk to the nearest park. Park Police Chief Roger Shanahan said yesterday that the ordinance requiring that all parks be cleared by 11 p. m. will be ignored by park police "for the duration." Beaches, which usually close at 10 p. m., are staying open until 10:30 or 11 p. m., but no swimming is permitted after the life guards go home.

[The heat wave will be the subject of a broadcast over W-G-N from 12:50 to 1 p. m. today. O. T. Lay, who temporarily is in charge of the United States weather bureau office here, and Dr. Cutter, will be heard.]

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH GREAT BRITAIN SEVERED BY FINLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 29 [Tuesday].—Finland is breaking off relations with Great Britain it was officially announced this morning.

The Finnish foreign ministry, it was stated here, has handed a note to the British minister, Gordon Vereckер, in Helsingfors informing him that "as Finland is cobelligerent with Germany, normal British-Finnish relations can hardly be maintained."

The statement added that in reply to Verecker's question whether this meant that Finland is requesting "severance of diplomatic relations" the Finnish foreign minister replied that "this was so."

Saves Friend, but Loses Own Life in Lake

John Kingma, 16 years old, a Fenger High school pupil, rescued a companion from Lake Calumet yesterday, but was drowned a few minutes later when he tried to swim to shore to get help.

John Kingma.

Kingma, who lived at 10722 Edbrooke avenue, was in a small metal rowboat with three other boys when it capsized about 100 yards from shore. One of the boys could not swim and as he tried in vain to stay above water Kingma went after him and pulled him back to the overturned boat.

The four boys clung there and shouted for help but no one heard them. Then Kingma and his cousin, Claude Lloyd, 16, of 10724 Edbrooke avenue, started to swim to shore.

Sinks as He Nears Shore.

Halfway in, Kingma went under. Lloyd managed to reach shore. The two boys clinging to the boat were rescued.

Albert Lawrence, 19, of 1507 North 16th avenue, Maywood, fell from a raft and sank in a clay hole at North avenue and River road, Leyden township, before help could reach him. On Sunday, Anthony Guadagno Jr., 12, of Leyden township, drowned there.

Story of Heroism Told.

A story of heroism by Miss Rose Tdadaro was told yesterday at the coroner's inquest into the death of Private Frank Prado of Fort Sheridan, who was drowned Sunday in Diamond lake in Lake county. Witnesses said that Prado was boating with Miss Tdadaro when he dived into the lake and was seized with cramps. Miss Tdadaro leaped in after him and twice almost saved him before she was exhausted.

She is 23 years old. Her home is at 529 North Marshfield avenue. Prado also was 23. He lived at 1817 Grand avenue.

Joseph Jurgilas, 29 years old, 5952 Aberdeen street, a truck driver, died in county hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Sunday when he struck his head on a rock while diving into the lake at 101st street.

ANTI-WAR CHIEF CHEERED AS HE LASHES AT CRITICS

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Thirteen members of the senate took the floor and paid dramatic tributes to Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] today after he had denounced what he described as a conspiracy on the part of the Roosevelt administration to silence him [Wheeler] and to put a stop to his efforts to keep the country out of war.

Veteran senators said it was the most remarkable demonstration of support and admiration ever accorded to a member of the senate in modern times. Spectators in the crowded galleries applauded vigorously and repeatedly, ignoring the angry demands of Vice President Henry A. Wallace for "order," and his shouted threats to clear the galleries.

Thirteen Senators Listed.

Those senators who joined in the tribute to Wheeler were David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], Robert M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.], Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], Henrik Shipstead [R., Minn.], Dennis Chavez [D., N. M.], Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], and Robert A. Taft [R., O.].

Senator Wheeler precipitated the two hour demonstration in his honor when he rose to a point of personal privilege and replied to the accusation of "near treason" made against him last Thursday by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Controversy Over Postcards.

Stimson intimated that Senator Wheeler used his franking privilege to send postcards to soldiers, urging them to oppose pending legislation to extend the service of draftees, National Guardsmen, and other army personnel. Actually the cards—numbering about a million—were mailed before the draft extension legislation was proposed and they did not mention it. Only a few of them were received by soldiers. They urged recipients to write to President Roosevelt and express their opposition to American entry in the European war.

Not a word was uttered in Stimson's defense in the debate today. Only two of the speakers—Majority Leader Barkley and Senator O'Mahoney—defended the President and his administration from the accusation of war mongering, and they paid tributes to the integrity and high patriotism of Senator Wheeler.

WALSH REVELATION

Senator Walsh, chairman of the naval affairs committee, made the most sensational accusation of the day.

"The smearing of the senator from Montana and others who agree with him," Walsh declared, "is bad enough and vicious enough, but when it comes to a man's family, or to his children, it is time to call a halt.

"Recently the son of the senator from Montana [Richard Wheeler, 22 years old] made application to attend a naval school so that he could apply for a commission as an ensign in the navy. He met all the physical requirements, he met all the educational requirements, because he was a graduate of a recognized college.

Quotes Admiral's Words.

"He was advised by the officer who asked him the various questions to take his case up with an admiral in the navy. The admiral of the navy said to him: 'Are you the son of Senator Wheeler?' 'Yes, sir.' 'Do you share your father's views?' 'Yes, sir.' 'Well, the navy has no place for you'

"It so happened that some naval officers who overheard the conversation informed the boy not to worry, and the case was finally taken to the secretary of the navy. To his credit—I do not know that he deserves any great credit for it—he approved the granting of the commission."

It was learned that the admiral to whom Senator Walsh referred is Rear Admiral George Pettengill, commandant of the Washington navy yard and station.

THE TWELVE OTHERS

The most dramatic speech of the day was delivered by the veteran Senator Johnson, who said he would blame the senate "if it sits here so supine, indifferent, so cowardly, that it will not denounce this unholy attempt that is made against our brother in the senate."

"I stand with you, let me say to the senator from Montana," Johnson said. "If you must go to a concentration camp I will go with you and there will be two of us at least. There will not be one alone, and if every other man in this body chooses to be the poltroon, that he can be, if he wishes; then we will go alone; we will go together, and we will stand up for what we believe to be the rights of the people of the United States."

Among remarks made by other colleagues in tribute to Senator Wheeler were the following:

Senator Smith—I don't believe Stimson would have had the guts to say what he said about Burt Wheeler if he hadn't been told to say it. [Inquiry disclosed that White House Secretary Stephen T. Early wrote Stimson's statement.] It is time for the senate to denounce this interference on the part of those whom no one has ever voted for and who could not be elected a justice of the peace if they were to run.

Senator Brooks—Senator Wheeler will never have occasion to render greater service to democracy than now by accepting the brunt of this challenge. There is a growing feeling thruout the world that dictators must rise to oppose dictators, and that nothing but dictatorial policies can prevail. In the last few months we have gone far in furthering that view.

Senator Vandenberg—Love of country, courage, and sincerity are not the things out of which treason is made. Love of country, sincerity, and courage of the type personified by the senator from Montana are the hope of democracy. If it is a united America that is ultimately sought in connection with our foreign policies, let it not be overlooked that there are millions of Americans—and I happen to be one of them—who agree with the senator from Montana in respect to the foreign policy which he advocates. There are millions of them who thank God for his spokesmanship. Mr. President, if the secretary of war wants to indict those millions of Americans for treason, or near treason, then we can bid good-by to any hope for a united America.

Senator Tydings—The senator from Montana does not need any defense at my hands. Every one who has served in the congress with the senator from Montana realizes that he is not only one of the outstanding me-

MUST HAVE U. S. MEN TO WIN WAR, SAYS DE GAULLE

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BEIRUT, British Occupied Lebanon, July 28.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "Free French" movement, today indorsed opinions previously expressed by Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, and Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, the former's successor as British commander in the middle east, that to accomplish the complete and final defeat of Germany, American troops "must be dispatched" to this hemisphere "sooner or later."

[Gen. Wavell on July 4 shook his head in the negative when asked: "Can you win the war without America's full scale participation?" "We will have to have airplanes, tanks, munitions, transport, and finally men," he said. Asked when, he answered, "The sooner the better." Gen. Auchinleck on July 7 said American man power would be needed "if this war is to be won properly—on German soil."]

Asked if he agreed with the views the British generals had expressed, Gen. de Gaulle answered in the affirmative.

Gen. de Gaulle, who arrived here Friday, has been in conference with "Free French" and British colleagues and Lebanese officials.

In an address to the French colony he pointed out that contrary to Hitler's expectations, America is taking an increasing part in the European war, and is now "marching straight toward intervention."

[London papers yesterday hailed what they termed the "growing pledge" of war aid from the United States as a result of Harry L. Hopkins' Sunday speech in which he said "Britain is not fighting alone." Details on page 2.]

of this body, but that he ranks well with the outstanding men who have served the nation in its senate thru all its history. It would be inconceivable that any person knowing Senator Wheeler could for a moment question the sincerity of his actions or the patriotism of his being.

Senator La Follette—I suggest that the President inculcate the doctrine of freedom of speech in his own cabinet before undertaking to spread the four freedoms everywhere in the world.

Senator O'Mahoney—I am very ready to testify now that the senator from Montana, in everything he has said and everything he has done, has undoubtedly been moved by the highest spirit of loyalty to his country.

Senator Shipstead—To be opposed to going into foreign wars before an election is patriotism. After the election apparently it is treason.

Senator Chavez—There will be national unity when the people have more faith in the America First patriotism of men like Senator Wheeler and less in the Britain first patriotism of men like Sir Josiah Wedgwood. [This referred to the British member of parliament who recently made a statement in New York denouncing Wheeler and urging the United States to get into the war.]

Barkley Begins with Praise.

Majority Leader Barkley began his remarks with a tribute to Wheeler as "one of the ablest and one of the most courageous men in the senate or in public life." He eulogized Wheeler's sincerity, liberalism, and patriotism.

Barkley said Wheeler had made mistakes of judgment, particularly when he denounced the President's cabinet and advisers as a "motley crowd." He said the cabinet members "may sometimes exercise bad judgment" in expressing their views, but they have as much right as the Montana senator to express them.

The majority leader then vaguely insinuated Wheeler had not strictly complied with the law when he permitted the America First committee to send out post cards under his frank.

Clark Voices Amazement.

Senator Clark said he was amazed by Barkley's attempt to lecture the senate on the subject of the franking privilege. He recalled that the Democratic national committee had used the franks of practically all Democrats in the senate—especially Barkley's—to send out millions of pieces of mail.

Senator Taft asked Barkley whether he meant to say that a violation of the franking privilege justified the charge of treason against a senator.

"That is a pettyfogging question," Barkley replied indignantly.

Taft intimated that Barkley was the pettyfogger for attempting to divert the debate from the subject of treason to that of abusing the franking privilege.

SPEECH BY WHEELER

In his speech Senator Wheeler compared the Roosevelt administration's campaign to smear him and destroy his influence to attacks made upon him by the Harding administration when he conducted an investigation of graft and corruption that drove Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty from the cabinet.

"As the investigation proceeded, high officials in the Harding administration became frantic," he said. "Their agents were sent thruout the United States. They found nothing, but finally they deliberately framed charges. I was indicted in Montana and in Washington, D. C.

"Framed charges withered in the light of facts; the indictments exploded. I accepted those base charges of a cabinet member of the Harding administration as a badge of honor for myself.

"A few days ago Secretary of War Stimson accused me of 'near treason.' This accusation is more serious to right thinking Americans than those made by Daugherty, but I accept these low and perfidious charges of 'near treason' by Secretary Stimson as another badge of honor."

Tells Content of Cards.

Senator Wheeler explained that the million post cards that were sent out under his frank contained, on one side, quotations from speeches by President Roosevelt, former President Herbert Hoover, Senator Wheeler, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain; Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], all having been printed in the congressional record. On the other side, he added, the cards bore his signature and the legend:

"Write today to President Roosevelt, at the White House, that you are against our entry into the European war."

"With deliberate cunning," Wheeler told the senate, "Secretary Stimson created the utterly false and spurious impression that I had circulated this franked card principally among selectees—and that it encouraged these American boys to resist any attempt to keep them in service over a year.

Defends His Mailing List.

"I denounce these attempts of Secretary Stimson and war mongering newspapers who seek to convey such an untruthful impression as both deceptive and un-American.

"At my direction a million or more of these cards were mailed to all names which appeared on a commercial list. It contained the names and addresses of Americans in every walk of life. I did not examine it—tho I assume all responsibility. There is nothing extraordinary in using these lists. One of the so-called allied governments [Norway] obtained such a list from the same source this very month of July. They used it to disseminate their foreign propaganda—but I have not heard Secretary Stimson charge that government with 'near treason.'

"And last fall the friends of Wendell Willkie used some of these commercial lists to frank some 7 million pieces of mail to the voters. I did not and do not condemn them—neither does Secretary Stimson.

"The material on this card was prepared in the first part of May—two months before we heard anything about an extension of the draft. The order was submitted to the government printing office on May 27.

"At a press conference on May 28 President Roosevelt was asked if men being taken into the army would be expected to serve 'for the duration.' The President said the reporter was letting his imagination run way with him.

"On June 24, 1941, the first of the cards were delivered by the government printing office. On June 27 final delivery was made. By July 1 most of the cards were in the mail. The President did not formally request legislation to extend the training period beyond a year until July 21, 1941, altho the chief of staff recommended it on July 3.

Conscription Not Mentioned.

"These cards—prepared—printed—and mailed before the extension of army training was suggested, contain no reference to conscription or the legislation to extend the length of service of selectees and Guardsmen.

"Three out of more than a million cards—we know—have reached American soldiers. Probably more will come into possession of some of the two million men who wear their country's uniform on land, sea, and in the air. But when Secretary Stimson learned that three of these cards—which reproduced President Roosevelt's solemn pledge of Oct. 30, 1940, never to send American boys into foreign wars—had in July, 1941, come into possession of three soldiers, the secretary said: 'At this moment a circular is sent out which will necessarily have the effect of impairing that discipline and impairing that training and thus impairing our defense against the dangers which now confront this country.'

Suggests Change is Needed.

"If three franked cards can impair the discipline of our army, if three franked cards can impair the training of our armed forces, if three franked cards can impair our national defense—how badly we need a new secretary of war.

"If the morale of the United States army can be either threatened or destroyed by three cards urging addressees to write the President against going to war—our national defenses are in a tragic state."

Senator Wheeler said the New York Times had conducted a survey among 14 large eastern and southeastern army camps to ascertain whether any considerable number of the cards had reached soldiers. He read to the senate an item in the Sunday New York Times, which stated that the army camps reported unanimously that none of the Wheeler cards had been received by them.

Upholds Franking Privilege.

The senator defended his use of the franking privilege to present his views to the people.

"The dissemination of intelligence is a bulwark of democracy," he said. "If the people have the facts, they will ultimately reach a correct conclusion."

He recalled that in the 1936 campaign, the Democratic national committee sent out 13,500,000 pieces of franked mail. Under the frank of Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], he said, 100,000 pieces of mail went into Montana alone.

"This present vilification of those of us who stand against war is all part of a well organized and carefully planned smear campaign by the war mongers to silence opposition to war," Senator Wheeler continued.

"First, Chief of Staff Marshall described as 'sabotage' certain alleged efforts to arouse draftees and National Guardsmen against draft extension legislation. He did not tell us who was making these efforts. He did not tell us who these saboteurs were.

"The next day Mr. Stimson—aided and abetted by high salaried war propagandists—delayed his scheduled press conference. War department officials whispered to newspapermen that most important developments had caused the postponement. This sly unofficial announcement assured full attendance. Finally the warlike secretary spoke. I quote him: 'Some matters, however, have come to my attention today, including two circulars franked by Senator Wheeler.

"'Without expressing legal opinions, I will simply say I think that comes very near the line of subversive activities against the United States, if not treason.'

"I might state, parenthetically, that the secretary's version of 'treason' or 'near treason' is not taken from the constitution of the United States, or any statement or writing of any responsible person in the history of this country. When the secretary of war charges that sending excerpts from the congressional record to American people is a 'subversive activity' and 'near treason,' it is obvious that his definition of treason must be one which could be found only in the philosophies and preachings of Hitler and Stalin.

Cites Newspaper Headlines.

"This Stimson statement, artfully and skillfully prepared, produced results. Newspaper headlines screamed: 'Wheeler acts subersive—Stimson'; 'Stimson charges Wheeler with near subversive activities'; 'Wheeler near treason, says Sec. Stimson'; 'Stimson charges Wheeler's appeals border on treason.'

"The plot continued. The drama unfolded. The climax approached. The next day—last Friday—the President of the United States—a Democratic President—one whom I helped nominate and elect—one whose domestic program I had supported—joined the wolves of war in their slanderous attack. New headlines appeared. 'Wheeler has gone too far—F. D. R.'; 'Senator Wheeler goes "too far" and "is in danger," F. D. R. warns.'

"Whatever temporary success this smear campaign has enjoyed can be attributed to the artful planning and the falsity of its foundation.

Brands Impression False.

"The secretary apparently cares not for truth or facts. He wanted the American people to believe that I had circulated army camps. That impression was created, with cold and calculated cunning. It is false, but it sired those shrieking headlines.

"If an American senator cannot ask the people of America to petition the President to keep us out of war; if free speech and free assemblage is to be denied in this country, democracy in the United States will have been sabotaged while we talked of establishing the four freedoms all over the world.

"We must not—we cannot—ask American boys to die upon the bloody battlefields of Europe and Asia to establish liberties denied the people of the United States.

"So long as this country remains at peace, so long as this congress has not declared the United States to be at war, so long as we retain a remnant of democratic government—I will not be silenced."

HAIL 'GROWING PLEDGE' OF U. S. AID TO BRITAIN

London Papers Cheered by Hopkins Promises.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—London newspapers today hailed what they termed the promise of additional war aid from the United States as expressed in yesterday's radio speech to Britons by Harry L. Hopkins, President Roosevelt's lend-lease coördinator, and statements by Dorothy Thompson, writer, and Raymond Gram Swing, radio commentator.

Hopkins' disclosure that "British and American warships are patrolling on parallel lines" was acclaimed by the Evening Star's diplomatic correspondent in an article headed "Growing Pledge from U. S. A." He professed to see simultaneous coöperation in the orient and in the Atlantic.

Cite F. D. R. War Swing Story.

Comments on America's war attitude by Miss Thompson and Swing were included by the Evening Star among what it called "the important steps identifying the United States with the war effort."

Swing's "valuable explanation of the step by step process by which President Roosevelt gradually will lead his countrymen to see the war as a struggle not only for European freedom but for the preservation of their way of life," was praised.

Cheer Hopkins Pledge.

But the "crowning pledge," in the paper's opinion, was Hopkins' statement, "People of England, you are not fighting alone." Those words, it said, "were meant as a signal America is going even more powerfully into action against the common enemy."

The Evening Standard, asserting that Russian resistance has "upset Hitler's high hope of an early return westward to obliterate this island," warns that "this is the great crisis of the war for us."

"While Germany is throwing her last ounce of energy and strength into the combat and soviet Russia is giving hers, Britain and America must do the same," the paper added.

HOUSE APPROVES 8,063 MILLION FOR ARMED FORCES

Washington, D. C., July 28 (AP).—The house passed and sent to the senate today a new $8,063,238,478 defense appropriation bill. The total included $4,760,203,813 for the army, to equip and maintain a land force of 1,727,000 men, plus critical items for a 3,000,000 man army.

The navy would get $1,569,374,665, including funds to increase enlisted strength from 258,000 to 369,000 and the marine personnel from 46,000 to 75,000 men.

SENATE STANDS 2 TO 1 FOR LONGER DRAFTEES' TERM

Washington, D. C., July 28 (AP).—An informal administration poll today indicated that the senate will grant 2 to 1 approval of legislation empowering the President to prolong the service periods of all army personnel.

The poll, taken by White House lieutenants, showed opponents of the plan can muster a maximum of 30 votes, out of the total senate membership of 95.

Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the majority leader, said that the legislation will be taken up Thursday. He said he hoped debate can be completed "in a few days."

FORT SHERIDAN REVIEW HONORS LEGION OF VALOR

Heroes of Army and Navy Hold Reunion.

Members of the army and navy Legion of Valor were guests of Fort Sheridan yesterday at what officers said was one of the largest troop reviews in recent years.

The war heroes opened their 51st annual reunion yesterday in the Congress hotel. Members of the legion hold one or more of the three highest military decorations of the United States—the Congressional Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Cross, or Navy Cross.

Gen. Cummins Receives 15.

Fifteen distinguished soldiers and officers of the legion were received at 2 p. m. by Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, 6th corps area commander, in his offices in the postoffice building. Legion members left by special train for Fort Sheridan after the reception.

More than 5,000 troops of the 40th Coast artillery brigade [anti-aircraft] passed in review on the post parade grounds at 4:45 p. m., after which legion members were invited to the recruit reception center for dinner and an inspection of the processing of draftees.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox spoke to the legion members last night. He declared that if Americans are unwilling to fight, their freedoms will be destroyed by "a stronger breed of men," and called on the nation to make a decision "now" to resist any assault or threat of force that might be directed against this country.

Calls for Bravery.

"Today the American people must be brave," Knox said, "or there is not going to be any American people."

"If the time ever comes," the secretary said, "when we Americans are unwilling to fight to preserve the freedoms we have inherited, these freedoms will be destroyed and taken from us by a stronger breed of men who retain the courage to fight for what they have and for what they want."

"The need is not only for a decision to take every possible measure that can be taken to prevent this state [the subjection of European countries] overtaking us," Knox declared, "but the need is for a decision now—a decision that, come what may, we shall resist to the uttermost any and every assault that is made upon us, and we will make due preparation to meet any and every threat of force that is pointed in our direction."

The talk was carried on a national radio hookup.

ARGENTINA HEEDS GERMAN DEMAND; RETURNS A RADIO

Transmitter Released as Diplomatic Baggage.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 28 (AP).—The congressional committee which seized a portable radio transmitter consigned to the German embassy announced tonight it was returning the apparatus and "documents in code" which accompanied it but reserved the right to report its findings to a federal court.

The committee, which is investigating anti-Argentine activities, earlier asserted it intended to retain the documents, photographs, motion picture film and "other elements of propaganda."

Repeated German demands for return of the property were supported by the Argentine foreign office on the ground that the 500 pound transmitter was traveling under diplomatic immunity.

Refused to Open Crate.

The transmitter was flown to Lima on June 21—at a dollar a pound—but returned to Argentina last Saturday when an attaché of the Lima legation accompanying it found that only 44 pounds of diplomatic baggage could be admitted to Peru without being opened for inspection. Rather than open it, the German returned to Argentina with the transmitter and it was seized by police.

Bolivia Jails Nazi Consul.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 28 (AP).—The German consul at Cochabamba, Bolivia, was arrested today and other Germans were reported detained because of suspicion of subversive activities in that central Bolivian center of German colonization.

Berlin Hints at U. S. Forgery.

BERLIN, July 28 (AP).—Germany struck again today at Bolivian charges of a German conspiracy to overthrow the La Paz government and a "third power" was accused by a spokesman of the crude forgery of a letter involved in the incident. It was strongly implied that the "third power" was the United States.

Maj. Elias Balmonte Pabon, ousted Bolivian military and air attaché in Berlin, who is charged with writing the letter which resulted in the expulsion from Bolivia July 19 of German Minister Ernst Wendler, personally denied authorship in a prepared statement read to correspondents at the foreign office. The attaché, who has been dismissed on a charge of treason, denied he had ever communicated with Wendler.

[In La Paz Police Director-General Col. Luis Gamarra declared that experts had checked the signature of Maj. Balmonte Pabon on documents he signed while a minister of the government and that these signatures coincided with the one found on the letter to Wendler.]

Death for Plotters Decreed.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, July 28 (AP).—The death penalty for any one attempting to turn Paraguay or any part of it over to a foreign power was decreed today by President Higinio Morinigo a week after neighboring Bolivia nipped an alleged revolutionary plot and expelled the German minister.

Ninth Nazi Agent Pleads Guilty in Federal Court

New York, July 28 (AP).—Bertram Wolfgang Zenzinger, 36 years old, of Topanga Canyon, Cal., pleaded guilty today in Brooklyn Federal court to an indictment accusing him of an espionage conspiracy to transmit information to a foreign power. He was one of 33 persons arrested in the Federal Bureau of Investigation's recent roundup of Nazi spies and agents. Zenzinger originally pleaded innocent but changed his plea because, he told Federal Judge C. G. Galsten, he had discussed "the matter with special agents of the FBI and I see that I am guilty." Eight others pleaded guilty July 18.

NEGRO SHOT TO DEATH.

PAYS HIS LAST $27 TO FORMER WIFE, RUMBA TEACHER

Charles Doellefield, 46 years old, of Rockford, a former minister who is now an unemployed public relations counsel, paid $27 on account yesterday when brought before Judge John J. Lupe on a contempt citation charging him with being in arrears $3,000 in alimony to his former wife, Lucille, 35, of the Brevoort hotel, a rhumba instructor. Doellefield said he hadn't worked since last November, and $27 was all he had.

Mrs. Lucille Doellefield.

Mrs. Doellefield said that her former husband had prevented her from seeing their son, Charles Jr., 13, for the last six years, and that he wouldn't even mail her a photograph of the boy which she had requested. She obtained a divorce in 1933 on a charge of cruelty.

Doellefield said he had met his former wife in 1937 in New York City and that she told him she was going to marry a wealthy South American and that he could forget the alimony. Judge Lupe transferred the case for hearing Wednesday to Judge Rudolph Desort, who had conducted one hearing earlier.

AWARD HONORS TODAY AS FINALE OF ROTC CAMP

A final review and the presentation of awards to outstanding cadets will mark the end today of the six week ROTC encampment at Camp Leonard Wood in the Fort Sheridan reservation. Members of ROTC units at seven midwestern colleges and universities will break camp early tomorrow.

Brig. Gen. John L. Hower, post commander, will review the 302 cadet officers, who return for their senior year at school and commissions in the coast artillery [anti-aircraft]. Most of them will be called to active duty at the end of the school year. Lieut. Col. Charles A. Chapman of the University of Illinois, has been camp commandant.

Cadet John C. Beattie of Minneapolis, Minn., a member of the University of Minnesota unit, will command the battalion of four batteries. A saber for the outstanding University of Illinois cadet will be presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution, Illinois chapter, to Cadet Herbert L. Alberts, 109 North Cumberland avenue, Park Ridge.

Germany Reveals Death of General on East Front

Bars Are Dropped

New York, July 28 (AP).—The temporary bars which blocked the entrance of Pola Negri, Polish actress, into the United States were dropped late today and she came ashore from Ellis Island with permission for permanent residence in this country.

At a brief hearing before a special board of inquiry, Miss Negri, 41 year old star of the silent screen, explained she did not know her return permit had expired during her five year absence from America. She had been denied entry earlier because the permit was outdated. She arrived on the American Export liner Excalibur.

"I am deeply touched by the kindness and courtesy with which I was treated by the immigration officers," she said on reaching Manhattan. She added she planned to accept a film offer and take steps to become an American citizen.

FLAMES DESTROY 2 FACTORIES; 4 BOATS ALSO BURN

Fire, supposedly caused by spontaneous combustion due to the extreme heat, destroyed the one story plant of the Hammond Chemical Service company at 241 Brunswick street, in Hammond, yesterday. John Lloyd, superintendent, was seriously burned, and two laborers suffered lesser burns in fighting the fire. Five firemen were overcome by smoke and heat.

The one story plant of the Stanworth Oil company, 15th avenue and the Illinois Central railroad tracks, Broadview, also was destroyed by fire. The company reclaims used oil. A large quantity of oil was burned. Large clouds of smoke covered the area and some carried into the Hines Veterans hospital at Maywood.

Four boats, valued at $5,000, were burned at their moorings in the Jackson Park Boat club area, 59th street and the lake. Firemen and coast guards prevented the fire from spreading to 200 other boats.

Three firemen were injured when sections of a wall and roof gave way beneath them during a fire at the A. C. Johnston & Son garage, 1 Eastern avenue, Joliet. Those injured were Gordon Greenwood, Henry Manthei, and David Carter.

Reds Claim Americans Cheer Stalin in Theaters

MOSCOW, July 28 (AP).—The soviet press today published prominent reports of the arrival of the Russian military mission in Washington, D. C., and accounts of applause for Josef Stalin and other soviet leaders in American theaters.

WILLKIE'S HOME TOWN TO STAGE ANTI-WAR RALLY

Elwood, Ind., July 28 [Special].—An anti-war rally will be held Sunday in Elwood, the home town of Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican candidate for the Presidency.

Geo. M. Bonham.

The town's opposition to Willkie's demands for America's intervention in the European war was evinced yesterday in a proclamation by George M. Bonham, mayor of Elwood. The proclamation urged the townspeople and those of the surrounding community to "meet in peaceful assembly and demonstrate to the President that they stand united behind the promises he has made" to keep the United States out of war.

Meeting to Be in Park.

The meeting will be held in Calloway park, where Willkie a year ago received formal notification of his nomination for the Presidency.

Forrest A. Harness, congressman from the 5th Indiana district, former state commander of the American Legion and member of the house military affairs committee, will address the gathering.

"I feel we must assert ourselves just as vociferously as we possibly can," said Mayor Bonham, who is recovering from an operation. "The time is short. From all reports we are being rapidly pushed to the very brink of war against the wishes of the majority of the people.

Roosevelt Promises Cited.

"The purpose of this meeting is to demonstrate to our leaders in Washington the oral opinion of this typical cross section of America. The President's promises must be kept. We hope we can inspire other communities to make like expressions to Washington."

The proclamation quoted from a speech in which President Roosevelt said that "as long as it remains within my power to prevent it there will be no blackout of peace in the United States."

PHIL LA FOLLETTE SPEAKS AUG. 7 IN EVANSTON SCHOOL

Former Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin, who has been making a speaking tour against war, will address a meeting of the Evanston chapter of the America First committee Thursday, Aug. 7. The meeting will be held in the Evanston Township High school auditorium.

Urban G. Willis of the Pullman Free School of Manual Training said last night that "people who are promoting federal government control and even operation of the utilities, industry, transportation, and agriculture are doing more to bring about a totalitarian government in the United States than the axis powers can ever do." He spoke at a meeting of the Evanston America First chapter in the Ridgeville Community house, 908 Seward street.

Norman Saunders, staff speaker of America First, charged that politics is involved in dealing with draftees. He spoke at a meeting of the Oak Park chapter at 736 Lake street, Oak Park.

INDIANA PHARMACIST DROWNS.

Coldwater, Mich., July 28 [Special].—Franklin A. Davenport, 38 years old, a pharmacist in Auburn, Ind., drowned yesterday in Clear lake.

HE SWAPPED DRINKS FOR GUNS, BUT POLICE DECLARE IT NO SALE

There was a flavor of the old west about the matter which had Benny Bachielli, 46 years old, in the Central station lockup yesterday.

Benny Bachielli.

The trouble, according to Detective Joseph Gorman, was that Benny apparently had a standing invitation to the patrons of his tavern at 453 East 43d street to step right up to the bar, deposit their hardware with the proprietor, and help themselves to a drink.

Benny's trouble started when police found Junior McCullough, 26, colored, of 1708 South Dearborn street, firing a .32 caliber pistol in an alley near his home. He was just trying it out, he said, having bought it from Bachielli for $5.

Detectives went to the tavern and found in the safe three .38 caliber revolvers, a .32 caliber automatic pistol, and an underarm holster.

Questioned at the Central station, Bachielli said the guns and holster had been left as security by thirsty customers who were financially embarrassed.

Police were holding Bachielli and McCullough pending a report on ballistics tests to determine whether any of the guns had been used in unsolved shootings.

N. Y. G. O. P. SPLITS OVER LA GUARDIA FOR RE-ELECTION

New York, July 28 [Special].—New York City's Republican leaders split today on the question of supporting Mayor Fiorello La Guardia for re-election, as the question of intervention or non-participation in the war was tossed into the political situation and is expected to become a major issue in the campaign. Republican leaders in Kings, Richmond, and New York counties put their stamp of approval on La Guardia, a political turncoat, while those from Queens and the Bronx turned thumbs down on the "little flower." Meanwhile John R. Davies, former president of the National Republican club, announced he would enter the Republican primary against La Guardia, an interventionist.

SHOT FROM DARK KILLS AN INDIANA MAN IN HIS HOME

Muncie, Ind., July 28 (AP).—Edward K. Miller, 37 years old, a roofer, was shot to death tonight as he sat in his home. The bullet, fired from the front porch, passed thru a screen door and struck Miller in the heart. He died instantly.

Mrs. Miller had left the room a short time before to look after her young baby and said she had not seen or heard any one on the porch.

Police Chief Joseph Stipp said no reason for the killing or clue to the assassin's identity was learned immediately. He said neighbors saw a man in a dark raincoat and a slouch hat run across the Miller yard.

RAIL WORKER KILLED BY TRAIN.

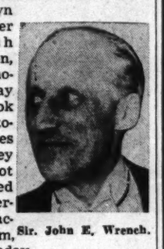
Coldwater, Mich., July 28 [Special].—Lloyd Wing, 44 years old, an employé of the New York Central railroad, died today of injuries suffered last night when struck by a train.

CALL 'KIDNAPING' OF ENGLISH UNION FOUNDER A JOKE

Australia University to Take No Action.

BY W. A. O'CARROLL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, July 28.—Sydney university students who enticed Sir John Evelyn Wrench, founder of the English Speaking union, into an automobile last Thursday night and took him to a crematorium eight miles away, where they left him, have not been apprehended and the university plans no action against them, it was learned today.



Sir John E. Wrench.

While thousands of persons listened to a recorded broadcast by Wrench on "Australia in the Post-War Era," the students went to Wrench's hotel. They posed as officials of the Australian broadcasting commission and lured him into the automobile on the pretext that he was required to deliver his address personally. After leaving him at the crematorium they disappeared.

Beethoven Gets a Crowd.

Wrench had visited the university the day before for a luncheon address and had found an audience of only 15 assembled at the call of the university's British United society. At that hour 200 other students were attending a phonographic rendition of Beethoven's Ninth symphony. Wrench declined to speak, saying an audience of 15 was an affront.

C. McLaurin, president of the British United society, admitted he and Wrench "had words."

Leslie Philpott, secretary of the students' representative council, said the "kidnaping" was a good joke that arose from the students' "sense of the injustice Wrench had done them." The students claimed Wrench had insulted the vice chancellor of the university and should apologize.

Only a Prank, Say Students.

According to a newspaper story, students admitted that two of their number lured Wrench into the automobile as a prank. They denied it was a kidnaping and said the prank was in retaliation for Wrench's refusal to speak.

Police said Wrench was not forced into the car and that it would be difficult to sustain in court even a charge of offensive behavior.

GERMANS CLAIM VICTORY NEAR IN SMOLENSK AREA

Report Red Division from Far East Destroyed.

BERLIN, July 28 (AP).—German forces were reported tonight on the threshold of victory in the fierce "battle of Smolensk" and a direct assault on Moscow was forecast as the next offensive stroke for Adolf Hitler's legions.

Another Red army division—the third reported within 24 hours—was said to have been wiped out and war dispatches said the newest one destroyed had been shifted all the way from the far east to buttress the wavering defenders of the soviet capital.

Previously, military reports had reported two Russian divisions annihilated in an encircling operation near Mogilev, on the south side of the Smolensk salient.

[Smolensk is 230 miles southwest of Moscow, but it guards a gateway eastward between the Dvina and Dnieper rivers where Napoleon broke thru after a two day battle in 1812. The Russians never have acknowledged being pushed back from Smolensk, but the Germans have claimed it fell into their hands July 16 and have reported their motorized vanguards operating as far eastward as the region of Vyazma, midway between Smolensk and Moscow.]

Reds Shifted 4,000 Miles.

DNB, the official German news agency, said that the coup de grace to the new division reported destroyed was delivered by German tank forces and that prisoners disclosed the division had been shifted some 4,000 miles from one side of Russia to the other.

[This was the first indication that the Russians may have drawn on their far eastern army to strengthen the front against the Germans. It has been regarded as fundamental Russian strategy to treat the far eastern army as a completely independent, self-sufficient and almost autonomous force guarding the soviet's Pacific frontiers.]

DNB reported 140 Russian planes destroyed, including 123 in air fights, by the German air force yesterday and last night on all fronts.

At the same time, the high command reported both flanks of the Russian campaign moving ahead against difficulties. Some advance units were unofficially said to be within 45 miles of Leningrad, Russia's second largest city but the war bulletin said only that progress was being made in that direction. It described the German-Rumanian-Hungarian allies as "in pursuit of the enemy in spite of bad roads" in the Ukrainian sector.

Refer to Stalin Line.

German front reports disclosed that in some places at least the Stalin line was still standing. The high command many days ago had reported this defense system "broken at all important points."

A dispatch by DNB stated that the line had been penetrated in another place by German troops advancing from southern Bessarabia. The operation, it was added, required the reduction of 21 Russian forts which were desperately defended.

Berlin took pride in the exploits of the Finnish allies. A Finnish offensive on the east side of Lake Ladoga [toward Leningrad] was declared proceeding, while several Russian efforts to land on the Finnish coast were reported repulsed.

REPORT STALIN 'LIQUIDATION' OF 9 ARMY LEADERS

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 28 (AP).—The Finnish government information bureau said today that Finnish forces had captured an order of the day signed by Josef Stalin indicating the liquidation of nine high officers of the Red army.

Gen. Paviov.

The former commander on the western front, Gen. Paviov, and the western chief of staff, Gen. Klimovsky, headed the list, the official Finnish bureau asserted. It is said the order of the day charged the generals with "shameless cowardice, defeatism, and incapacity to lead, causing a breakdown of military operations, surrender of arms to the enemy without fighting, and desertion of their posts."

F. D. R. RETURNING TO CAPITAL BY SPECIAL TRAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 28.—President Roosevelt tonight departed for Washington on a special train to assume personal charge of all phases of the economic and military campaign he has launched against Japan.

He will be back at his desk in the White House tomorrow morning, where he will receive reports from the state, treasury, war, and navy departments on his moves. During his four day stay here Mr. Roosevelt ordered the freezing of Japanese credits in the United States and mobilized the Philippine army in Japan's back yard.

Before leaving Mr. Roosevelt received telephone reports from Washington on far eastern developments. ington on far eastern developments. Mrs. Roosevelt left this morning for Campobello, N. CLAIM NAZI DRIVE 'CRACKING'; REDS COUNTER-ATTACK

Heavy Losses Inflicted on Germans: Moscow.

MOSCOW, July 29 [Tuesday] (AP).—The Russians declared today Moscow's defenses took the edge off a new Nazi night raid on the soviet capital, and said that on the land front German drives toward Moscow and Kiev were "breaking against the firmness and stubbornness of our troops."

Red army counter-attacks were reported taking a heavy toll of the Germans in sector after sector along the battlefront.

Night fighter patrols and anti-aircraft barrages were declared officially to have knocked down nine of approximately 150 German planes which struck at Moscow in its sixth raid of the war. Only a few of the raiders were said to have broken thru over the city, starting some fires and causing casualties.

Heavy Fighting at Smolensk.

The heaviest land fighting was in the Smolensk sector, 230 miles west of Moscow, where the Germans are attempting to break thru to the capital, and in the Zhitomir area, the battleground 85 miles west of the Ukrainian captial of Kiev.

[A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, said indications that the long awaited Russian main counteroffensive has been raging for two days were seen in neutral reports of fighting on the Smolensk front. German troops were reported to be digging in to cope with a Russian onslaught. Fresh Russian troops and large forces of tanks, artillery, and planes were reported thrown into the fray.]

Down 109 Nazi Planes.

The soviet communique indicated that Russian forces passed to energetic counterdrives after the German drives bogged down.

Aside from the Smolensk and Zhitomir fighting, where the Russians claimed they had seized the initiative, there was no important combats on the front.

It was reported 109 German planes were brought down on Saturday while only 36 Russian planes were lost.

Bomb Rumanian Port.

The swing to offensive tactics by the ground forces was paralleled by a widening bombing campaign of the soviet air fleet, extending from German allied Rumania to the waters of Finland.

Constanta, the principal Rumanian oil port, was raided Sunday night, while other Red bombers ranging far to the north hit a Finnish coastal defense cruiser with heavy bombs and left it exploding.

AIR RAID REVIVES LONDON CRY FOR BETTER DEFENSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—The German air raid on London last night has revived the demand that the government redouble efforts to improve the ARP [air raid precautions] and civil defense services.

[Germans yesterday claimed to have set big fires in London in the first attack on the British capital in two months. Britons reported 12 persons killed and said three raiders were shot down. Last night, a communique said, only a few enemy aircraft appeared, dropping bombs in East Anglia with "slight damage" resulting.]

Existing fire prevention arrangements, while greatly improved, still are inadequate and a new approach to the whole question is necessary, The Evening News said in an editorial.

Demanding immediate action, the Daily Express said: "We are smashing German cities and the Germans do not like it. As soon as they can, they will come back and do their worst over Britain once more."

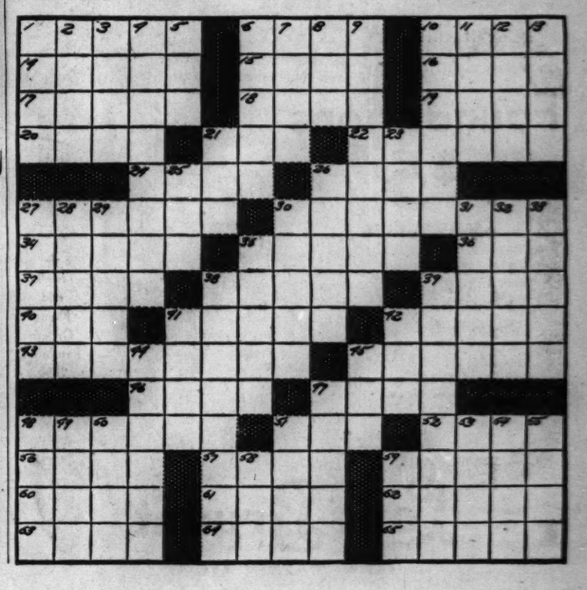
PUZZLE OF MONDAY, JULY 28, SOLVED



U. S. OPENS PORTS TO 45 JAP SHIPS HIDING AT SEA

Senate O. K.'s McArthur as Philippine Army Chief.

Washington, D. C., July 28 [Special].—Increasing attention was focused on the far eastern situation today by developments in Washington. Among these were:

1. Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, announced Japanese ships may enter and leave American harbors without hindrance for the present.

2. The senate confirmed the nomination of Douglas A. McArthur in the rank of lieutenant general to command the army of the far east.

3. The war department moved to strengthen the army in the Philippines by transferring 16 officers to duty at the island outpost. Nine of these are from Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Ambassador Is Informed.

Welles' enunciation to Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura on the Japanese ship situation cleared the way for the liner Tatuta Maru with 247 passengers aboard to enter the port of San Francisco where it was due last Thursday.

With 100 American citizens among the passengers, and a $2,500,000 silk cargo, the liner has been hovering off the Pacific coast since President Roosevelt last week issued an order freezing Japanese assets in the United States. The ship was only a few miles off the Golden Gate when the order was issued, and the captain put about fearing seizure.

Whereabouts of the Tatuta Maru is uncertain, but an official of the N. Y. K. line in San Francisco said he believed the vessel was within 16 hours of that port and would arrive tomorrow. Fourty-four other Japanese ships also have been off San Francisco awaiting determination of their status.

No Future Assurances.

Welles emphasized to Ambassador Nomura that clearance papers for entry and departure of Japanese ships could be obtained readily only under present conditions and that he could not give any assurance for the future. However, an opening appears to have been left for Japan to escape more severe measures by going no farther in the Far East.

Welles also disclosed today that Latin American nations may coöperate with the United States and Great Britain in applying pressure against Japanese feints toward the Dutch East Indies and Russia. He said the economic pressure was made possible by agreements among the United States and the Latin American countries.

McArthur Is Confirmed.

The nomination of Gen. McArthur, who has been field marshal of the Philippine commonwealth army since his retirement from the United States army Dec. 31, 1937, was confirmed without a dissenting vote. He had served in the army for 38 years and left eight years before reaching the statutory retirement age of 64 after being chief of staff.

The Philippine army was brought under the direction of the United States last week immediately after announcement by the Vichy government of France that Japan had been granted naval and military bases in Indo-China.

The 16 United States army officers ordered to the Philippines rank from captain to second lieutenants. They will leave San Francisco not later than Aug. 7 by army transport or commercial airliner.

Nine from Fort Sheridan.

Nine coast artillery officers from Fort Sheridan are included in the group. Five infantry officers were taken from Fort Wood, Mo., another infantry officer was taken from Camp Robinson, Ark., and an artillery officer was ordered from Fort Riley, Kas.

The officers transferred from Fort Sheridan include Capts. Leland K. Dewey, Alvin W. Hamilton, Alonzo E. Langworthy, and Eugene H. Nirlinger; First Lieutenants Edward P. Freiman and Irwin A. Vetesnik, and Second Lieutenants George E. Levagood, Thomas F. Porter, and Raymond D. Minogue.

The order transferring the officers did not say anything about troop contingents and the war department policy is to keep movements of troops to overseas posts secret.

FRANK FREEMAN DIES IN GRANT PARK.

Kankakee, Ill., July 28 [Special].—Frank Freeman, 86 years old, a former Grant Park postmaster, died today in the home of his son, Dr. Harry Freeman, in Grant Park, where he lived most of his life.

Sinews of War Withheld from Japs by East Indies

Map locates sources of vital war materials in Netherlands East Indies which have been withheld from the Japanese by Dutch action yesterday which increases Japan's problems in the orient. Inset map locates Netherlands East Indies (black) in relation to other east Asia lands.

JAPANESE SPEED TROOPS TO NINE INDO-CHINA BASES

SAIGON, French Indo-China, July 28 (AP).—Japanese troops moved toward their new Indo-China bases by land and sea today under a Tokio-Vichy agreement giving them use of this French possession's roads and, possibly, railroads.

Four transports and four destroyers are expected to reach here on Wednesday and 1,900 Japanese military trucks already have arrived from Hanoi, 800 miles to the north, to take incoming Japanese troops to nine bases in southern Indo-China.

Terms of the agreement, announced today, disclosed that Japan would occupy two points on the coast and several points in the interior, including bases in Cochin-China, 500 miles across the China sea from British Singapore. The coastal points were not named, but were believed to be Cam Ranh bay and Saigon.

[Vichy, France, announced that Japan would move troops from Tongking to Annam and Cochin-China, occupy two points on the east coast, and station "units at points to be chosen in common."]

CHINA URGES U. S. TO MAKE THIS A WAR TO END WAR

CHUNGKING, China, July 28 (AP).—Determination to make current hostilities "the war to end all wars" was urged by H. H. Kung, vice premier and finance minister, in a broadcast to the United States from this Chinese capital today.

Kung reaffirmed confidence in China's ultimate victory over Japan and said Chinese were glad "America has now recognized the fact China is her first line of defense in the Pacific. We have a common cause," he said, "and a common enemy."

Many persons doubted the authenticity of the Tanaka memorial, he said, but history has borne it out, word for word.

[The Chinese for the last 12 years have insisted on the authenticity of a document—denied flatly by the Japanese—purporting to be a memorial to Emperor Hirohito by Gen. Baron Giichi Tanaka, premier 1927-1929, outlining a program of conquest, first of China, then all Asia, then world supremacy.]

CANADIAN ARMY IN BRITAIN LACKS ARMS, IS CHARGE

New York, July 28—(AP).—Joseph A. Kennedy, a Windsor, Ont., lawyer, said today that Canadian forces in England were ill-equipped and that the Canadian government, in the opinion of Canadians in Britain, had not "done as much toward the British war effort as it might." Returning from England aboard the Pan American Airways American Clipper, Kennedy said certain officers were not equipped with specified revolvers and that "there is not enough light artillery and there are a number of other equipment deficiencies."

Ecuador Finance Chief to Negotiate U. S. Loan

QUITO, Ecuador, July 28.—Finance Minister Vicente Illingworth today left in his plane for Washington, D. C., to negotiate a loan for industrial and agricultural expansion. The government has not indicated the projects for which the funds are needed.

Arrows locate two areas believed to be coastal bases which Japanese will occupy in southern Indo-China.

BRITAIN FREEZES CHINESE ASSETS ON PLEA OF CHINA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 28.—Falling in line with American policy in the far east, the British government tonight extended to China the "freezing" order imposed on Japan last week.

The latest anti-Japanese move was made, it was officially announced, "at the request of the Chinese government" and means that sterling balances and other assets of persons living in China will be tied up beginning tomorrow, altho payments in sterling will be permitted if authorized by the Chinese government.

The reason for the British government's action, it was explained, is to plug any loophole by which Japan could continue to trade with Britain thru the use of assets it controls in occupied China.

Following a consultation with the Netherlands government in London, the Dutch East Indies today joined in the "freezing pool" against Japan.

LETTER TO REASSURE TURKEY REPORTED PREPARED BY STALIN

ANKARA, Turkey, July 28 (AP).—Josef Stalin, following a British suggestion, has written President Ismet Inonu of Turkey assuring him that soviet Russia has no intention of seizing control of the Dardanelles, Turkish gateway between the Mediterranean and Black seas, it was learned tonight on the highest authority.

British diplomatic sources said the British ambassador to Moscow, Sir Stafford Cripps, was instrumental in persuading the soviet régime that only an outspoken disavowal of alleged Russian aspirations to occupy the Dardanelles and the Bosporus could be effective since the Nazis repeatedly have charged that Russia was intriguing for military bases on the straits.

2 RUSSIAN FILMS ARE BARRED AS RED PROPAGANDA

Philadelphia, Pa., July 28 (AP).—The state board of censors today banned two Russian motion picture films, "The Red Army" and "The Soviet Frontier on the Danube,' describing them as "very subtle propaganda" which would encourage subversive groups.

The films, distributed by the Artkino company of New York, were brought here last week for a private showing.

"The soviet system of government is an autocracy completely opposed to the American way of life," the board said in a statement. "The people who have expressed an interest in the approval of these films are not interested in motion pictures as such, but in soviet propaganda as such."

JAPANESE HINT DRASTIC ACTION OVER DUTCH OIL

Hit 'U. S. League' as East Indies Bar Trade.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, July 29 (Tuesday) (AP).—Koh Ishii, Japanese cabinet bureau of information spokesman, announced today that Japan has frozen the assets of The Netherlands and The Netherlands East Indies.

TOKIO, July 29 [Tuesday] (AP).—Far-reaching consequences may result from the action of the Netherlands East Indies in cutting off oil supplies, breaking off a monetary agreement, and freezing commerce with Japan, the Japanese ainted today.

The Japan Times and Advertiser, which is controled by the foreign office and has been calling the United States "hostile" and attributing to her the leadership of the economic offensive against Japan, declared that the Dutch colonial government was "in league with the United States and Britain."

Press Is Pessimistic.

The Japanese press discussed the East Indies' action in a pessimistic vein.

"In general, financial circles are inclined to believe that formidable difficulties will be encountered in attempting to make a new monetary agreement with the Java bank," said the Times and Advertiser. This referred to the Java bank's accord with the Yokohama Specie bank, suspended by the Batavia government.

The Dutch action, Japanese said, possibly will bring consequences even more far-reaching than the United States' action in freezing credits of Japan, the Dutch islands being Japan's nearest substantial source of oil.

"Must Have Oil."

In fact, it was said, oil may be considered the most vital single factor in the economic struggle, for Japan must have oil whether she gets it from the United States or the East Indies and it was said that cutting off that supply might bring a drastic change in the far eastern situation.

The Japanese privy council yesterday ratified the Japanese-French accord on French Indo-China.

Japan has placed under strict governmental control the assets of nationals of Britain, the United States, and the Philippines, with similar action imminent against Canada, India, the East Indies, and, perhaps, New Zealand. A big question is whether Japan shall act economically against Australia.

Dutch Bar All Trade.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, July 28 (AP).—The Netherlands East Indies, a chief supplier to Japan of such war essentials as oil, tin, and rubber, today stopped all trade and monetary transactions with the Japanese except by special approval of the government.

Out of the window went the agreement of last Nov. 13 by which Japan was to receive 1,800,000 tons of oil annually.

All Japanese assets in the islands were frozen. The exchange of goods except by special permit was banned not only with Japan and her empire, but also with Manchukuo, China, and Indo-China.

H. J. Van Mook, director of economic affairs, said it was necessary to freeze commerce with Japan to prevent a big Dutch loss. The Japanese have virtually halted exports to the Indies, he said, but goods already contracted for were reaching Japanese docks and the Dutch had to pay for them there, altho they might never be delivered.

PHILIPPINE OFFSHORE PATROL PUT UNDER U. S. JURISDICTION

MANILA, P. I., July 28 (AP).—The Philippine offshore patrol was placed under the jurisdiction of the 16th naval district tonight, becoming the first unit of the Philippine armed forces to be incorporated with the United States forces as ordered by President Roosevelt.

The patrol comprises about 150 officers and men, two torpedo boats, and several such ships under construction.

WHAT IS THE IMMINENT PERIL?

Senator Reynolds, the chairman of the military affairs committee, asks Gen. Marshall, the army chief of staff, to give congress the proofs he may have of the imminent danger to which this country is exposed. He says that such information given the country cannot be a secret revealed to the enemy because it is information which must be possessed by that enemy and it would be his bad luck, not ours, to have it made known.

The imminent danger of attack, at a place not named, from a source not disclosed, in a manner unrevealed, is the reason given for the proposed declaration by congress that national interest is so gravely imperiled as to require the indefinite extension of the service of all the army personnel. Because of the alleged danger in the immediate future, congress is asked to pass a resolution which would remove the year's limitation upon the training of the drafted men and the National Guard.

Mr. Roosevelt says that this will not be an act of bad faith because the selective service act contained the proviso for the extension of service if congress declared a national emergency. When that language was incorporated in the act, everybody understood it to mean that if the United States was in war the men who were being trained would continue in the army service. That was an obvious prospect. The country at war would need its men.

But the definite promise, often repeated by Mr. Roosevelt, was that we were not going into a foreign war and that the army was being raised for defense. So now the question is, where are we to be attacked? An imminent peril means one that threatens immediately. What is the threatened point and how will the attacker hit it? If the government knows of such an impending event, the country is entitled to the information.

Senator Taft has proposed what appears to be an intelligent and satisfactory alternative to the proposal that the service of all the men be made indefinite. He would add four months to the training period, which would thus be lengthened to the term of service regarded as sufficient for the schooling of a soldier. The morale of the men would not be injured by such an extension and their proficiency would be increased. As they were released from training they would go into the reserve and be available for call, if necessary.

The army could handle the organization of this reserve to make it an efficient body. The release periods are staggered over eight months so that at no time would there be an evaporation of the new army. The inequities of the age range in the first draft act would be remedied gradually and the new men coming in for training would take it at the proper time in their lives.

The Taft proposal would create a much better army than will be procured from the proposal as reported from the senate military affairs committee—unless the United States is going to war very shortly. In that case, the removal of the limitations by an act of congress isn't needed at all because it automatically follows.

Possibly the military secret is that Mr. Roosevelt intends to do some attacking himself. It may be his intention to send an expeditionary force some place. He may be the man who intends to invade. That would be a military secret. If the military secret isn't his but is a secret involving an act of aggression by some one else against the United States, the country has a right to the information before congress makes any further provisions regarding the American armed forces. That would seem to be the common sense of the matter.

PLEDGING A DEMOCRACY.

After Great Britain had entered the other war, Grey, the foreign minister, declared the principles which in his opinion should control the commitments of a government in its relations to others. "You cannot, you should not, pledge a democracy in such a matter [that of war] without consulting it, without clearly knowing its mind. I could not be sure that on any point of interest the British democracy was willing to go into a great war. What a cruel disappointment to another nation if I had given a pledge, and it had taken certain dispositions on that pledge, and the pledge had not been kept because the people did not indorse it! A friendly nation might thus be involved in a great calamity and might with justice make the reproach that we involved them in that calamity, for without our pledge they might have submitted to a diplomatic humiliation, but relying on our pledge they had stood firm and so encountered destruction."

That point of principle, honor, and responsibility has not been followed by the American government in this war. It has given assurances and made commitments which were not supported by American public opinion and did not represent the will o. intentions of the American people. The people are four to one against armed intervention abroad. If this democracy has been committed to that it is against its will. The people cannot be reproached for the course taken by their government. When the administration tries to send troops abroad, it may greatly encourage the hopes of belligerents who want this aid, but it does not honor the pledges repeatedly given the people here, and it does not represent the opinions of the country.

There may yet be a cruel disappointment. It is to be seen whether it will be suffered by the American nation or by others.

CYCLES IN KANSAS.

We quote. First from THE TRIBUNE a few days ago.

"Hutchinson, Kas.—Take a look at the old Dust Bowl now—it's turned itself into a horn of plenty.

"The 14 southwestern Kansas counties, once ravaged by swirling dust storms, have started cutting a wheat crop which, unless all signs fail, will total around 35,000,000 bushels. Combines and binders—some of them old ones almost buried in dust a few years ago—are clattering around huge fields that were seared graveyards of hope in 1935 and 1936.

And now from "The Earth and the State" by Dr. Derwent Whittlesey of Harvard:

"The semiarid steppe [southwestern Kansas is part of it] is incessantly appealing to the federal government for legal surcease of its difficulties—difficulties which arise from changes in density of population, new material technology, and cyclic changes in the character of human occupance that occur as a result of the occupance itself. Originally sparsely inhabited, the steppe came to be used by Amerinds as nomadic grazing country as soon as they obtained the European horse. Under the conditions of nature in such climates, water supplies run dry before the herbage has been overgrazed and the migrants are forced on before they disturb nature's balance.

"The white man made laws to encourage settlement in this country. He dug wells, established permanent ranches and cities and, above all, shot the country thru with railroads. Once the new technology, introduced from the humid lands of their invention, had been established, evil effects appeared in the landscape. It permitted overgrazing, and even stimulated it by furnishing a vast outside market for live stock products. In favored districts, at least during normal periods of more than average rainfall, wheat came to be grown.

"As good fortune gave way to bad, sectional politics again arose, this time in the Farmer-Labor movement at the close of the World war, when the price of wheat fell from its wartime heights. This movement has been longer lived than its predecessors, because the adversity has been more prolonged. Postwar prosperity was followed by world-wide economic depression. This synchronized with the destruction of the natural herbage by the teeth and hoofs of excess stock and the exposure of bare soil by the plow. As a consequence, cropless years and dust storms which destroyed the soil plagued the country during the normal period of less than average rainfall. Many inhabitants have been compelled to migrate and a cycle of human occupance has been brought to a close."

Our readers may draw such morals as they please. Our own is that we'll take McLean county.

UNION HOW NOW?

A report from London of the federal union movement there says that there are those who "drink quietly to Great Britain, the 49th state." From time to time there are also reports of plans to teach American history in the public schools. Apparently, all the English boys and girls learn of the United States is that there is a person who is called Uncle Sam when he comes across or is expected to come across, and called something else when he doesn't.

A prospectus on the subject of American history suggests to the English that the pupils might become interested in the stories of the great American leaders and learn something of the idealism which is said to run a strong current thru the life of this busy republic. Enlightenment would be desirable if the 49th state is to be considered as a prospect.

At a recent luncheon of motion picture executives in the Samuel Goldwyn studios in Hollywood Sir Victor Sassoon said:

"It is now so obvious to the business men of the world that a federal union of England and the United States is necessary that it hardly bears discussion. England must come into the democracy of the United States with the full rights of statehood."

Again enlightenment is suggested. States come in with rights. They also come in with qualifications and responsibilities. The unionists here need not be reminded and those in England should be that the American constitution guarantees each state a republican form of government and prohibits orders of nobility. If our processes are to prevail and the regular order be taken, Great Britain would be given a territorial form of government while it produced a state constitution, conforming in principles to the American requirement.

On several occasions American territories, before and after the Civil war, raised questions of importance in trying to make their constitutions acceptable. The makeover of British social and political life would be considerable and nothing useful is served in trying to minimize that. It would be odd if the general upshot of the thing should be that altho Mr. Roosevelt's refugee royalties were all restored to their thrones, rewon for them in absentia, the king who has stuck to the battlefront lost his crown and all the dukes became misters.

In congressional debates we could not expect to hear any references to the remarks of the noble lord, and the English citizen might find the Congressional Record different reading from Hansard. However, noble lords and plain Englishmen in congress would be known as honorable and no questions asked.

Editorial of the Day

"TO BRING THE WAR HOME."

[The London Economist.]

The next step in American policy now seems likely to be something far wider than the change of patrols to convoys. Psychological preparation for such a move, as well as the physical necessities of an ever more dangerous world, lies behind the announcement of the creation of a new office of civilian defense, to be in charge of Mr. LaGuardia, the mayor of New York, who is also chairman of the United States-Canadian joint defense board and [like many of Mr. Roosevelt's emergency appointments] a titular Republican. The lengths to which it will be found necessary, in a country like the United States, to carry ARP measures will have to be found by experiment, and the announcement that the new organization is to be run on lines similar to those built up in this country under the ministry of home security is more of a compliment than an exact description. But nothing is more likely to "bring the war home" to the American people, both literally and metaphorically, than talk of shelters, gas masks, and fire fighting.

Lew Fields Joins the Old Crowd.

Somewhat hesitatingly an angular old fellow approaches the pearly gates. "There is something familiar about this scene," he muses; "reminds me of that back-drop in the old music hall. There is music in the air, too; old, half-forgotten tunes—why, that's the opening chorus from 'Whirl-i-Gig,' and I swear these figures fluttering about me are the boys and the girls from 'Fiddle-Dee-Dee.' No, my mistake; this one was in 'Hoyty-Toyty,' or was it 'Twirly-Whirly'?"

"But see, the gates are swinging open and there is good old Hopper, made up as St. Peter . . . and look at the crowd around him, cherubs all . . . look at that golden head; why, it can't be . . . but it is, Lillian! . . . and good old Fay, Pete, Sam, May, Lou and Lotty—even John T.! The great sequoias are all glories,
They stand like primeval giants,
Like Anak and Og, in the forests.

Their home is in the high Sierras,
Slow centuries are their deep secrets,
Their birthdays are all prehistoric.

In tall and taciturn grandeur
They stand by uncounted thousands,
Their lips are more mute than the Memnon's.

Their trunks are like massive pillars,
Their pedestals are the high mountains,
Their capitals are crowns of beauty.

Their aisles are mighty cathedrals,
There is reverent awe in their stillness
And a sense of the Creator's presence.

The Duke Plans a Vacation.

Hon. Linemaster: Every not so often me an tha mama sit down in the cool of an evening in our garden close to the dandalion bed and have a real hard to hard talk. These little tete a tetes are really good for the soul. Dont think me silly or sentimental, but I always sit close enough so that I can hold her hands [Yea! safety first].

Last eventide, "What a night," an azure sky gradually taking on a purple hue, twinkling stars making their appearance, one by one, just seemed to say, "Lovers, sweet repose after your day of toil," and a silvery moon that [aw, nutz]. Ennyway, it wasn't half bad sittin in my undershirt after I got my shoes an socks off. Her shoving off chatter is put to me in a very lady-like, genteel manner a la "Listen Mopey, before ya put on tha snore bag I gotta know if an when you're gonna get a vacation this here year."

Well, I been holding out on this info cause I can smell trouble a brewing when I finally hafta spring tha gloom. I asked tha boss 2 weeks ago an he tells me I'd hafta take tha last 2 weeks in Sept. on account of tha good help wanting to go early. I thanked him profusely out loud and what I called him in silence wood make a piker out of Hitler.

When I slips tha mama the glad tidings she went tongue tied an fer 3 minutes she coodn open her bazoo—then, as the old saying goes, "After the calm comes the storm." She got so mad she cood of made a straight jacket think it was store string.

Then I get my instructions as to what I shood start buying for the trip—ice skates, sleds an mittens fer the kids, long underwear, ear-mufs an wool socks fer me, a fur coat an muff fer her, and a heater that heats for the jallopy. I tries to tell her that mebbe she's borrowin trouble, cause last year late September was beautiful an I start salving her with bologney like—think of tha autumn leaves an tha cool evenings an tha harvest moons an any other thing that came to my bean, but tha answer to all that tripe was a pure unadulterated "Ixnay" and that as far as she was concerned I was very welcome to go all by myself but she woodn' put it in writing. HEALTHY GUMS PROTECT THE TEETH.

THE gums form our first line of defense against dental infection. Weaken these barriers and all sorts of difficulties may appear. We know how important it is to keep the surface of a steel bridge covered with the proper sort of paint, otherwise rust will destroy the structure.

As we can well understand, bleeding occurs only when one or more blood vessels become broken. But little pressure is required to rupture a tiny capillary. On the other hand, unless the parts are swollen or inflamed, oozing is not likely to take place with ordinary brushing.

Pain and soreness are not necessarily indications of trouble. Neither is color. The tissues may present a ruddy appearance, but if they are puffy—swollen in ridges—the redness is probably due to inflammation. Then it is that a soft brush may produce slight hemorrhages.

There are countless diseases of the mouth, varying from mild irritation to pyorrhea. We should include also Vincent's angina, and the attacks of all sorts of parasites—particularly plant fungi. Then we must take some account of injuries from too vigorous cleansing because bristles may be quite too sharp. In addition, we may consider the accumulation of tartar, badly fitted crowns, and poor occlusion [where the teeth meet unevenly]. Finally, damage comes from constant pressure which results from fragments of edibles packed between the molars. Each mouthful pushes more of this material against the tiny, delicate projections which fill this space.

There are also numerous mechanical conditions which may cause distress, such as a filling or a crown that is rough. Failure to cleanse the ivories thoroly after each meal, permitting the products of decomposition to accumulate, will likewise induce irritation. We must not overlook such deficiencies as vitamin C or B complex, or any type of food failure which means that the cells have lost some of their resistance.

First of all, let us assume that something is wrong and that the gums have begun to bleed, to recede, or to show the characteristic swollen ridges. There are a number of things to do. We must make certain that scrupulous cleansing becomes the rule. Next, we can attack the diet—adding calcium-containing dishes and plenty of vitamins. We can also avoid an excess of starches and use particularly "chewy" substances which will make the jaws work. Unless we give them a steady job, we need not complain should the parts used in mastication give way.

Not infrequently, the digestive tract will be at fault, and a badly coated tongue means that the entire oral cavity has become a cesspool. Testing the mouth for acid may show that the saliva is not powerful enough to supply the alkali necessary to neutralize the noxious matter remaining within the cavity.

When it comes to hygiene we must not forget the tongue. A well soaped soft cloth or rubber brush may give the mouth its first "clean" taste in a week. Scraping with stiff bristles or any metallic object may well be avoided. Nevertheless the débris must be removed, and the same soapy mixture will be equally efficient. This scrubbing is followed by a nonirritative mouth wash. A preparation which contains sodium ricinoleate [castor oil soap] may be helpful.

We may take it for granted that too few of us brush up and down, as well as horizontally, and still fewer pay any attention to the backs of our dentures.

If canker sores abound, body reserve needs reinforcement—as plant fungi find it easy to grow on surfaces that should refuse them a foothold. Too much tobacco and the excessive use of condiments—all assist them to lodge on the mucous surfaces. Here sodium perborate is an excellent remedy. If these ulcers refuse to recede under home treatment, lose no time. Visit the family doctor and your dentist.

THAT BLACKLIST.

Chicago, July 25.—The blacklist is back with us again, and in time of peace. The theory is to prevent goods shipped by American firms to our South American customers from being reshipped from there to Germany or Italy.

But there is more to the blacklist than that. The 1,800 firms and individuals were placed on the newly created American blacklist at England's request—England generously supplying us with their names and addresses.

It is a serious charge to say that the present blacklist will be used again for one of the purposes it had during the World war—to take our foreign trade away from us and give it to England. But it is also a serious matter to the American firms who have spent much time and money in cultivating business relations in South America to be told now they cannot fulfill any more South American orders because England put their customers on the American blacklist.

It is no longer any secret that during the World war, after putting our customers on the American blacklist, England proceeded to sell them "made in England" goods. Our American consuls in South America, who knew what was going on, protested this double dealing to our state department in Washington. But the names continued on our blacklist and England continued to do business with them.

With this in mind I don't believe we should adopt the new British blacklist again as a whole. Unless they furnish evidence of reshipping or attempt to reship our goods to Germany or Italy we should refuse to accept the list in full. I think the list would then be cut in half or more.

We have lost enough foreign trade as it is. And now, when we should be expanding our South American trade, we purposely cut it. Not only by deliberately closing our doors to these 1,800 South American buyers, but by making it harder and harder for us to do business of any kind in South America. There are now more governmental forms to fill out than ever, as well as licenses, permits, and other documents to obtain before you can think of getting our goods in a South America bound boat. I think we can now say good-by to our "good neighbor" customers for some time to come.

AN AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN.

AN ANNOYING POLICE VISIT.

Chicago, July 25.—Accepting the edict that I must pay $3 a year to keep a dog in Chicago and priding myself on being a law abiding citizen [whatever that is], I took the time some weeks ago to go to the city hall and pay this fee. Having no husband and trying to care for my three small children, I find time precious and money and energy scarce.

This week, while I had two of the children at the dentist's, leaving an elderly woman in charge of my youngest, I returned to learn a policeman had rung the front door bell, and on being told that the "lady" was not home and could he come back a little later, he wrote out a ticket, stating that, as I had violated such an ordinance I must appear at the police station, etc. When I called the station and told the sergeant I could give him the number of my license and he could check it with the list, if he could not take my word for it, I was treated to the usual bored, semiprofane language, the refrain being to bring in the receipt and prove it. This entails, besides the carfare, considerable time, as I have no car and am dependent on street cars and transfer.

Since I have violated no ordinance, why should I be put to the task of proving it? I am just a taxpayer, whose only suspicious action was allowing my temporary employé to open my front door to a uniform we are supposed to teach our children means protection and not persecution. H. M. D.

U. S. BUREAUS ON THE COASTS.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—It is evident that the administration has no fear of the United States being invaded by a foreign foe or they would not be sticking out their necks by locating hundreds of thousands of federal employés and vital governmental bureaus on the east coast in such cities as Boston, New York City with 100,000 federal employés, Philadelphia with 80,000 employés, and Chicago with only 30,000 employés.

A bombing raid on the east coast would be disastrous to all these vital federal functions that must serve the American population in the 48 states.

TOM JONES.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—The business men's associations of the District of Columbia are now fighting the proposal to remove certain federal bureaus from Washington to western cities.

For many years the business men in Washington have enjoyed the juicy pickings of the federal employés' pay checks. They not only want the whole turkey but the gravy and the bones to pick also.

Thousands of federal employés want to move back to the central western cities, but a few agitating persons think only of their own profits and not the hardships of thousands. Louisville, Ky., Springfield, Ill., Chicago, Salt Lake City, and Denver are ideal cities for the location of these new federal centers.

R. LEGARD.

A "V" CAMPAIGN HERE?

Chicago, July 25.—In the news is the announcement that a "V" campaign is to be launched in the United States and that the state department has given permission.

I call upon patriotic citizens to form an association to combat the ever growing propaganda for war and ask THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to lead and advise us.

Are we a free country or only a vassal of imperial England? M. A. B.

A BEAUTY SPOT.

Chicago, July 26.—One only has to notice the beautiful gardens at the city public bath on Cambridge avenue and see what a few plants artistically arranged can do for a yard that used to be a cinder dump. The attendant and his wife deserve worthy mention. It is a credit to the city to have employés who have the interest of their work at heart.

CLEMENTINE COSMO.

A LITTLE LIGHT ON TVA.

Milwaukee, July 26.—Now that the New Deal columnists with pipelines into the White House are unanimous in blaming Alcoa and the private utilities because TVA failed to make a contract with God for sufficient water, wouldn't it be interesting to read the real reasons for the power shortage?

Will TVA deny that it went to northern industries and induced them to locate in the Tennessee valley on promises of cheap labor and low power costs? Then when many industries moved their factories into that section, the TVA let them down.

The Tribune reporter who wrote about Booneville, TVA, and the Platte river project would no doubt get a lot of sensational revelations from heads of industrial concerns down there unless they are afraid of David E. [I'll ask for a billion] Lilienthal.

And the mountaineers who were induced to equip their one room shacks with electrical appliances—what will Uncle Snazzy's old woman be saying now when she has to wash her old man's one pair of overalls by hand? OBSERVER.

PROTEST FROM A VETERAN.

Chicago, July 25.—The average age of the American World war veteran is 48 to 50. Contrary to opinion employers are not hiring men of this age unless they are in highly specialized work. Yet in the last two weeks a large number of ex-servicemen have been cut off the WPA, while younger men and nonveterans are being kept on. An investigation will substantiate this.

There are provisions in the law that say veterans have preference on government work of this kind. Yet we are told at 18th and Michigan that, veteran or not, nothing can be done about it. How come? A. E. F.

IT'S THE DEMOCRATIC WAY.

South Bend, Ind., July 25.—My personal appreciation for the TRIBUNE'S courage and enterprise in taking the poll of public opinion. This is the democratic process: in fact, Secretary Hull a year ago said, in substance, that the determination of foreign policy is for the people. You have gone to the people and I am certain that your effort has registered in Washington.

FEDERAL ESTATE TAX.

Evanston, Ill., July 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How much will the government collect from my estate, which will inventory not less than $75,000 real and personal property?

2. How much will go to the state of Illinois? E. M.

1. The federal estate tax is a matter of a rather complex computation. On an estate as substantial as you describe, you should go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

2. Depends on how you divide your estate. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

GAMING RESORT ACROSS STREET, SHERIFF IS TOLD

BULLETIN.

Morton Grove county highway police late last night raided the Esquire club, alleged gambling house, in Waukegan road, just north of Glenview. Eleven persons were arrested. The raid apparently was ordered by Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien as an answer to charges by the Chicago Crime commission that gambling was again flourishing in the county. Gambling tables were reported seized.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien's task of finding gambling houses in his domain was made easier yesterday by information from R. W. Dvorak, acting director of the Chicago Crime commission, that Charles Fischetti, a public enemy and cousin of Al Capone, runs a wide open spot across the road from the sheriff's police station near Morton Grove.

Also, Dvorak declared, Fischetti's brother, Rocco, is head man at the notorious Rock Garden club in Cicero, which has not been bothered by the sheriff for years.

Seek Action Against Esquire.

The crime commission was seeking action against the Esquire club, on the Waukegan road in Northfield township, where observers reported that Ed Vogel, the slot machine supervisor for the crime-gambling syndicate, presides over the finest of casinos. Reports to Dvorak were that 300 players were contributing there Saturday night and Sunday night, and that hundreds of horse race betters are accommodated at the Esquire every afternoon.

Bertram J. Cahn, president of the anti-crime body, sought a conference with State's Attorney Courtney regarding the gambling ventures of the syndicate which is bossed by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti. It had to be deferred, he said, but Dvorak discussed the subject of prosecution with Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney.

Promises to Tell Police.

"Crowley said his first move would be to notify Chief Lester Laird of the highway police to suppress the gambling," Dvorak stated.

"The commission insists that public officials do their duty and put an end to this lawlessness. Open and notorious gambling is being tolerated but it can and should be stopped.

"The crime commission received numerous telephone calls today telling of gambling being permitted all over the county. The late mail brought in many letters stating that the Esquire club is only one of scores of such places now doing business under the syndicate's management.

"This commission can only call the attention of the public and the elected officials to the conditions that prevail."

Accuses Tennis Players

[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Arraigned on rape charges brought by Claire Beringer (center), a model, John March (left) and Robert Decker (right), tennis players, pleaded innocent in Mamaroneck, N. Y., yesterday.

Two Deny Charge

Mamaroneck, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—Arraigned on rape charges brought by a 17 year old model, two young tennis players pleaded innocent and were removed to the Westchester county jail today, pending a hearing Thursday.

Justice of the Peace Wesley M. Messersmith placed each under a $2,500 bond and refused the plea of the girls mother, Mrs. Berth Beringer, that the bonds be made higher. The mother and the girl, Claire Beringer, both of whom live in the Bronx, appeared in court together.

Miss Beringer said one of the young men, Robert Decker, 22 years old, of Miami Beach, Fla., had asked her "a couple of times" to marry him. She accused Decker of assaulting her while his companion, John March, 20, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., threatened her with a pistol.

Mrs. Beringer declared she had requested large bonds for the youths "to prevent such a thing from happening to some other young girl."

Decker's father, John Decker of Clearwater, Fla., was in court. Defense Attorney Wolfango Cribari said young Decker was a junior at the University of Miami and an amateur tennis player. March was said to be a professional player.

Police said the girl told them she attended a dance at the exclusive Quaker Ridge Tennis club in nearby Scarsdale Saturday night with the two men and later accepted their invitation to drive her to New York City.

They drove to a spot near the club, the informed police, and there Decker allegedly assaulted her. Then the youths took her to New York, she said. Her mother reported it to police.

Police said the young men told them that the pistol with which Miss Beringer said she was threatened was a toy gun. She insisted it was real.

AIR LINES ASKED COST OF LANDING IN OTHER CITIES

Officials of air lines using Chicago airport were directed yesterday by a city council subcommittee headed by Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] to submit a schedule of the rates they pay for the use of airport facilities in 10 other large cities. The data are required to negotiate a schedule of charges which the lines are to be asked to pay for landing planes here.

At present the airport collects only hangar rentals, amounting to about $40,000 a year. Additional funds are being sought from the lines to help pay for operation of the enlarged airport.

The subcommittee also asked the city law department whether franchises can be granted to the lines for use of the airport. This query was intended to help clarify proposed contract terms covering the contemplated landing charges.

12 Ill of Food Poisoning After Reunion in School

Canton, Ill., July 28 (AP).—Dr. J. C. Simmons, city physician, said nine persons are ill of food poisoning in a Canton hospital and three others in Fairview, Ill., today, after attending a school reunion yesterday in Ellisville. He said the food had not been identified.

SLAIN IN QUARREL OVER RENT.

Fred McDonald, 22 years old, colored, was shot and killed yesterday in a quarrel over rent in front of 5252 Calumet avenue. McDonald's wife said Thomas Hill, colored, their former landlord, had shot her husband.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME.

Mrs. Irma Wolfe, 41 years old, was found dead, apparently of a heart attack, in her home at 2836 Broadway late Sunday. Her husband, Bernard, is a salesman.

CALDWELL KEPT RECORDS, SAYS UNION AUDITOR

Reveals Office Dealings in Quiz on Funds.

Proof that local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association kept financial records finally was obtained yesterday by William B. Crawford, assistant state's attorney, assigned by State's Attorney Courtney to investigate affairs of the union.

When the investigation began some weeks ago Michael Savachka, secretary-treasurer disappeared. Max Caldwell, who dominated the local until forced out by a rank and file revolt, told a grand jury that he knew nothing of any missing records. And a close search of the union office and likely lurking places disclosed only $62 of an estimated $910,000 estimated assets.

Former Auditor Quizzed.

Yesterday, however, a former auditor of the union and three former employés were questioned by Crawford. The prosecutor said they gave him several helpful leads and much interesting information.

Leo Gorsky, the auditor, who has been carried on the local pay roll at $37.13 weekly since December, 1940, told Crawford he had done auditing for independent fruit and grocery stores and helped organize them after Caldwell came into the union setup.

Not long afterward, Gorsky said, officials of the clerks' international questioned Caldwell about what they said was an $1,800 shortage in the amount sent to international headquarters at Lafayette, Ind. Gorsky audited the local's books, he said, and found that actually the international owed Caldwell $800. At that time, he said, Caldwell was working on a percentage basis instead of salary as an international organizer.

How Books Were Kept.

Gorsky said also, according to Crawford, that daily deposits made by the local office were never equal to the amount brought in by local organizers and collectors, but that the books were kept straight by bank checks for "miscellaneous expenses" in amounts equal to the difference between collections and deposits.

Gorsky also told Crawford that there was no itemized accounting of money raised by the last union sponsored dance, which the members believed was being held to raise money for a hospitalization fund. Gorsky said he was told in private that funds raised would buy cigarets and cigars for soldiers and sailors.

The three former office workers, Arlene Gregersen, 2820 North Austin avenue, receptionist and stenographer, and Lillian Freier, 6226 South May street, and Harriett Nichols, 312 East 59th street, bookkeepers, told Crawford of seven ledgers containing names and dues payments of union members and a card file of temporary workers. These records have disappeared.

In Circus Saturday

ANTOINETTE CONCELLO.

Antoinette Concello, a trapeze artist in the Concello troupe, has been selected as the best dressed girl of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus which will open Saturday for nine days on the lake front south of Soldiers' field. Tony was educated in Montreal and Paris. She is married to Art Concello, head of the flying act.

BOY, 11, RUN OVER BY LOCOMOTIVE; ONLY SCRATCHED

A locomotive and tender ran over Steave Major Jr., 11 years old, on the Pennsylvania railroad right of way yesterday at Rockwell and Madison streets, but the boy was unhurt except for a small scratch.

A witness, John Hughes, 2621 Monroe street, told Warren avenue police that the boy, whose home is at 1704 Arcade place, was standing on the southbound track when the slow moving train struck him from behind, knocking him to the ground. The boy wriggled down between the rails, Hughes said, and lay quiet as the engine and tender passed over his body. Then he sat up, still clutching one of two bottles of pop which he had been holding.

Rushed to county hospital by police it was found that he was unhurt except for a scratch on his head. Police said it was the first such escape of which they had ever heard.

AMNESIA VICTIM RECOVERS.

An amnesia victim found wandering at State and Madison streets Saturday was recovering in his home yesterday after being identified as Nick Manning, 35 years old, of 1038 Armitage avenue.

GEN. F. M. ALLEN DIES; EX-LEADER OF 'DANDY FIRST'

Body Will Lie in State Until Thursday Afternoon.

Maj. Gen. Francis M. Allen, retired, formerly the commander of Chicago's "Dandy First," died yesterday in his home at 7528 Chicago avenue, River Forest. He was 66 years old.

Maj. Gen. F. M. Allen.

Gen. Allen enlisted in the old 1st infantry as a private in 1903. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1908, and served with the regiment, which later became the 131st infantry, Illinois National Guard, on the Mexican border in 1916 and during the World war in France. He was decorated with the Croix de Guerre by the French and received citations from both the American and French high commands. He retired from active service Jan. 1, 1939.

Surviving are his widow, Genevieve, and a brother, Robin. The body will lie at the Northwest armory, North and Kedzie avenues, from 3 p. m. today until the funeral services are held at 2 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery, Barrington.

P. L. M'DERMOTT, 84, EX-WAUKEGAN ALDERMAN, DIES

Peter L. McDermott, former Waukegan alderman and commissioner, died yesterday in his home at 714 Washington street, in the suburb. He was born 84 years ago on a farm near Waukegan, son of John McDermott, a pioneer Lake county settler. He was a Waukegan alderman from 1892 to 1908 and commissioner of public health and safety and ex-officio chief of police from 1919 to 1922. During the World war he was custodian of Waukegan harbor as a dollar a year man. He leaves his widow, Esther, with whom he celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary last April, and five sons, Edward, Waukegan city treasurer; Bert, a Circuit court reporter, and George, Robert, and Lawrence. Services will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow in Immaculate Conception church, Waukegan, with burial in Ascension cemetery.

ROSE DAVIES RECEIVES $300,000 UNDER WILL OF EDWARD B. M'LEAN

Washington, D. C., July 28 (AP).—The will of Edward B. McLean, former newspaper publisher who died yesterday, left $300,000 to Rose Davies, sister of Marion Davies, but cut his wife off with only dower rights to one-third of the real estate.

Filed in District court here today, the will left $5,000 each to two sons and a daughter. It was dated June 19, 1931, before McLean was adjudged insane by a Maryland court. The document provided that if any of the heirs attempted to break the will that person would get nothing.

In assigning the $300,000 to the sister of the former screen actress, McLean said that Rose Davies "has given me her association and affection."

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Friendship, the McLean estate.

C. C. HENDEE, 77, PAINTER OF DOGS AND HORSES, DIES

Ceilan Cass Hendee, who began life anew as a magazine painter of dogs and horses when he was 60 years old, died yesterday in the Augustana hospital. He was 77.

A native of Milwaukee, Mr. Hendee built and operated the first stockyards in Sioux Falls, S. D. He had retired from business when his fortune was swept away. Altho he was without formal education in art, he turned to painting animals and sold many of his paintings to magazines. He was said to be the oldest breeder of Gordon setters in the United States.

Turning his knowledge of animals to practical use, he came to Chicago several years ago and opened a dog equipment shop and studio at 15 East Delaware place, where he recouped his fortunes with his business and his paintings. He leaves two sons, C. Abner Hendee of Milwaukee and Cass Kirby Hendee of Denver, Col. Burial will be in Milwaukee.

George Lamb Will Filed; Estate Valued at $100,000

Income from the estimated $100,000 estate of George W. Lamb, retired Chicago area sales manager of the Corn Products Refining company, will go to his widow, Fanny, under terms of his will, which was admitted to probate yesterday. After her death the estate will be divided among two sisters of Lamb, two nephews, and a niece. Lamb died July 2 at the age of 88 in his home at 1136 East 46th street.

HAROLD TEEN'S LIFE AND LOVES TO GO ON W-G-N

Dramatic Serial to Begin This Evening.

Harold Teen, Carl Ed's perennial juvenile of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S comic strip by that name, will be brought to life for W-G-N starting this evening. The story of Harold's life, loves, and adolescent perplexities will be aired every Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Mr. Ed will act in an advisory capacity in the creation of the Harold Teen of the air. Fred Kress, one of Chicago's busiest radio comedy writers, will do the radio adaptation.

Charles Flynn has been assigned the title rôle. He is the son of Bess Flynn, who writes W-G-N's "Bachelor's Children" serial, and has been in radio since he was a youngster. He was selected by Blair Walliser, the producer, from more than 100 young men as best qualified to play the rôle of the effervescent Harold. Walliser said that his voice and manner best suggested the typical fun-loving, trouble-provoking youth of 17.

Willard Waterman has been assigned the rôle of Mr. Teen, Harold's father; Gail Henshaw will portray his mother; Rosemark Garbell, his little sister, Josey. Beryl Vaughan will play Cynthia, a new heart throb and Marvin Mueller is to be Beezy.

SECOND VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH AT HARVEY DIES

John Karwacki, 57 years old, died early today in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, the second victim of an automobile crash yesterday in which a 5 year old boy was killed. The boy was Theodore Cent of 1326 Blackhawk street. The accident occurred at Lathrop avenue and 167th street, Harvey.

The Cent boy, who was visiting Harvey relatives, was standing at the intersection when a car carrying Karwacki and driven by his son, Leo, 21, collided with a machine driven by Charles M. Wright, 15029 1st avenue, Harvey. The Karwacki car overturned on the Cent boy. The elder Karwacki, who lived at 15803 Carse avenue, suffered a neck fracture. His son suffered lesser injuries and is in the Ingalls hospital.

Russell Melby, 33 years old, 11245 Avenue J, salesman-driver of a bakery truck, died early today in the South Chicago hospital of injuries suffered last Friday when his truck crashed into a street car at 118th street and Avenue O.

Michael Drewicki, 78, owner of a candy shop at 1454 North Ashland avenue for the last 35 years, died in the North avenue hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck by a truck on April 29 in the 1600 block of Beach avenue. The driver was Alex Sesko, 43, of 1517 North Ashland avenue.

Thomas De Rose, 59, a bricklayer of 5618 South Menard avenue, died in Loretto hospital of injuries suffered July 15 when he was struck by an automobile at 24th street and Western avenue. The driver was Robert Bromley, 28, of 4401 Magnolia avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 534 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 377 were killed in Chicago, where 13,939 were injured in the same period.

MME. ARIMONDI, EX-OPERA STAR, DIES IN CHICAGO

Mme. Aurelia Arimondi, prominent opera singer at the turn of the century, and widow of Vittorio Arimondi, famous Italian basso, died yesterday in county hospital. She was about 75 years old and lived in a small room at 2724 Hampden court. Her only income was a small pension from the Rumanian government.

Mme. Arimondi, a native of Rumania, began her operatic career at the age of 20. She was a mezzo-soprano and sang in Europe and South America and at the Metropolitan opera in New York. She studied under the composer, Giuseppe Verdi, and had the rôle of Meg in the première of his opera, "Falstaff," almost half a century ago.

In 1910 she came to Chicago with her husband when he was engaged by Chicago's first opera company. He died in 1928. For the last 25 years Mme. Arimondi had taught voice. In recent months she was inactive. In her little room, filled with pictures autographed by kings and queens, she received old friends, including Arturo Toscanini and Mme. Rosa Raisa.

Funeral services for Mme. Arimondi will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in the chapel at 2701 North Clark street. Burial will be in Wunders cemetery.

U. S. SENDS HELP TO TENNESSEE IN PARALYSIS FIGHT

Nashville, Tenn., July 28 [Special].—Dr. A. C. Gilmore of the United States public health service was assigned to Tennessee today to assist Dr. W. C. Williams, state health commissioner, in attempts to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis in Franklin and Coffee counties.

Thirty children, all under 10 years of age, have been stricken. Two have died. No case of paralysis has been found closer than 10 miles to Camp Forrest, in Coffee county, home of the 33d Division, Illinois National Guard.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Mary E. F. Pleasants.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 28 [Special].—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Ellen Fifield Pleasants, 91, who knew Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas in their circuit riding days, will be held at El Paso, Ill., at 1 p. m., Wednesday. She died today at the home of her grandson, Robert A. Barracks, managing editor of the East St. Louis Journal. She was born at Metamora, where her father was a physician. She was reared by an uncle, Thomas MacCord, of near Roanoke, where Lincoln and Douglas frequently stopped. She said Lincoln told her she made the best biscuits he ever tasted. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Lillian Barracks, and the one grandson.

Irving Dunn.

Services for Irving Dunn, a Chicago investment mortgage banker, will be held today in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James S Dunn, in New Hampton, Ia. Mr. Dunn, who was 41 years old, died Friday night in his home in the Webster hotel. He was associated in business with his brother, Raymond Dunn, at 120 South La Salle street. Another brother, Peter Dunn of New Orleans, La., and three sisters, Mrs. Daniel F. Raftis of Elkader, Ia.; Mrs. Harry J. Friend of New Hampton, and Mrs. John T. Lillis of Oelwin, Ia., survive.

Michael Corcoran.

The funeral of Michael Corcoran, retired owner of a bill posting concern who died Sunday night in St. Anne's hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from the chapel at 3159 Jackson boulevard, to St. Thomas Aquinas church. Burial will be in All Saints' cemetery. Mr. Corcoran was 62 years old, and lived at 3841 Washington boulevard. He was a member and former trustee of the Bill Posters' union. He leaves a son, Paul, who is chief deputy in the Probate court clerk's office.

John B. Myers.

John B. Myers, retired insurance executive, died yesterday in the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis P. Kendall, 328 Leicester road, Kenilworth. He was 72 years old. He retired in 1930 as district superintendent of the Prudential Insurance company after 40 years of service. In recent years he had made his home in Glendale, Cal. Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1118 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette.

Leonard S. Taylor.

Leonard S. Taylor, retired veteran stockyarks employé, died yesterday in his home at 549 Michigan avenue, Evanston. He had been with Armour & Co. from 1888 until last November. He was in charge of special wire codes. He leaves a sister, Mrs. F. P. Gibson, and a nephew, Donald P. Gibson. Masonic funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1460 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Mrs. Marie Louise Robinson.

Services for Mrs. Marie Louise Robinson, who died Sunday in the Maywood Home for Soldiers' Widows, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the chapel at Lake street and 2d avenue, Maywood. When your Stomach is UPSET

Don't make the mistake of further upsetting an upset stomach with overdoses of antacids or drastic, irritating physics and purges. Take Pepto-Bismol and help soothe the irritated stomach and intestines.

Pepto-Bismol is not an antacid. It has no laxative action. It is recommended for stomachs distressed by over-indulgence, nervous indigestion, change of diet, or improperly prepared or selected food. Its action is gentle and its flavor is decidedly pleasant.

In two sizes—at all druggists. Or by the dose at drug store fountains.

HEWITT QUIZZED BY ALDERMEN ON GARBAGE ISSUES

Committee Seeks Data on Disposal Costs.

The city council aldermanic committee named to seek a solution of the city's garbage disposal problem, questioned Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, for more than three hours yesterday. The committee sought information on the cost of disposal thru loading stations, where refuse is loaded into railroad cars and hauled to the dumps, and thru the dump method. Both methods are now used by the city.

Loading station contractors, who operate the stations and are paid by the city to load the refuse and take it away, are to be called before the committee Friday to give cost information. Railroad freight agents also will be asked for information about freight rates, according to Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th], committee chairman.

Incineration to Be Studied.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], a committee member, asked the finance committee staff to prepare cost estimates on possible incineration of garbage at several small incinerators thruout the city. He said estimates also should be made on the cost of converting garbage into fertilizer.

Ald. Douglas suggested dumping garbage into scows and taking it to Lake Calumet, where efforts are being made to fill in the 300 acre north end of the lake.

"Dumping stations might be located at the Navy pier or Belmont harbor, or some place like that," Ald. Douglas said.

Commissioner Hewitt said equipment, including scows, tugs, and trucks for the dumps, and channeling of the lake would cost $768,000. He said the lake end could be filled in less than two years.

Cites Cost Factor.

"The city could always find some other use for garbage scows," said Ald. Douglas.

Hewitt told the committee that since 1931 the city has saved an average of $346,580 a year by getting contractors to lower their prices for disposing of garbage.

PRISONER TIPS OFF THE COURT ON BIT OF LAW

A penniless ex-convict, accused as the Fagin of a band of boy burglars, objected yesterday when the public defender was appointed as his lawyer. He protested that he had read in a pamphlet of the Chicago Bar association that a pauper defendant might have a private attorney, for nothing, if he did not wish the public defender.

Judge Grover C. Niemeyer consulted the rules of the Criminal court and said that the prisoner, Steven Nichols, was right. The judge then appointed Lloyd C. Heth, president of the bar association, to defend Nichols against four charges of burglary next Monday.

Belgian Banker Wants Nazis to Pay Debts with Food

BRUSSELS, occupied Belgium, July 28 (AP).—Albert Goffin, new governor of the National Bank of Belgium, said today he would attempt to induce Germany to supply food to Belgium in partial payment of German debts to this country. Belgians were cheered by preliminary estimates of grain crops indicating a domestic harvest sufficient to sustain the population from Sept. 20 to the end of May, 1942.

2d Daughter Lost

Pearl Bickel, 17 years old, the daughter by a previous marriage whom Bickel could not identify.

Judge Michael Feinberg ruled yesterday that a father so uninterested in the child of his first marriage that he was unable to recognize her in court had no right to the custody of the child of his second marriage.

The father, Norman Bickel, 42 years old, of 2210 North Racine avenue, had brought habeas corpus action to obtain possession of his daughter, Shirley, 5, who has been living with a great aunt, Miss Helen Troy, and a great uncle, Frank Troy, at 2437 North Ashland avenue since the funeral July 15 of her mother, Leona.

When Attorney Hubert L. Steed, representing the Troys, produced Pearl Bickel, 17, the child of Bickel's first wife, whom he divorced in 1936 after they had lived apart almost from the child's birth, Bickel did not know who she was. Judge Feinberg agreed with Steed's argument that if Bickel were so uninterested in one child, he would not take much interest in the other. The judge dismissed the habeas corpus action, leaving Shirley in the care of the Troys.

MARTIN WARNS U. S. OF POST-WAR DICTATOR THREAT

Wisconsin G. O. P. Rally Hears Chairman.

Baraboo, Wis., July 28 [Special].—America will be smothered by dictatorship after the war unless the people turn to sound Republicanism. This warning was uttered today by Congressman Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, at a convention of Wisconsin Republicans near here. Another speaker, also a congressman, declared that the people are united almost 90 per cent against entering the European war.

The convention attracted 1,983 delegates and 1,000 alternates and spectators. It was held in a circus tent under a broiling sun. Among those present were Gov. Julius P. Heil. The convention sidetracked formal expressions relating to the international situation, altho one resolution was adopted calling for adherence to constitutional processes. This was regarded as a protest against any surrender of congressional rights to other authority.

Warns of Postwar Perils.

Congressman Martin in his speech warned against the perils of a postwar period of probable skyrocketing debts, staggering taxes, and industrial and agricultural readjustments.

"If you think we have seen agitation by communist and Fascist enemies of the American form of government, you haven't seen anything yet," said Martin soberly. "The postwar future will give them fertile fields to plant their propaganda for debt repudiation, property confiscation, abolition of constitutional safeguards, and the establishment of a dictatorship.

"There will be one of two reactions from all this. Either the people will be aroused to go back to sound Republicanism, or they will go to some form of dictatorship."

Unity Against War.

The greatest ovation of the day went to Congressman Frank B. Keefe of Oshkosh, spokesman for Wisconsin's five Republicans in congress. He talked on unity.

"They ask us for unity," said Keefe, "as if there were no unity. I ask them—when if ever there was greater unity in America with 80 to 90 per cent of the people all over the nation demanding to be kept out of war, and with only 10 per cent trying to force us into war. . . . Are we to carry the four freedoms from Greenland to Singapore and then lose them ourselves?"

During the day some 20 resolutions condemning President Roosevelt's pro-war policies were introduced. A half dozen attacking Wendell L. Willkie also were offered. However, the committee on rules, headed by Robert Bassett of Green Bay, decided "no resolution, motion or discussion relating to the foreign policy of the national government shall be germane under the call of the convention."

Ex-King Carol and Magda Arrive in Mexico for Visit

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, July 28—(AP).—Former King Carol of Rumania and his red-haired friend, Elena [Magda] Lupescu, arrived here today from their Cuban home-in-exile for their first visit to Mexico.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH RIFLE.

Benton, Ill., July 28 [Special].—Howard Rice, 41 years old, of Logan, died yesterday after he had been found with two rifle wounds in the head and one in the breast. Coroner D. J. Clayton said Rice admitted shooting himself.

STATE EXPERTS HUNT TYPHOID CARRIER IN OUTBREAK AT DU QUOIN

Du Quoin, Ill., July 28 [Special].—The state department of public health today sent three technicians to Du Quoin to make tests in the hope of finding the typhoid carrier who has caused 10 persons to be stricken in the last 30 days.

Six positive cases have developed in Du Quoin and a seventh is being watched closely for positive diagnosis. Three children in one family are ill in nearby St. Johns. Families of all victims except one are patrons of the same rural diary.

Water from the dairy's well, and all members of the family which operates it, have been tested by the state health department with negative results. The Du Quoin city water supply is tested weekly by the state department and was found to be uncontaminated in the last test.

In Springfield, Roland R. Cross, assistant director of the state health department, said tests will be continued in Du Quoin until the source of contamination is found and eliminated. He added that repeated tests often are necessary and that several weeks may elapse before the source of the outbreak is found.

Twelve girls, representatives of State street concerns, vied for the title of the Queen of State Street before a judging committee in the Boston Store yesterday.

The winner will be announced and crowned at the third annual softball classic sponsored by the State Street Recreation association Wednesday evening in St. Phillips stadium, Van Buren street and Kedzie avenue. The State Street All Stars will play a team from loop banks and a loop stores' team will play the Radio-Editorial league stars. Proceeds will be given to the United Charities Camp Algonquin Fund, which provides vacations for underprivileged children.

WIFE FINED $300 FOR WILD CHASE IN DOMESTIC ROW

Mrs. Marilyn Kuziel, 18 years old, whose wild ride Sunday to prevent a fight between her husband and her former boy friend landed her in the Central police station lockup, was fined $300 and costs yesterday by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in Safety court for reckless driving. Judge McCarthy said he would hear a motion for probation on Friday.

Her husband, Emil Kuziel, 22, and her former boy friend, Jerome Kempski, 29, of 2621 18th street, met in a refreshment parlor at Cermak road and Washtenaw avenue and quarreled. Several bystanders hurried Kuziel out of the place and his wife left later to see that the men did not fight.

She told Judge McCarthy that when she did not see them outside she jumped in Kempski's car and began a search for them. Police said she drove more than 50 miles an hour over west side streets. She spent several hours in jail. William Schultz, 23, of 2411 South Kedzie avenue, who followed Mrs. Kuziel with her husband in his car, was fined $100 on a similar traffic charge. The Kuziels live at 2440 25th street.

SEIZED AS PURSE SNATCHER.

Wayne Whittier, 29 years old, was seized by Fillmore street police yesterday after he is alleged to have stolen the purse of Mrs. Rose Pearlstein of 2946 Jackson boulevard. Whittier said that he lived at 3220 Jackson boulevard.

FEDERAL SALES TAX FORECAST FOR NEXT YEAR

May Make Everybody Pay on Income, Besides.

amendments expected to be largely of a technical nature to smooth out legal snarls in the language of the bill.

Under this procedure the house would be faced with the choice of accepting the dictates of the committee, or throwing out the bill in its entirety, thus scrapping the committee's three months of work in drafting it. Only by recommitting the bill with specific recommendations for changes could the chamber force amendments.

The income tax features of the present bill are to become effective Jan. 1, 1941, and excise taxes will take effect 10 days after its enactment.

Total Tax Bill, 12,700 Millions.

The 3,529 million dollar figure, which is the amount most often mentioned to describe the pending tax measure, is only the amount of new revenue it is expected to yield. Actually, the bill raises the total amount of federal taxes to be absorbed by the government every 12 months to the dizzy peak of 12,700 million dollars.

Informed sources, borne out by Chairman Doughton's predictions of an even heavier burden next year, have asserted that the administration still is far from the limit of its program of larger taxes and increased spending.

Increased income taxes	$1,152,000,000
New and increased excise taxes	902,400,000
Increased gift and estate taxes	151,900,000
Increased corporation taxes	1,322,900,000

Final passage of the measure by the house is expected by Friday, with the administration prepared to bring the full strength of its huge majority into play, if necessary, to force it thru. The treasury department estimates that the government is losing about $2,000,000 per day on excise taxes carried in the bill, but inoperative until it becomes law.

Warn of Waning Credit.

The Republican minority on the ways and means committee, charging that the nation's credit is near the breaking point because of New Deal extravagances, has announced it feels bound to support the measure as a vital necessity in improving the fiscal situation.

G. O. P. spokesmen, however, called for drastic economies in nonrearmament expenditures to help offset the huge expenses of the administration's war preparations.

Chairman Doughton's predictions of new taxes to be superimposed on the 1941 levies were made in response to objections by some members of the rules committee that the proposed bill does not include all the recommendations of the treasury department for a broader income tax base and heavier excess profits taxes on corporations.

"This does not close the door to further taxation," he said. "There will be another bill, possibly reducing income tax exemptions and imposing a general consumption [sales] tax."

Doughton added, after the meeting, that he had received no recommendations from the administration regarding the sales tax. It is his own idea of what the next measure might carry, he explained, when the need for revenue may be so great as to require any taxes that can be imposed "without great hardship."

MEDILL BUILDING AND LOAN ASS'N BEGINS 20TH YEAR

The Medill Building and Loan association, which helps Tribune employés to own homes or to invest their savings, yesterday held its 20th annual stockholders' meeting in Tribune Tower. The association, owned by employés of the Tribune, looked back on a record of financial success notable in a field of financing in which there have been many failures.

Currently the association has on its books real estate loans of $433,655 to 153 employés of The Tribune company. Five hundred and twenty-five savings investors have paid into the association $421,631, with a maturity value of $719,000. The total number of employés currently participating is 678.

During the fiscal year ending June 30 loans to members building or purchasing homes totaled $153,975. The association has followed a conservative appraisal policy. There has never been a foreclosure.

Stockholders are represented by directors—one from each major department of the Tribune. Directors elected yesterday: Fred Schlueter, P. A. Bresnahan and Walter H. Piske. Officers are J. P. Kreutzer, president; Arthur Gerken, vice president; J. F. Gart, secretary; J. A. Herbeck, treasurer. Other directors: C. S. Hogarth, J. E. Graham and Larry Wolters.

STRUCK BY TRAIN; DIES.

William Linco of 2500 Moffat street, died in North Avenue hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a freight train Sunday in the Eldridge Coal and Coke company yards at 1931 Mendell street. Linco, 52 years old, was a watchman there.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MRS. E. JOSEPH DIES IN MOLINE.

Moline, Ill., July 28 [Special].—Mrs. Elizabeth Joseph, 85 years old, died here today.

FATHER DEFENDS BURNING OF SON'S HANDS ON STOVE

A father sat last night in Irving Park police station charged with cruelty to a child—his own son. Because the lad had stolen $1.75 from a woman's purse, the father had thrust the boy's hands over the flame of an open gas burner and scorched them badly.

Frank Doladee.

The father, Frank Doladee, 46 years old, of 5629 Miltimore avenue, insisted he had the right to discipline his son. "It is my boy," he said. "There are not going to be any thieves in my family. I am going to correct the boy as I see fit."

On July 17, Doladee's son, Franklin, 7, participated in a treasure hunt in Gladstone park at 5421 North Menard avenue. A woman play director left her purse unguarded on a bench, and the lad took the money from it. When Franklin returned home his mother, Mary, forced an admission from him that the money was stolen.

The father returned the money to the woman. Then he went home, grasped the child by the wrists, and pulled him to the gas range, holding his hands over the open plate. Franklin screamed with pain. Afterward, his father bandaged the burns.

The father was arrested by Detective Donald Kenny. He will be arraigned this morning in Felony court.

3D VICTIM DIES OF BLAST IN HOME.

Clinton, Ill., July 28 (AP).—An explosion that occurred during installation of a furnace claimed its second victim yesterday when John Thomas Trout, 58 years old, died in a hospital here. Homer Gray, in whose home the blast occurred, also was fatally injured.

TELLS JURY SHE DID NOT STEAL BUILDING FUNDS

Mrs. Mary Louise Kirby denied to a jury of five women and seven men yesterday that she ever took any of the funds of the Claridge apartments at 4501 Malden street, where she was resident manager until a few months ago. Mrs. Kirby, who is 32 years old, is on trial before Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court, charged with embezzling $2,904 in rentals.

Mrs. Mary Louise Kirby.

She told the jurors that part of the money alleged to be missing was spent on building repairs.

LAUNCH BUREAU TO BOOST CITY AS A VACATION POINT

More than 100 business and civic leaders met yesterday in the Hotel Sherman and organized the Chicago Visitors and Tourists' bureau to bring visitors to the city and to promote Chicago as a vacation center. Paul Moore, vice president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and former president of the John R. Thompson restaurants, was named chairman.

Moore said that a committee will be appointed and officers and directors elected by the end of the week. The bureau is to be incorporated as a nonprofit organization and its heads will confer with Mayor Kelly, the Association of Commerce, and business men as to the most effective means of promoting the welfare and business of Chicago.

Pan American to Double Air Service to Hawaii

New York, July 28 (AP).—Pan American Airways system announced today it would inaugurate an added trans-Pacific air service between the United States mainland and Hawaii, effective Aug. 10. The system said this would double its present service on those routes. It said that for some months traffic load factors over the routes had exceeded 95 per cent, while transocean airmail had trabled in the last year.

Hard-water Sufferers— SWAN double-dares you!

SWAN SOAP is so different— we double dare you to compare it side by side with any old-style floating soap in hardest water

COME ON, TAKE A DARE—all you ladies who've been struggling to lather old-fashioned floating soap and wishing you could get quicker, richer suds in local hard water.

One look and you'll know that Swan licks the hard-water suds problem! It gives richer, creamier lather—suds twice as fast as old-fashioned floating soaps. Big, thick, stand-up suds—nothing thin and skimpy about them!

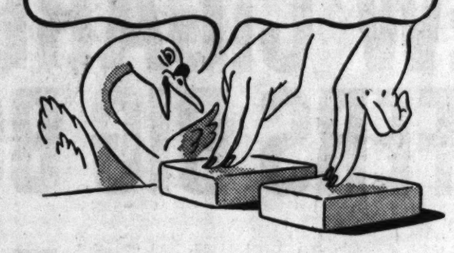
Feel Swan! It's smoother, firmer. Sniff! And meet a scent as fresh and wholesome as all outdoors.

Yes, do all the comparing you want. For mildness! Washing efficiency! Economy! Use Swan for baby; for hands, face, bath; for silk stockings and undies; for dishes and woodwork. Then if you don't say—"Swan is tops!"—mail us the wrapper and we'll send you double your money back. Swan, Lever Brothers Company, Cambridge, Mass.

LATHER BOTH!
SWAN SUDS 2 TIMES QUICKER —IN HARDEST WATER!

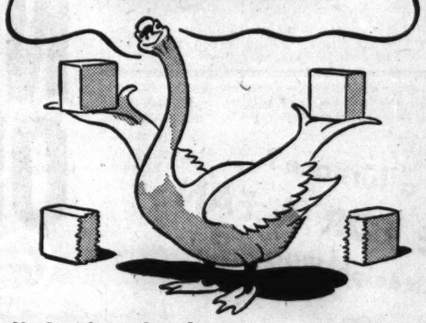
Go ahead! Suds up a cake of Swan. Then do the same with any old-fashioned floating soap—and look! Swan lathers two times quicker, gives more suds than old-fashioned floating soap. And what glorious lather! Fluffier, smoother, softer than satin! Suds that laugh at hard water and last, last, last! They don't fizzle out and go flat as a pancake the minute you turn from the dishpan.

FEEL BOTH!
SWAN IS MUCH FIRMER! LASTS AND LASTS!



Right under your thumb, discover another surprise! Take a cake of Swan in one hand—any old-fashioned floating soap in the other—and feel! Swan is smoother, far, far richer! Swan is firmer! And that firmness tells you there's less moisture in Swan. That's why Swan lasts and lasts—why it does more work for your money.

BREAK BOTH!
SWAN BREAKS SMOOTHER —NO JAGGED, CRUMBLY EDGES!



You've always hated the way your usual floating soap looks after you break it — all rough and messy. But Swan—ah! It breaks like magic into two lovely cakes! Smooth as you please! Without knife or string! No crumbly, open edges to waste away. Swan looks so trim, feels so nice in your hands, you'll be proud to put it in the bathroom!

SMELL BOTH!
SWAN HAS A FRESHER, CLEANER ODOR!

No harsh, high odor in Swan. It smells so fresh and clean—it's perfect for kitchen or bath. As grand in the dishpan as it is in the washbowl! And there's lots less moisture in Swan than in old-style floating soaps. Swan is more real soap for your money. No need now to store a supply to dry and harden. We've done it for you! Swan won't warp, either.

AND PURE?
SWAN'S AS PURE AND MILD AS IMPORTED CASTILE!

You've always thought castile was the purest, mildest soap of all. Now skin tests by an impartial laboratory show that Swan is as mild as imported castile! Ask your doctor—he has the details in his medical journals. Pure? Gentle? There isn't a purer soap for baby's delicate skin! It's marvelously gentle for complexions, for in-and-out-of-water hands!

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Every so often a throwback to the old "vampire" film arrives in our midst. . . "Singapore Woman" is such.

In it—to quote from a press sheet, "the marked woman of the orient tells her own amazing story . . . from luscious lips that once were the most desired in all Singapore pours the broken heart of the woman men HAD to die for. . . ." Ah-h!

The lady is a jinx. . . She brings bad luck to everybody with whom she comes in contact. . . And it "gets" her to such a degree that she falls from high estate. . . Seeking to forget, she haunts a Singapore dive known as the "Crow's Nest" where she drinks gin by the gallon and is so often the cause of a brawl that the proprietor has just about refused to allow her in the place. . .

One night, as she sits drinking, she is spied by David Ritchie, who had met her several years before in her father's house on an evening when one of her victims had chosen death by shooting to living without her. . . . The now deceased Mr. Moore had rendered David a great service, and so when he sees the wreck of his benefactor's once gorgeous daughter he feels, and rightly, that he must immediately do something about her. . .

After fighting off a brawny waterfront man he carries Vicki off bodily to his rubber plantation. . . And I'm not going to tell you the rest of the story. . . EXCEPTING to ask you—HOW do you think David's blonde fiancée takes to THAT maneuver?—and to remind you that no man can resist the rag, the bone and the hank of hair who was christened Vicki Moore.

Brenda Marshall plays her rôle with great sincerity. She is a lovely creature and you always believe in her. David Bruce makes Ritchie a real person, too, and Virginia Field as the spurned fiancée and Jerome Cowan as Bruce's best friend and business associate gave excellent account of themselves. Outstanding in the supporting cast are Connie Leon and Eva Pula as a café singer and David's housekeeper, respectively, and Abner Biberman as Signa, Bruce's head man on the rubber plantation.

The unremarkable story is nicely directed and staged.

Treat of Season for Circus Guests Promised by Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown Department Are Sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Just wait till you boys and girls see the new streamlined circus Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey will soon set up under the big top out on the lake front!

It has everything you've always enjoyed, music and dancing, and trapeze artists, wild animals, trick riding, and jugglers and acrobats—but it also has many new features. I know how much you children enjoy the clowns, and there are to be 100 of them with the show.

There are many, many more interesting and exciting things to see at this circus, and 50 boys and 50 girls will have an opportunity to enjoy them with me on Aug. 7, if they can convince me that they just must be invited because they'd like it so well.

When you write, remember to tell me your full name, address, and your age. Each child must write his or her own letter, and all requests must be on my desk by next Thursday.

If you're a real circus fan, that letter shouldn't be a bit of trouble—so get busy and see if you can't come to the big top. The address is Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Judy Garland of Films Is Married to Dave Rose

Children Find Taste of Joy at Algonquin

Out at Camp Algonquin, the United Charities vacation ground for underprivileged children on the Fox river, more than a hundred children are romping in woodland glades with bright faces and careless laughter. They make a cheerful summer picture.

There is one little 12 year old lad who wears his sun tan as if it were a medal. He has been ill so much that he has attended school only three weeks in his life. The clinic that has been treating him requested that he be sent to the camp, believing that with this start he will be strong enough to attend school regularly this fall.

A 5 year old, who was in Cook County hospital from June to December last year, is also at Camp Algonquin this period. He went to camp pale and weak, having overcome a tubercular condition. Now he looks like a healthy little Indian.

Six sober faced children between the ages of 4 and 14, who have been "keeping house for daddy" since the death of their mother two years ago, are now whooping around the camp without a care in the world. Their father, who works for a small wage here in the city and who has tried to be both mother and father to his brood, is also enjoying respite from parental duties.

These are only a few of the many stories that make Camp Algonquin a noteworthy charity, a place where needy youngsters and their families store up a few weeks of happiness for dark days ahead. It is made possible thru the generosity of TRIBUNE readers who send contributions for the Camp Algonquin Fund daily to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., at Tribune Tower.

Heat Wave Brings Urgent Requests of Needy for Ice

An urgent request for free ice was received by the United Charities from a needy family with seven children yesterday.

The father of the family earns only $55 a month and the mother has just returned from the hospital where she underwent a serious operation. She must remain in bed five weeks. The baby, 1 year old, is suffering with eczema which is especially irritating in hot weather. Three other children, 3, 4, and 6 years old, are all confined to the house with whooping cough. Cold milk is the only substance they are able to take, but there is no ice to preserve what milk they have.

A donation of $1.10 to the Ice Fund will keep this family in ice for one week. Contributions should be sent to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., at Tribune Tower.

Coincidences.

Morton Goodman, chief legal counsel for FHA in Chicago, became acquainted with Morton Goodman of Philadelphia, who deals in FHA insured mortgages, after the latter answered in error a page boy calling the former at the Palmer House. Philadelphia Goodman called Chicago Goodman and invited him and his wife to join him and his wife at the Stevens for cocktails. Mrs. Chicago Goodman wore a chic new frock purchased that afternoon at a State street store. When Mrs. Philadelphia Goodman joined the group in the lobby she was equally resplendent in the identical gown which she had purchased in Philadelphia.

Octogenarian.

A woman some 80 years old, dressed in black, her regal appearance, despite her slimness, suggesting a dowager of the Victorian era, asked Edward F. Halpin to help her across the street. The cane which eased her limp accentuated her helplessness. Glad to be of assistance to her, Halpin took her arm and they started across. As they paused for westbound traffic, she tugged at his arm.

"Tell me, are there any bookies open around here?" she asked anxiously.

About Cynthia Cline.

Cynthia Cline, the little girl on the Quiz Kid program who is an expert on music and opera, is writing an operetta in German. Cynthia, who lives with her mother near Lincoln park, also paints, attends a class at the Chicago Art Institute and sings in the Park school choir. Music Lovers Magazine, which has a piece on Cynthia in the current number, prints one of her verses composed during the Quiz Kid program, called Seal Swimming:

Tonight it's hot and I wouldn't mind
Swimming in the blue,
Slithering thru the billowy waves
As all sleek seals must do;
But I bet if you asked any seals you know
They'd like to be on the radio.

Cuffnotes.

Those little girls in pink and white striped dresses going into the Morrison with their nurse were Barbara and Joan Dempsey, daughters of Hannah and Jack Dempsey. They are on their way to Salt Lake City to visit Grandparents Dempsey. . . . Patricia Marie Barker, who plays Tony in Blossoms in the Dust, is four years old and was enrolled as a dance pupil at two. O am he dead and is he gone
And has him left I all alone
O cruel death you is unkind
To take him fore and leave me blind.

Garden Clubs Sponsor Flower Show Benefit

The Ravinia Garden club and the garden class of the Highland Park Women's club are sponsoring a flower show to be held on Aug. 5 and 6 at the Moraine-on-the-Lake in Highland Park for the benefit of the USO. Mrs. Oliver S. Turner is general chairman of the show.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

A couple of the willing tryer-outers in this department turn in glowing reports about a sun filtering cream they've been using over these sun drenched week-ends.

It's a find, no doubt about that. There is a great deal of good research in its background, but since it's performance that interests us—and you—we'll tell you about that.

The cream [it comes in a tube and isn't nearly as expensive as we expected it to be] is pure white and in consistency is like the "vanishing" creams of not so long ago. It goes on quickly and smoothly, leaving no trace of its presence. And it provides a most efficient invisible screen against the burning rays. It's to be used before exposure, of course, and because it's greaseless it can be used all over the exposed surfaces without the slightest damage to your beach togs or play clothes.

If you're going to be out in the hot sun for a long time it's wise to repeat the application, especially if it's your first time out and you're naturally thin skinned. One woman who found this the best sun burn preventive she ever used is lily fair and ordinarily turns lobster-red. Armed with this she sunned all one long afternoon and ended up with skin cool, smooth and just slightly tinged with a golden tint.

This is also one of the best sunburn preventives for children; it's such a pure, well made and efficient cream that it's a perfect choice for their delicate skins. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Keehn-Buck Joint Debut Is Cancelled

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT WILL be good news to the debutantes and their beaux that Miss Kay Keehn and Miss Betty Buck have decided to have separate debuts instead of a joint affair. This means two parties instead of one. It had been announced that the girls would be introduced at a tea on Sept. 6 at the home of Gen. and Mrs. Roy D. Keehn in Lake Bluff, but instead Kay will have a supperdance on Thursday, Sept. 4. Miss Buck, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Buck of Lake Forest, will have a tea on Sunday, Dec. 21, but it is not decided whether the party will be at home or in town.

The Keehn debut will be given at home, and will be an outdoor party, weather permitting. A dancing platform will be erected at one side of the swimming pool, and there will be swimming as well as dancing. A refreshing thought on a day such as this! Miss Keehn now is in St. Luke's hospital, convalescing from an operation, but she expects to return home next week. She is planning to enter the Career institute this fall. Last year she was a freshman at the University of Indiana.

Miss Joan Harrison May Defer Her Debut.

There is a possibility that Miss Joan Harrison, youngest of the junior Carter H. Harrisons' four daughters, may postpone her debut until next season. She was ill earlier in the summer and missed many of the debutante festivities of this season. She has been at the Huron Mountain club in Michigan for the last two weeks, where her mother will join her soon. Mrs. Harrison also is planning to spend a week with Miss Lucy Harrison at Camp Bryn Avon in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Harrison Sr. is departing today to spend the balance of the summer at the Huron Mountain club in Michigan. Mr. Harrison and his son, Carter Jr., are leaving shortly for a trip west. They are shipping their car to the Black Hills, and from there they will drive to Yellowstone park, to some property the senior Mr. Harrison owns on the Black river in Idaho, and then to the Gratiot Washburnes' ranch at Duncan, Wyo. They will fish all along the way.

Lila Ruth Breckinridge's Engagement Announced.

Of interest here is the engagement announcement of Miss Lila Ruth Breckinridge, daughter of Mrs. Ben Johnson Breckinridge of Montclair, N. J., to James Alfred Field, son of Mrs. James Alfred Field of Kenwood avenue. Miss Breckinridge, who is a graduate of Wellesley, is a direct descendant of John Witherspoon, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a great-granddaughter of John C. Breckinridge, 14th Vice President of the United States.

Mr. Field attended Milton academy and was graduated from Harvard in 1937. He then studied at Trinity college in England and the Harvard graduate school. He now teaches history and literature at Harvard. His late father was professor of economics at the University of Chicago when he died in 1927.

Mrs. Field is at her summer home at Ephraim, Wis., but she will go east late in the summer for the wedding, which will be a quiet one because of a recent death in the Breckinridge family. Mrs. Field was Amy Walker, daughter of the late Judge Charles M. Walker.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour Is at Northern Michigan Camp.

Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, who spent the early summer at Suffield house, her Lake Forest home, now is at The Timbers, her camp in northern Michigan.

Countess Visconti di Modrone, who calls Stockbridge, Mass., home now, is spending the summer on the HF Bar ranch at Saddlestring, Wyo. Her mother, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, is spending the summer, as usual, at Wianno, Mass.

Mrs. Walter W. Crawford and her son, Peter, have just returned from a trip to New York and to Virginia, where they visited Mrs. Crawford's parents, the Ralph R. Richardsons. The Richardsons' other daughter, Mrs. Frederick L. Spencer, and her children are spending six weeks with Mrs. G. Corson Ellis at Desbarats, Ont., Canada.

Hot Springs, in the mountains of western Virginia, is the summer address of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Moore and their son, Ballard Jr. The Boyer ranch, Savery, Wyo., is where Mrs. Charles Howard ReQua Jr. and her two little daughters, Susan and Marka, have gone to spend the summer. Mr. ReQua will join his family later.

The John Bordens' Family at Lansing Summer Place.

The John Bordens and their little daughter and baby son, John Jr., who is only a few months old, are at their summer place in Lansing, Mich. Miss Frances Whedon is in Concord, Mass., for the summer, but will return to her Lake Forest home on Oct. 1. Mrs. Donald Welles and her sons, Bobby and Freddy, and their cousin, David Welles, and Stuart Otis and Barbara Pierson are on a ranch in Sheridan, Wyo.

The William D. Truesdales are heading for Cape Cod this week. They will depart on Thursday, not to return to Winnetka until after Labor day.

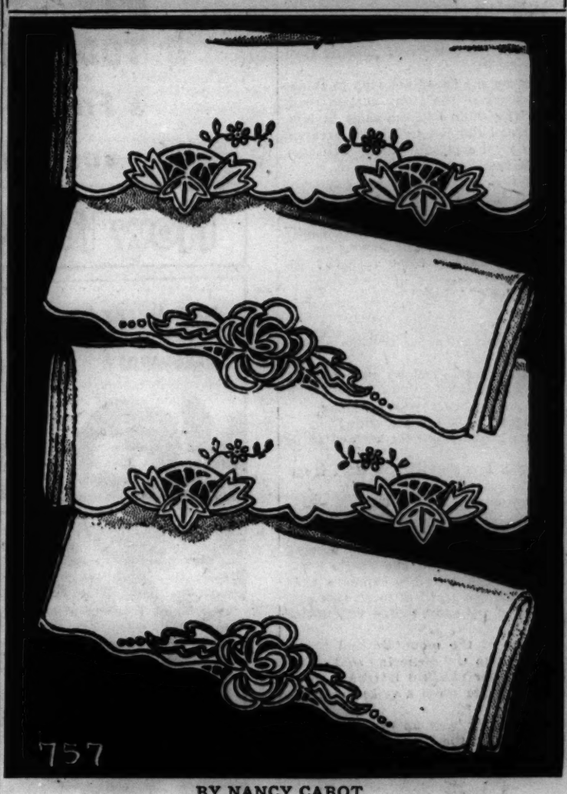
Cut Work Pillowcases



BY NANCY CABOT.

Cut-work embroidery is one of the most fascinating types of needlework, and one which has definite charm and appeal. The motifs are graceful and attractive for pillow cases, and may be created in white or pastel shades. The hot iron transfer pattern includes detailed instructions and illustrations, so that any one may attempt this fascinating form of embroidery.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the cut-work pillow cases, No. 757, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 28. — Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are a little surprised and greatly delighted to find themselves working in a picture that has a script. It is "Great Guns," an army comedy at 20th-Fox, and it has a beginning, a middle, an end, a boy and girl. That's luxury.

Babe Hardy recalls: "We used to start, sometimes, without knowing what the picture would be about. The producer would say, 'Start a picture,' and we'd say, 'What about'? And he'd say, 'O, just get in front of a camera for a few days and then the bank will lend some money and then we can really start on something'."

I have only a small idea what "Great Guns" is about. The boy is Dick Nelson, and he gets into the army. Laurel and Hardy follow him there because Dick is allergic to everything and they want to protect him. They also want to protect him from Sheila Ryan, to whom he is not allergic. They get into many jams, including lousing up some war games. An important member of the cast is Jimmy the raven, Hollywood's most famous bird. "Darnedest bird you ever saw," says Babe Hardy. "He works on spoken cues and never misses." "Jimmy," I correct, "is a she."

Laurel and Hardy have some gags they think the kids will like. Stan, for instance, is shaving, and the light bulb goes out. It goes on when he unscrews it. As if that were nothing remarkable, he puts the bulb in his mouth and continues his shave. Babe, meanwhile, has poured himself some tomato juice and is about to drink it when Stan asks what time it is. Hardy has a wrist watch. He turns his wrist to look at the time and spills the tomato juice down his front. Warning to mothers: Hardy says kids will love this and imitate it.

Back on the 20th-Fox lot are John Ford and his "How Green Was My Valley" company, having wound up the scenes on the year's most elaborate location set. It's interesting to watch Ford direct Robby McDowall, Sara Allgood, and Donald Crisp in a interior scene. Like all the old time movie masters, he works quietly, and his players, too, can scarcely be heard 10 feet away. . . . Ford is dressed almost like a tramp—except that his clothes, tho battered, are clean. He is wearing sneakers, and the cuffs of his unpressed slacks are rolled up; he wears a shirt open at the collar, a pullover sweater, a worn jacket over that, and a hat. He always wears a hat, and the collar of his jacket is always turned up in back, the way a Broadway columnist poses for what he thinks is a snazzy portrait. The hat and the turned up collar, I am told, are a superstition with Ford.

The Harvard Advocate, oofly highbrow, has offered Ann Sheridan an honorary editorship—so there! . . . Annie's going to write an essay on etiquet. Undergraduate etiquet, Ma'am?

Lucille Meusel Pleases Park Concert Crowd

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Wisconsin born soprano, Lucille Meusel, appeared last night at the Grant park band shell as soloist with the Chicago Opera orchestra under Joseph Raffaelli's direction.

The brilliance and spirit and aliveness of her singing made even the "Italian Street Song," from "Naughty Marietta," an entirely bearable experience. And when her wonderful sense of style, and her ability to give a phrase a snap and crackle and flourish of its own, were applied to music as good as the "Sempre Libera" from "La Traviata," the results were altogether exhilarating.

In music of a different type—the "Caro Nome," from "Rigoletto," for instance—there were opportunities galore to exult in the beautiful ease with which her voice flows and in the variety of subtle ways in which she colors a phrase and gives it meaning. Apparently nothing that Miss Muesel does is ever perfunctory. She insists on living her songs rather than merely singing them.

One of the evening's high spots was the "Una voce poco fa" from "The Barber of Seville." Miss Meusel captured that ingenue quality which so many singers miss. Too often we get an impression merely of Rosina's empty-headedness.

Besides supporting the soloist competently, Mr. Raffaelli and the orchestra played a program whose principal items were a ballet suite from Goldmark's "The Queen of Sheba" and a Casadesus arrangement of excerpts from Charpentier's "Louise." Most of "Louise" does not seem to stand up very well in concert performance—but the carnival music from the third act was surprisingly effective.

Brown Is Must in Dress or Suit, Fashion Says

BY REA SEEGER.

Returning vacationists, especially those in from the west, more than sated with too many slacks and sloppy clothes, rejoice over the sleek new fall fashions here in Chicago. Windows of shops and stores are filled with some of the best looking loot any exacting shopper ever dreamed about from hats to shoes. Even the fur coats cause a flutter, tho the temperatures seem a bit above control.

The brown taste is not a state of your tongue, but an authoriative hint of early fall high fashion as a color. Brown is destined for the biggest rush, after that the usual strong pull for dull and shiny black. There are brown fur coats, jackets and capes, brown daytime dresses, brown suits, brown cloth coats with brown fur collars in shades ranging from pale biscuit to the husky dark tones.

Fabrics emphasize the flattering suedelike textures, smooth, luxurious velvety materials both for dresses, suits, and coats. Every fall these suedelike materials arrive, but never in such luscious colors or in so many good looking textures and weaves. Flattery for every figure line is assured, with such fabrics together with a sleek elegance that every one appreciates.

Along with the wool fabrics for fall comes the revival of interest in corduroy, wide waled stuff getting the preference. Suits, two piece dresses that look like suits, costumes that feature the exciting new width at the shoulder sleeves, in an exaggerated dolman outline, and the flair of fall 1941 peplums that do everything to define a narrow waistline. This fall promises to be the most exciting of all the fashion openings. . . . American designers on their own and well established designing for what is the most appreciative of shoppers.

"A Debt Is Paid"

HUGO FOUND.

It took Kathleen more than two hours to reach the summit. It was with a little shock that she picked out the corner of the cabin roof pushing thru the trees.

Kathleen began the descent at once because she dared not stop to think. Soon she was scrambling down the rough scars to the stony canyon road, crossing it and going down thru the trees. The cabin had the same lifeless, deserted look. She hesitated before she turned the handle of the veranda door. When she did terror forked thru her with a painful thrill. The door had been open that Sunday. Now it was locked.

She saw the shade move at the side of the window with the corner of her eye. Her mouth went dry as the door opened. It was no use trying to run away. She was trapped.

A man looked out. A man with a stubbly unshaven chin, feverish eyes and sunken cheeks. But a man she knew. It was Hugo who looked out.

"My God!" he said hoarsely. "Why do you have to come up here? Go away Kathleen. Go away!"

"But Hugo——"

"I asked you to go away."

She stood irresolute, hurt—bewildered.

"There's no one with me, Hugo. You're safe. I'll never tell—no matter what. Only explain to me. Let me in."

"No, Kathleen. Go away as quickly as you can. Tell no one you saw me. Don't come back."

This was worse than the blackest fear. Her heart was breaking.

"Hugo, please trust me. Can't you imagine what I'm suffering?"

He did not open the door any wider, his brows knit. He seemed to be wavering. She moved closer to him.

"I'm not like your mother," she said, with lips shaking. "I can't laugh at my troubles."

"Go away," he said harshly. The door was shut in her face.

She heard the click of a bolt going home. For a minute she stood staring incredulously at the shut dead facade of the little house. Then she turned away and climbed the path to the summit at the back, moving like an automaton. She stood for a few minutes when she reached the top looking down at the visible triangle of roof, tangible evidence that this black dream was true. If he had only said one word of love. One sentence of explanation. Should she go back and try again? The vehemence of his entreaty was unmistakable. Go away. Go away.

She turned suddenly, crossed the summit of the mountain and began her descent of the Willow Lake side, indifferent to the menacing solitude of the high paths as her dark misery intensified her physical fatigue.

She was crossing the clearing of the fallen tree when a voice made her heart jump in her throat.

"Hi there, Miss Murray! What are you doing 'way up here?"

It was one of the policemen who has searched the house. She put her hand up to the violent pulse beat in her neck.

"O, officer, how you startled me. I'm not doing anything. I just came up for a walk."

He was looking suspicious and eager. No doubt finding Hugo would mean promotion for him. She held on to her composure with resolution.

"Do you think so? It isn't for me. And I like the loneliness. Up here I get some peace."

He seemed disappointed by her innocent demeanor.

"It's not very sensible, Miss Murray, after what just happened down there. Aren't you afraid?"

She could feel her lips shaking.

"It's not my nature to be afraid."

"But you should be sensible. 'Tisn't safe up here with what's going on. I'll come down with you."

It did not occur to her at that moment that Hugo's freedom could only be a matter of time. She could only think of one thing. He was not going on up in the direction from which she had come, in which case he wouln't find Hugo. The relief was almost unbearable. He was kind and considerate, too, helping her down the rough places, commenting on the lack of sufficient forest rangers in the district, telling her of his own love of the forest and deliberately avoiding the subject of her grief.

He left her within sight of the fence enclosing the wooded estate of the hotel, taking a path leading to the main road. Kathleen took the path leading to the short cut round the lake. Toby was looking out for her and came to meet her.

"You gave Susan and me the fright of our lives. Where have you been?"

"So she ignored the sign on the door of my room?"

"She didn't knock to wake you. She just peeked in."

"O—I should have known. She would."

She leaned heavily on Toby's arm, stumbling in her numb fatigue which seemed a physical expression of her spiritual despair. The tall boy looked anxiously down at her face.

"What's happened, Kathleen? You look terrible."

She was irritated by his quick perception.

"Of course I look terrible. Haven't I enough on my mind to make me look terrible? Do I need something new?"

He opened the back garden gate now padlocked against hostile curiosity and drew her in.

"Don't be mad at me, Kathleen, but there's something different about you. You seem crushed as—as if you knew——"

Her voice was shrill. "My God, knew what?"

"I don't know. I thought maybe—O, I don't know what I thought. I don't want to worry you. Did the cops annoy you?"

"What cops?"

"I thought they might have followed you——"

He helped her up the veranda steps. She could hardly lift her feet now. She was almost all in. She sank back on the cane lounge.

"Nobody followed me. Why should they?"

"I guess they suspected you of knowing something. They must have thought Hugo might slip in here sometime. All week there's been two watching the house night and day."

Kathleen drew herself up with a jerk.

"Toby, why didn't you tell me?"

"It seemed so—so suggestive. I thought it would make you feel worse."

Kathleen felt a weak tremble in her limbs and the apprehensive jerk of her heart. She put her hands over her face but no tears came. Toby sat by her and put his arm around her shoulders.

"This is something else Toby—something worse."

"Tell me about it. Let me help."

"I see, Kathy. You're afraid they did follow you. And you had an idea you knew where he was."

"Toby! Do you read people's minds?"

"No. You just kind of told me something."

Her secret began to be too bewildering and terrifying to keep to herself. It would be a relief to share it.

"Toby, I trust you. Listen——"

She told him of the day she and Hugo explored the cabin and her finding of Jeanie's scarf there and how it led to her startling discovery of Hugo's hiding place. "It's so strange they didn't find him the way way they combed the district," she finished.

Toby's eyes were half closed behind his glasses, his hair pushed back in deep thought. It seemed impossible to surprise him.

"Thank God, he's alive. Maybe they did find the cabin. Maybe he wasn't there when they looked. He didn't tell you anything?"

"No. Just kept on insisting I should go away."

"It's rum I must say. But, Kathleen, it—I mean don't let it shake your faith in him."

"As if I would, Toby. But doesn't it shake yours?"

YOU NEED VITAMIN "R"!

Vitamin "R" is not new! It is as old as man and his needs. It is life's own balance wheel—the toning up tonic that soothes jaded nerves, clears weary minds and recharges your energy.

★★★★★ Twenty-four years ago Balaban & Katz pioneered modern air-conditioning in theaters. We hitched our star to Vitamin "R"; a star that has guided over two decades of Chicagoans to the world's finest entertainment in the world's finest theaters.

"GIRL IN THE NEWS"
This is an ably done mystery drama, telling a believable story in a way to hold your interest. Its suspense has been adroitly sustained by a novel story twist and the understanding performances of its central characters. Margaret Lockwood and Barrie Barnes have the principal roles.

When it is necessary to cut food costs, a good place to do it is in the meat department. Inexpensive meats are just as nutritious as are the choice cuts, and may be prepared as attractively and palatably. Better to save on the meat bill than the milk bill [altho canned milk for cooking often is desirable and will save a few pennies].

These meat recipes are easy on the food budget:

Barbecued Short Ribs.

[Serves 5.]

2½-3¼ pounds short ribs
1 large onion
½ cup catsup
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup vinegar
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon paprika

Brown the short ribs in a little hot fat, then place in a deep casserole and slice the onion over the top. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over meat. Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 1½ hours.

Flank Steak Fillets.

[Serves 5 or 6.]

1 flank steak, about 2 pounds
½ pound suet or salt pork
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 green pepper
½ onion
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Have flank steak scored lightly at the market. Buy suet or salt pork in one piece, and cut into strips an inch wide and an inch thick. Place strips lengthwise down center of steak, roll meat around fat and skewer it tightly, using seven or eight skewers. Cut between skewers. Dip fillets in flour and brown on both sides in a little hot fat. Turn heat very low, add tomatoes, sliced pepper, onion and seasonings. Cover tightly and let simmer gently 1¼ hours. Remove meat to a hot platter and thicken the gravy with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to a thin paste with cold water.

Spareribs and Sauerkraut.

[Serves 5.]

1 section spareribs
1 quart sauerkraut
1 raw potato, grated
1 small onion, diced
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Salt, pepper

Choose spareribs which have the breastbone removed so that they may be easily cut into portions between the ribs. Place kraut in a baking dish and mix potato and onion with it. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Place spareribs on top and sprinkle them with salt and pepper. Bake uncovered in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 45 minutes.

Lamb Casserole.

[Serves 6.]

* pounds lamb shoulder, cut in cubes
12 green onions
2 carrots, sliced
2 cups meat stock
4 potatoes, sliced
1 cup string beans
Salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce.

Dredge meat in flour and brown in a little hot fat, on all sides. Season well with salt and pepper. Place in a casserole with the whole green onions, sliced carrots, potatoes, and sliced beans. Add 4 tablespoons flour to the fat in the skillet in which meat was browned. Blend and add the 2 cups meat stock [or bouillon] and cook until thickened. Season with 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, more salt and pepper if needed. Pour over meat and vegetables, cover and bake 350 degrees, 40 minutes to an hour, or until meat is done.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

July 29, 1941.

August—If this is a nine year for you, make the most of this coming month because the time is coming when you will need to let go and give up, so harvest what you can this month to store up for the rather lean months ahead. The expansion you do in this eight month cannot compare to what you could do if it was an eight year, but take advantage of this month to have that last spurt before running out the race. Your cycle of nine years is ending this year and it may take you a while to get adjusted to the new cycle, so make "hay" now. Take care of financial matters—insurance, bank account, etc. Pay debts or collect what is owing to you if possible. Don't plan any long or large project that will run over into next year.

GASOLINE ALLEY—BACK TO NATURE

OKAY, CHIEF.
AW POP, I WANT TO.
ME TOO.

ANYWAY, THE PARTY WON'T GO DRY, CORKY.
I'D WORK IF YOU'D STICK AROUND, SKEEZIX.
I'M GOING TO MOVE OUT HERE. I CAN GET PLENTY OF COOPERATION WITH NO TROUBLE AT ALL.
IT'S ALL RIGHT WITH ME, UNCLE WALT. I LIKE THE PLACE.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Too Many Nurses

THE ONLY WAY I'LL EVER GET THIS WORK DONE IS TO TAKE IT HOME AND DO IT AT NIGHT!
YOU POOR DEAR, THE TWINS HAD YOU UP ALL LAST NIGHT AGAIN, I'LL BET!
IT'S A SHAME ABOUT POOR WINNIE! WHY COULDN'T WE HELP FIND SOME WAY TO KEEP HER TWINS QUIET NIGHTS!
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Zzzz
DOCTORS SAY IF YOU LEAVE 'EM ALONE, EVENTUALLY THEY'LL STOP CRYING!
MAYBE THEY'RE HUNGRY! I'D GIVE 'EM AN EXTRA BOTTLE!
Y'COULD ROCK 'EM TO SLEEP, BUT IT'S AGAINST TH' LAW TO HIT KIDS WITH ROCKS!

Your Stars ★ Today ★
By WYNN

Tuesday, July 29.

Take it easy, mentally and emotionally as well as physically, today. Avoid the impulse to say or do more than you're sure you'd like to see on the permanent record. Watch anger and faulty judgment, especially during business hours.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead [if this is your birth date] means future gain thru developing self now in comparative seclusion, working on private projects patiently. Next year: Reward. Danger: Jan. 12-23, and June 8-23, 1942.

Tomorrow.

Do you want an individual interpretation of your own personal date? Send 10c for 1942 horoscope, 5c for balance of 1941—15c for both—to Wynn, Tribune astrologer, 286 5th avenue, New York, N. Y.

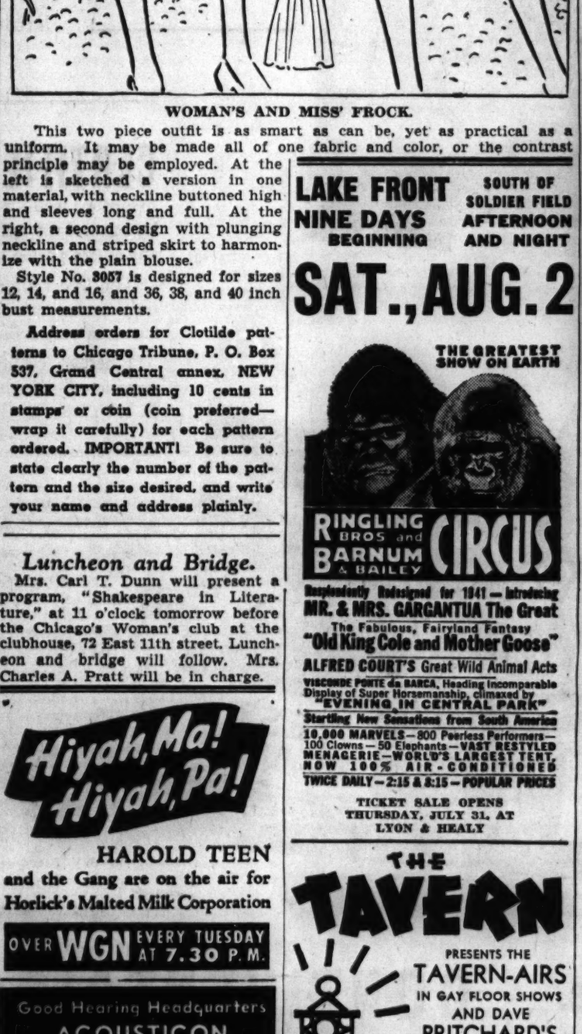
Two-Piece Summer Costume



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

This two piece outfit is as smart as can be, yet as practical as a uniform. It may be made all of one fabric and color, or the contrast principle may be employed. At the left is sketched a version in one material, with neckline buttoned high and sleeves long and full. At the right, a second design with plunging neckline and striped skirt to harmonize with the plain blouse.

Style No. 3057 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Luncheon and Bridge.

Mrs. Carl T. Dunn will present a program, "Shakespeare in Literature," at 11 o'clock tomorrow before the Chicago's Woman's club at the clubhouse, 72 East 11th street. Luncheon and bridge will follow. Mrs. Charles A. Pratt will be in charge.

planning to go to Nantucket early in August.

Mrs. Lydia Lee has returned from a holiday in Nantucket with her mother and stepfather, the John D. Blacks. Young John and Douglas Lee have been with the Blacks since school closed, but their brother, Warren, is visiting the Milton Morses at Spring Lake, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pynchon will return early in August from a motor trip east. They visited Mr. Pynchon's daughter, Mrs. John T. Rowland, and Mr. Rowland aboard their schooner, which has moorings in the Norwalk Yacht club harbor in Long Island sound, and now are motoring to the Gaspe peninsula in southeast Canada.

First Child Is Born to Edward Benninghovens.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Benninghoven [Frances Fairweather] became the parents of a son, their first child, early yesterday at the Evanston hospital. The baby has been named Daniel Benninghoven II. after his paternal grandfather. He arrived on the birthday anniversary of one of his father's close friends, Hugo Fischer, who is to be godfather. Mr. and Mrs. George Owen Fairweather are the baby's maternal grandparents.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Putting one over" on the opponents may be a pleasant pastime, but there can be no soul-satisfying thrill unless they are foes worthy of our steel. In today's hand, declarer didn't take candy from babies. He had to earn his victory.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	2 clubs	2 diamonds
Pass	2 spades	3 hearts	Pass
Pass	3 spades	4 hearts	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

North was outrageously aggressive in his repeated heart raising. Having bid two clubs freely, he certainly should have been satisfied with one heart raise and should have passed the three spade bid to his partner.

West opened the diamond jack. East won and, when declarer dropped the queen, did not make the mistake of continuing diamonds in the hope that declarer had false-carded. East saw that dummy's club suit was a menace and that the only successful attack on it could be made thru dummy's trumps, so that the trump queen could not remain as an eventual entry. On this sound reasoning, East returned the nine of spades. Declarer ducked, West signaled a "come on" with the spade eight, and East continued with the spade six. Again declarer ducked, and dummy ruffed.

Declarer clearly recognized the fact that it was vital to establish the club suit while retaining control of trumps and spades; hence he now led a low club to his jack. West won and made his best return of a low spade. But declarer had already formed his plan against this attack. He ruffed with dummy's heart queen, then took a trump finesse against the jack. When the ten spot held, the outstanding trumps were drawn and the club suit run off without difficulty.

It is true that declarer's play could easily have gone wrong, that West might have held the trump jack. But declarer had diagnosed the situation correctly and deserved full credit. West's repeated spade bids had placed him with a six card suit, hence it would be futile to ruff the third spade with any card but the queen. Then, since East was marked with longer trumps than West, the finesse against the jack became mandatory, and the rest of the play cut and dried.

NEW OIL WINS Certified Death-Test IN "THE LAND AFIRE"

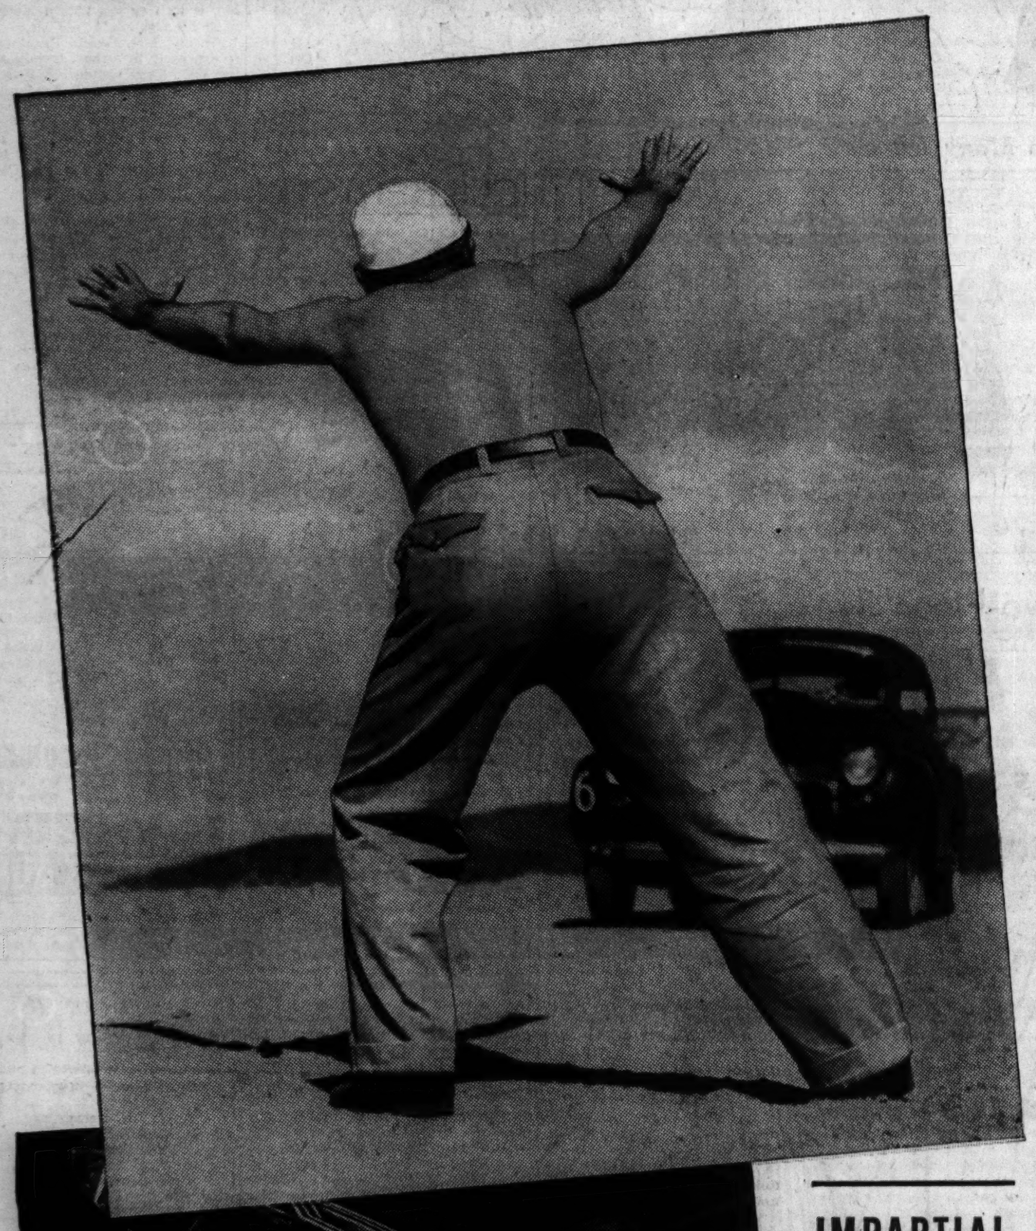
5-Quart crankcase fill—none added—lasted 13,398 miles, outlasting 5 rivals by 74% to 161%...Certified



Engines were all tuned alike. Broken-in alike, they had even been taken apart for the Official Referee, to check uniformity.

IMPARTIAL

It doesn't take many miles or minutes to dry up a man in Death Valley. But Conoco N*th* didn't dry up fast in that heat.

Every move—every mile—was under Impartial Observation.

BIG NEW OIL ECONOMY FOR YOUR CAR
FORECAST BY CERTIFIED RECORD

"LAND AFIRE," the redmen named red-hot Death Valley. It gashes deep into Mother Earth—down to 279 feet below sea level. It tops the U. S. A. for extreme high temperatures. It's slain men by drying them up. But only after 13,398 miles at 57 miles an hour—in a car with crankcase under lock—could all the heat of Death Valley dry up a 5-quart fill of the new oil named

CONOCO N*th* MOTOR OIL
—Outlasted the others in Strictly Fair Test by 5,683 miles or more!

Conoco N*th* actually outlasted one big brand by 8,268 miles. Yet all 6 oils tested had exactly the same chance ...in 6 new stock cars of the same make and model. All faced the same fate. For not one drop of oil could be added to the strict 5-quart fill locked in each car. And all were to run till wrecked ... that's all. So it ended up in the death of 6 cars, with the 5 "also rans" averaging not even half the mileage delivered by new Conoco N*th* oil ... Certified. What could make such a difference?

New man-made Economy aid gives You the secret

Conoco N*th* motor oil is preserved by a life-giving new synthetic—man-made under Conoco Patent No. 2,218,132. You know that vitamin synthetics, for instance, are making up for Nature's life-giving elements sacrificed in some modern food processing. Similarly, the latest refining methods steal some of Nature's best life-giving elements from motor oils. But more than making up for that today—in popular-priced Conoco N*th* oil—is a new synthetic, called Thialkene inhibitor. It inhibits—checks—the "festering" of foul leftovers that come from the normal firing of every car engine. Check this "festering" and you can check quick spoilage and loss of oil, as Conoco N*th* oil plainly proved for you in Death Valley.

You'll never Death-Test your Conoco N*th* oil in sinister Death Valley, any more than you make your car repeat other proving-ground tortures. As always, you'll still drain and refill at intervals recommended by qualified authorities. But you'll know you're getting the same great Summer protection that made Conoco N*th* sustain engine life as much as 161% longer in overheated Death Valley. And your direct cash returns from this impartial certified test will show up every time the gauge-stick says, "Nope, no quart to add yet." That's the test for you! Make it —starting now. Change at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station to this proved-in-advance new Conoco N*th* motor oil. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

AND CONOCO N*th* OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic... man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. By magnet-like action, OIL-PLATING is bonded to inner engine parts. Then it can't all drain down—not even overnight—not while you're using Conoco N*th*. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance!... and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco N*th* oil.

CERTIFIED The Engine Destruction Test in Death Valley, testing Continental Oil Company's new motor oil and five other well-known advertised competitive brands, was closely observed by me and my assistants during the preparation of the test fleet and during the entire period of the test.

The five competitive brands were bought by us at retail and handled only under our observation. Closest possible uniformity was attained in the cars and driving conditions.

I hereby certify that the work and tests were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated. H. M. Jacklin

ALL-STAR FOOTBALL POLL CLOSES TONIGHT!

SPRIGHTLY CUBS FACE 8TH PLACE PHILLIES TODAY

Happy North Siders Find Batting Eye.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who for the last week have been riding what for them can be considered the crest of a prosperity wave, will be turned loose against the Phillies this afternoon. Of course, the Phillies, being tail enders, don't develop much gate magnetism, but that's a worry for the front office, not the players. The latter, meaning the Cubs, consider the Phils very important for no other reason than that Doc Prothro's basement addicts haven't shown any desire to create trouble for Jim Wilson.

Maybe it's the new background which doesn't permit shirted customers to squat in the center portion of the bleachers and maybe it is just one of those temporary spurts, but, either way, the Cubs have been better home boys since the alleged hitting hazard was eliminated. Since the customers were barred from the seats and maroon paint applied to the cement, the Cubs have won seven of nine on the Wrigley premises.

Wilson Settles Down.

Another angle about the hitting, or run production, is that Manager Wilson has ceased, for the time being, making over-night alterations in his batting order. He had the baseball writers slightly daffy for quite a stretch, what with all the juggling of talent. The manager was merely trying all possible combinations to determine which of the many provided the best production. He hasn't made any changes, except for injury, in more than a week. So the present combination will be continued in employment.

Thoughts of getting Hank Leiber back into the lineup have just about been abandoned. Handsome Hank was beaned more than a month ago by Cliff Melton of the Giants. After the customary precautionary confinement he was examined by a series of specialists, none of whom could detect any damage.

Hank Has Dizzy Spells.

Hank, however, insists he has dizzy spells if he exercises beyond ordinary activities. He told some of the writers here with the Giants over the week end he was considering a trip to the Mayo clinic for additional examination, but he hasn't passed this information to his manager.

The latter's attitude is that Hank, having experienced a head blow from Bob Feller a few years ago, probably is mentally disturbed and should be given all the time he wants. Wilson doesn't figure Leiber will play again this season.

CUBS BEAT MADISON, 7-5

Madison, Wis., July 28 [Special].—A single to center by Tot Pressnell with the bases full and two out in the 13th inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 7 to 5 victory over the Madison Blues in an exhibition game today before 2,700.

PROBABLE MAJOR LEAGUE PITCHERS IN GAMES TODAY

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Brooklyn at St. Louis—Hamlin [6-4] vs. Warneke [12-5] or Lanier [7-4].
Boston at Pittsburgh—Javery [6-3] vs. Sullivan [4-3].

Roosevelt Said:

In an address broadcast to the nation and the world on Sept. 3, 1939—the day that Great Britain and France declared war on Germany—President Roosevelt declared:

"I have said not once but many times that I have seen war, and that I hate war. I say that again and again.

"I hope the United States will keep out of this war. I believe that it will. And I give you assurances that every effort of your government will be directed toward that end.

"As long as it remains within my power to prevent, there will be no blackout of peace in the United States."

ZIVIC-COCHRANE BOUT POSTPONED A DAY BY RAIN

Newark, N. J., July 28 (AP).—The welterweight title fight between Champion Fritzie Zivic and Freddie [Red] Cochrane of Elizabeth, N. J., scheduled for Ruppert stadium tonight, was postponed late this afternoon because of rain. It will be held tomorrow night.

Abe Greene, New Jersey state boxing commissioner, announced there would be no new weighing-in for the men tomorrow, but that their weights as of today would stand. Zivic weighed 145 pounds, two under the welterweight limit, and Cochrane 142½.

The bout will be broadcast by W-G-N and the Mutual system. The exact time will be announced today over W-G-N.

SOX, ATHLETICS OPEN BATTLE FOR 4TH PLACE TODAY

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 28.—Philadelphia was one of the hottest places in America today and the Athletics, foes of the White Sox tomorrow, have been sizzling for days. Nevertheless, the Sox boys spent an amazingly restful day. After all, didn't they stop the Yankees yesterday? Balm, indeed.

Smith to Pitch for Sox.

The Sox-Athletics series of three matches starting tomorrow afternoon is for fourth place in the American league, the teams today being virtually tied in percentage and tied on the won and lost basis. Edgar Smith of Chicago and New Jersey will pitch against Phil Marchildon of Philadelphia and Canada.

Smith and Marchildon hooked up in Comiskey park on July 19 and the Sox won, 4 to 2, by making four runs in the eighth inning, the first three unearned and without the aid of a base hit. In the entire game the Sox made only four hits, including a single and double by Smith.

Play Tomorrow Night.

In addition to having a better recent record in American league competition, the Athletics have a decided edge on the Sox in the clashes with each other. The A's have won 8 and the Sox 5.

The second game of the series will be played Wednesday night and the third game Thursday afternoon. After that the Sox, by way of finding some nice, chilly weather will move on for three games in Washington, and five in St. Louis before winding up the trip in Cleveland.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

MISS MARY HARDWICK, former English tennis champion who made her professional debut against Alice Marble last winter, will spend the remainder of the summer commuting between Chicago and New York to play exhibition matches. . . . Miss Hardwick will use her share of the receipts to purchase mobile kitchens which will be sent to her home town, Wimbledon, England, once the tennis capital of the world. . . . Now it is a military objective and its extensive railroad yards have been bombed heavily. . . . Helper Yotch of C. C. opines it's just as well the White Sox aren't going to be in the world series, because Luke Appling undoubtedly would have recurrence of the knee trouble that kept him out of the All-Star game. . . . Johnny Paycheck, one of Joe Louis' numerous victims, is in a Milwaukee sanitarium recovering from an ailment contracted at Camp Forrest, Tenn. . . . Bernie Bierman points out that coaches of professional football teams, like college leaders, have the draft to worry about, but the pros aren't annoyed about scholastic deficiencies, which seem to be plaguing Minnesota at the moment. . . . Dr. Wilbur C. Smith, Tulane university's athletic director, and Dana X. Bible, University of Texas football coach, have been appointed to the joint Army-Navy committee to promote athletics for men in service. . . . Both the White Sox and Cubs have been having trouble with new tarpaulins which yellow the grass when spread on the field. . . . They also have other troubles. . . . There will be no gradual sinking into gridiron obscurity for Howard Jones. . . . Like his arch rival, Knute Rockne, he passed out at the height of his fame. . . .

There are all kinds of golf tournaments, but why not a brothers' professional event? . . . There are six Turnesas, five Frys, three Mangrums, two Dutras, two Pennas, two Stonehouses, and two Picards. . . . Ray Kremer, old time Pirate pitcher, is a mail carrier in Berkeley, Cal. . . . Art Phelan, manager of Alexandria in the Evangeline league, has a budding star in Billy Rigdon, third baseman who is hitting .347. . . . Most of his players go to Detroit via Beaumont. . . . Mansfield players in the Ohio State league are instructed to laugh every time an umpire boots a decision. . . . Messrs. Frick and Harridge wish the practice would become popular in the majors. . . . George Strickler, director of the National Football league's service bureau, plans to make a tour of the football training camps to get newspaper copy on the league's recruits. . . . Hal Hursh, forward passing ace of Bo McMillin's 1940 Indiana eleven, has been inducted into the army at Fort Thomas, Ky. . . . Don Boyer, Chicago boy who set a national scholastic 50 yard swimming record while attending Massanutten Military academy last spring, intends to enroll at Duke university this fall.

Ah-h-h-h!

In tiny, fetching high-heeled shoes

Her skirt flipped in and out—
The darling wound around my heart—
Her red locks bobbed about.

But, man! Just then she turned toward me,
A MASS of wrinkles, red!
Two HAIRY moles on her long nose,
And NO teeth in her head!

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

BY GEORGE HALAS.

Well, here we are again—preparing to come to grips with an All-Star squad composed of the fastest, strongest, biggest, and smartest college players in the country.

You would think that the ever thrilling experience of participating in this sports spectacle would be enough for our Chicago Bears. It isn't. True, the All-Star game presents the power and glory and pageantry of football at its best. On the night of Aug. 28, thousands of eyes will look down on the green floor of Soldiers' field and see two great football aggregations clash in bitter, relentless, but clean conflict.

Millions of fans from one rim of the country to the other will cluster around the radio, giving plenty of body English to help the collegians cross the goal line of the nasty old Chicago Bears. Our boys love that.

Ah, They Seek Revenge!

As I said, you would think that being in the focal point of all sportdom that night would be enough for our club.

The missing half of the picture is that we have a score to settle with the arch czar of the All-Star game, the sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Arch Ward.

If you believe I am fooling, lend an ear. In 1934 our Chicago Bears, National Football league champions, clashed with the All-Americans in the first All-Star contest. At that time we considered Mr. Ward a sportsman. We were unpleasantly surprised when he refused to permit half of the game to be played under the professional rules, the major advantage being that the professional rules then permitted a forward pass to be thrown from any point behind the line of scrimmage, not from a point at least five yards back. Our most potent plays then were buck passes, thrown about a yard behind the line.

Why, Mr. Halas!

This character, this Mr. Ward, not only stated flatly that the entire game would be played under collegiate rules but denied us negotiation, arbitration, and the right to collective bargaining.

That was not the only dastardly trick Ward pulled on us. He neglected to tell us how good the collegians were. This lack of information caused us to enter the game fat, overconfident, and with all the stamina of an ice cream cone. We expected to scare the college boys into Lake Michigan with our reputations. When we came to, at the game's end, we found that the final score was 0 to 0 against us. The word "against" is used advisedly, for it was a moral defeat.

The following year the Bears were again pitted against the All-Stars in Soldiers' field. Again this character, Ward, indulged in specious villainy. As in the past the nation picked its own All-American team for the game.

It's the All-Star Spirit.

Meantime, Mr. Ward had combed the highways and byways, turned up one stone after another to find the most talented, if overlooked football players in this, our native land. As a result we ran into a squad that was six or seven players deep in every position, each one competent, experienced, and playing as tho the fate of the nation was at stake.

We won, by a score of 5 to 0, hardly a crushing defeat for Athletic Director Ward. But this is another year—we hope!

Mr. Ward's conduct has continued to be most deplorable, even in the All-Star game itself. He seats himself beside his coaching brain trust on the All-Star bench. Is he quietly dignified when the play on the field brings the officials within hearing distance? Hardly. This character addresses the officials violently, critically, and with gestures.

Even so, in our next article we shall relate how Mr. Ward and his coaches' brain trust were crossed up by Green Bay in the 1940 All-Star game.

Deadline Falls at Midnight.

The eighth annual All-Star football poll, which has revived gridiron interest in cities, towns and hamlets in 44 states and the District of Columbia since its opening on July 12, comes to an end tonight. No ballots cast after midnight will count in the contest that will determine the starting College All-American lineup in the game with the Chicago Bears, National Football league champions, in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28.

Tommy O'Boyle.

Supporters of the nation's leading performers yesterday combed the sun baked beaches along Chicago's lake front, the packed summer resorts in the middle west, steel mills, and defense factories in eleventh hour efforts to place their favorites on the squad.

The eleven winners—two ends, two tackles, two guards, center, quarter back, full back, and two half backs—must start the game against the professional champions, provided they are physically fit on the night of the contest.

Six Big 10 Stars Lead.

The Western conference, considered the most powerful football organization in the land, apparently has qualified six players for the starting lineup. The east, which failed to place a man in the 1940 starting lineup, has all but clinched positions for two of its most outstanding linemen, Nick Drahos, Cornell tackle, and Augie Lio, Georgetown guard.

Rudy Mucha, University of Washington center, who has been receiving support from Pacific coast cities and from the Roseland district on Chicago's far south side, may realize his ambition to be a member of the starting All-Star team before his home town folks. The south's representatives may be Ernest Pannell, Texas A. and M. tackle, and Tommy O'Boyle, Tulane guard.

989,114 for Harmon.

Michigan's Tom Harmon leads the list of Western conference players headed for starting positions. Harmon this morning has a total of 989,114 and his final votes may send him over the 1,186,000 mark Iowa's Nile Kinnick established last year. Other Big 10 stars leading in the poll include Dave Rankin, Purdue end; Eddie Rucinski, Indiana end; Forest Evashevski, Michigan quarter back; George Franck, Minnesota half back, and George Paskvan, Wisconsin full back.

The vote in the poll yesterday rose to 5,107,595 and reports indicated a new record may be established this summer. The total vote in the 1940 contest was 6,575,957. The length of the player poll this year was increased from 12 to 18 days. Final standings will be published Thursday. The coaches who will direct the All-Stars' training at Northwestern university beginning Aug. 10 will be announced later.

There also was considerable activity in the ticket department yesterday. Despite the 100 degree temperature, box offices had their biggest day since the opening of the sale. The remaining few thousand $2.20 tickets are expected to be sold within a few days. However, thousands of reserved seats at $1.10 still are available.

RIGGS, KOVACS GO TO 2D ROUND AT SOUTHAMPTON

Southampton, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—Bobby Riggs of Clinton, S. C., and Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., favorites to meet in the finals for one of the many championships Don McNeill is abdicating this year, advanced to the second round of the 51st annual Meadow club invitational tennis tournament today.

Riggs, seeded first in McNeill's absence, tarried thru a long match with 58-year old Dr. William Rosenbaum of Southampton, before finally scoring a 12-10, 6-2 triumph. Kovacs, seeded second, took much less time eliminating Vincent Paul of Brooklyn, 6-2, 6-3.

DOROTHY BUNDY WINS.

East Hampton, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., the defending champion, had to go three sets today to escape a jinx that has hovered about the Maidstone club women's invitational tennis tournament for five years.

Seeking to become the first successful title defender since 1936, Miss Bundy, seeded third, met a stern challenge from Patricia Canning of Hidden Valley, Cal., before finally scoring a 6-2, 2-6, 6-0 triumph.

ALSAB TO START AS FAVORITE IN HYDE PARK STAKE

Colt's Record Certain to Inspire Heavy Backing.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Alsab, Mrs. Albert Sabath's brilliant juvenile colt, will be a standout favorite in Thursday's Hyde Park stakes at Arlington Park—and that brings up the question of whether he'll go the way of so many other public choices. During the current meeting 12 stake events have been run and 7 favorites have been beaten.

With the recollection of Whirlaway's downfall in Saturday's Classic fresh in their minds, the fans aren't likely to plunge on Alsab as strongly as they might otherwise, but the youngster's record at Lincoln Fields, Arlington Park and Suffolk Downs is sure to inspire heavy backing.

Started at Lincoln Fields.

Alsab began acquiring a reputation during the Lincoln Fields meeting. In the Joliet stakes, major event for juveniles at that track, he overcame some bad breaks of racing luck and let go with a rush in the stretch that carried him to victory by five lengths.

His reputation still was purely local when Trainer Sarge Swenke brought him over to Arlington Park, but he soon indicated that he might gain recognition among the best juveniles of the country. For he followed up with a seven length victory in the Primer Stakes soon after the opening of the Arlington meeting.

Alsab wasn't among the nominees for the Arlington Futurity, so his owner sent him to Suffolk Downs to match his speed against some of the fastest two year olds of the east in the Miles Standish and the Mayflower stakes. Conceding many pounds to Eternal Bull, he ran second to that horse in the first of these events, beaten half a length and gaining at the finish. When the weights were equalized a bit, Alsab came back and won the Mayflower by several lengths.

Home in Triumph from East.

Sabath and Swenke brought him home in triumph from his eastern invasion and are now pointing him for Thursday's $5,000 race, after which he will go into the Washington Park Futurity.

Alsab is the kind of a horse which asks for nothing in his favor. He can shoulder his way thru close quarters. When he's knocked back, he comes on again instead of sulking, and as the distances increase, he looks better and better. He's one of the strongest stretch runners in the juvenile ranks.

Among Alsab's rivals in the six furlong Hyde Park stakes will be Howard Welles' Burgoo Dinner. After running third in the first start of his career, Burgoo Dinner came back at 3 to 5 odds on July 18 to win by ten lengths. He hasn't been to the post since. He showed his fitness yesterday by breezing five furlongs in :59 3-5. Welles has been doing some remarkable jobs of conditioning this season. He has brought Equifox up among the leaders of the handicap division and he got Bushwhacker into shape for a remarkably good effort in taking third place in the Classic. He'll no doubt have Burgoo Dinner mighty sharp for his engagement on Thursday.

Other Possible Starters Named.

Others in the possible field include Mrs. A. B. Karl's K. Dorko, Thomas Piatt's Bold Chance, Dr. C. E. Hagyard's Emolument, Valdina farm's Valdina Orphan and Valdina Alpha, Alex Gelb's New Glory, H. and H. Stock farm's Keene Advice, T. H. Heard Jr.'s Draeth, Raoul Espinosa's Counterbalance and W. C. Stroube's Liberty.

50,000 TICKETS GO ON SALE FOR CYO RING SHOW

Fifty thousand tickets for the Catholic Youth Organization's annual boxing show to be held Sept. 17 in Soldiers' field were placed on sale yesterday at the CYO center, 31 East Congress street, where a special booth has been set up in the lobby of the building to handle mail and phone reservations.

CYO officials said that many parish organizations in the archdiocese together with civic, social, athletic, and fraternal groups, had placed requests for tickets. Early inquiries concerning ticket reservations indicate a record throng will attend the bouts between champions of Hawaii and the Chicago CYO.

Amphitheatre Wins Saratoga Opening Stake

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 28 (AP).—Mrs. Charles S. Payson's Amphitheatre, a 2 year old, romped to victory today in the $6,500 Flash stakes, feature event of opening day at Saratoga, the nation's oldest race track. Rain held down the crowd to 6,267. As a consequence there was a new low for betting at a New York race track under the pari-mutuel system—$252,386.

Amphitheatre, ridden by Don Meade, broke in third place, moved into the lead in the stretch run and came on to win the $5,159 top money by three lengths from John Hay Whitney's Buster. The Millsdale stable's Gray Dream was third, six lengths farther back.

Joseph E. Widener's Roman scored his third straight triumph by winning the American Legion handicap and a $3,200 purse. Roman was hard pressed to win by a head from Victor Emanuel's Omission, with John Hay Whitney's Gramps finishing third, three lengths away.

Amphitheatre sloshed thru the mud for five and a half furlongs in 1:06 1-5. Roman, also ridden by Meade, went the seven furlongs in 1:25. Mead also won the third race with Dini.

NATURE GIVES ANGLER BREAK IN LAURENTIANS

Shelter Bay Area Has Its Speckled Trout.

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHELTER BAY, Quebec, July 28.—Nature has done things in a lavish way in this part of the Laurentian forest where spruces and balsams are cut on steep, rocky slopes, sluiced down to the fast rivers, transported to a mill, and then made into paper which eventually becomes CHICAGO TRIBUNES.

In the wilderness some 25 miles behind this modern little logging town of approximately 200 families the granite hills and miniature mountains stand 1,600 and 1,800 feet above sea level, one beautiful lake is 30 miles in length, and the combination of scenery, tumbling streams, and abundance of brook trout is so intriguing that it's anything but a restful country for a fisherman and outdoor lover. The trouble is that there are so many streams and rivers to fish and so many trout waiting to be introduced to a Montreal, Cahill, or Coachman fly that you want to spend at least a month in these superbly beautiful highlands with a tent, guide, and fishing tackle.

Vista Is Magnificent.

J. E. Vallillee, woodlands manager of the Shelter Bay timber limit, took us far back into the forest yesterday so we could see some of the lakes [especially Thirty Mile, a long, narrow body of water so named because it is 30 miles long], the Rocky river [a lovely trout stream], and the way a good gravel road is being extended far back into the "bush" to service logging camps.

Altho we had seen a good many square miles of the Laurentian forest before we made the trip to Thirty Mile lake, and had looked upon many a beautiful forested hill along the north shore of the St. Lawrence river, we weren't prepared for the magnificent sweep of this forested country with its deep valleys, towering mountains, lovely streams, and 28 per cent grades in the last part of road which has been blasted out of the gray granite in order to reach new stands of spruces and balsams along the McDonald river.

A Fly Is All You Need.

Extending more than 40 miles into the forest, this road might well be called the "brook trout highway" for, after leaving the outlet of Thirty Mile lake, you are close to or actually traveling along brook trout waters. When we crossed the bridge below Thirty Mile lake one of the French-Canadian boys in camp there showed us an 18 inch fish which he had taken the evening before with a cane pole [for a fly rod], about 20 feet of line tied to the end of the pole, and [as he said], a gray fly.

That's all you need to catch fish at the outlet of Thirty Mile lake, where unsophisticated speckled trout grow big. There is a broad expanse of swift, slick water coming out of the lake, and here around sundown the big ones will take a fly.

PASKVAN, BADGER BACK, TO PLUNGE FOR GREEN BAY

BY EDWARD PRELL.

George Paskvan and Curley Lambeau had another conversation yesterday, only this time they met on Lambeau's home grounds in Green Bay. In previous talks at the University of Wisconsin and also in Chicago, the Packers' coach could not persuade the Badger full back to sign a contract.

Yesterday, tho, the two got together and the result was a one year contract to play for the Packers at an unspecified sum. Paskvan doubtless was rewarded for his long delay in coming to terms, since Green Bay's full back problem became acute a few days ago when Clarke Hinkle announced he planned to retire after nine seasons in the National Football league.

Others Think So, Too.

Lambeau believes his new player is the greatest of the 1940 college full backs and he has expert opinion, if needed, to back it up. Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach, said last winter Paskvan was the full back of the year and mentioned specifically that George was better than John Kimbrough, Texas Aggies' full back, "ever thought of being."

If the All-Star football poll runs to form Paskvan will be elected by the nation's fans to start at full back against the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 28. The Wisconsin star has polled 761,947 votes, more than 30,000 above that of his nearest pursuer, Milt Piepul of Notre Dame.

For several seasons Lambeau has sought to obtain a top flight full back to ease Hinkle's burden. There are three other full backs on the squad—Frank Balasz, Larry Buhler, and Eddie Jankowski, but none has quite measured up to the Green Bay coach's standards.

Paskvan From La Grange.

Paskvan will report in Evanston on Aug. 10 to begin training with the College All-Stars. He will join the Packers in Green Bay after the game with the Bears and will have three weeks of drill under Lambeau before the Packers open the league season on Sept. 21 against Cleveland. The following Sunday the Bears will play in Green Bay.

The Packers' newest recruit is from suburban La Grange. He played only one year of football in high school and that at guard. When he tried out for the Badger freshman squad in 1937 he was a guard. When the next football season rolled around, Paskvan asked to be given a chance in the back field.

Wisconsin was preparing for a game and was holding defensive practice. Coach Harry Stuhldreher put Paskvan at full back on the team emulating the Badgers' opponents and on the first play George convinced the coach his desire to be a full back was more than a passing whim.

Stadium Gets Mamakos and Colan Aug. 20

A 10 round middleweight bout between Steve Mamakos of Washington, D. C., and Johnny Colan of New York was closed last night for presentation in the Chicago Stadium outdoor arena Aug. 20. The bout was originally planned for Aug. 13, but was shifted when Colan informed Promoter Bill Rand he would not be available for that date.

Irving Schoenwald, Marigold Gardens promoter who holds an option on the Chicago services of the New York fighter, released his rights to permit Colan to face Mamakos in the Stadium. Mamakos is being given a choice of $2,000 or 20 per cent of the receipts, while Colan is being guaranteed a purse of $1,500.

Four bouts of eight rounds each were closed yesterday for presentation in Marigold Gardens next Monday. These will bring together Billy Seward, Ingomar, Mont., junior welterweight, and Annunzio Ferraro, Milwaukee; Tommy Cross, Philadelphia welterweight, and Leonard Bennett, Detroit; Lee Oma, Detroit heavyweight, and Frank Greene, Chicago, and George Nyberg, Port Arthur, Ont., middleweight, and Ernie Derho, Minneapolis.

Frankie Bodnar, Terre Haute, Ind., lightweight, and Al Walker of the Savoy Athletic club will meet in a five round contest heading an amateur show tonight in Rivals' stadium, Harlem and North avenues.

Play Two Soccer Games in Gary Stadium Tonight

The Oak Park Acorns will meet the Carnegie Corporation at 8 o'clock and the Swedish-Americans will clash with the Slovaks at 9:15 tonight in a soccer double header in the Gleason stadium, Gary, Ind. The games will be the last before the semi-finals of the Carnegie-Illinois summer league for the S. M. Janks trophy.

Radio Stars Play Softball Benefit Aug. 7

A trio of radio comedians will be stationed at first, second, and third base. A famous tenor will be stopping grounders in self-defense. Tricky pitching will be served up by a star baseball announcer. Various radio actors, singers, announcers, and program producers will be on hand to prove they are the kings of the diamond—not the kinks, as has been unkindly rumored.

All this, and more that is unpredictable, will take place when an aggregation of W-G-N radio stars meet the regular W-G-N softball team at 9 o'clock Aug. 7 under the lights of Spencer Coal park, 4200 North Central avenue. Proceeds of the game will be given to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Free Ice, and Camp Algonquin funds, according to plans completed yesterday.

So far the lineup of the radio stars, subject to change any minute when its members realize what they have gotten themselves into, will be: Jess Kirkpatrick, announcer, catcher; Tom, Dick, and Harry, comedians, first, second, and third bases, respectively; Bill Anson, conductor of the Swing-It program, shortstop; Bob Elson, veteran baseball announcer, pitcher; Guy Savage, announcer, left field; Jack Brickhouse, announcer, center field; Paul Fogarty, producer, right field, and Attilio Baggiore, tenor of the Chicagoland Hour, short center.

Public Funeral to Be Held for Howard Jones

Los Angeles, Cal., July 28 [Special]. Public funeral services for Howard Jones, University of Southern California football coach, who died unexpectedly in his home yesterday, will be conducted from the First Methodist Episcopal church in Hollywood Thursday afternoon at 2, his son, Clark, announced today. Burial will be in the family plot in Woodside cemetery, Middletown, O., which is only a few miles from Excello, Coach Jones' birthplace.

The Rev. Glenn R. Phillips will officiate at the services here and members of the Southern California football team will serve as ushers. A steady stream of messages of condolence poured in from the country today.

FABER PITCHES FOR WAUKEGAN, BUT PHILS WIN

Red Faber, former White Sox pitcher who operates a bowling alley in Grays Lake, and Bob O'Farrell, former St. Louis Cardinal catcher, owner of a bowling alley in Waukegan, formed the battery last night for the Johnson Sea Horses in the first inning of an exhibition game against the Phillies on Weiss field in Waukegan. The Phillies won, however, 8 to 0.

After Murtagh had singled to start the inning and advanced to third on Etten's single the former scored on a ball that got past O'Farrell. One scorekeeper charged Faber with a wild pitch, but another recorded it as a passed ball for O'Farrell. It proved to be the winning run. Litwhiler went down swinging to end the inning, furnishing Faber's second strikeout.

Ed Linke, former Washington pitcher, also went to the mound for the Sea Horses. Nick Conteas, Northwestern football star, caught for three innings for the Waukegan team.

JOE MAXIN WINS DECISION FROM JOHNNY TROTTER

Joe Maxin, 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves middleweight champion now fighting as a light heavyweight, proved far too fast and clever for Johnny Trotter of the south side in the main event of last night's boxing program in the Marigold outdoor arena, winning an easy eight round decision. A crowd of 1,246 paid $1,413 to see the show.

YES, folks; our brewing methods are just as old-fashioned as this picture. Of course, our equipment, like for bottling, is up to the minute. And our packages are just as handy as we can think up, so you can enjoy our beer anywhere—our Hospitality Quart Bottle, for one. But the beer you get is old-time, all-grain brew—made as it was 50 years ago.

We never have, and won't add sugars or syrups to the brew. We won't take short-cuts of any kind because we found out long ago that new-fangled methods don't make old-time beer. Real beer lovers buy more of our beer all the time, so we'll keep on the old way.

Compare MEISTER BRÄU flavor by the "50-Degrees" Test—the way experts get the truth, undisguised by too much cold. True flavor, good or bad, shows up at 50 degrees—all the delicate tastes cold hides.

SUSPEND TRADE IN SOARING SILK FUTURES; OTHER STAPLES CLIMB

Cotton Establishes New 11 Year Peak, Then Falters.

Silk futures trading, which set the pace in the commodity markets last week, was suspended yesterday in New York at the government's request, but other commodities, blazing their own trails, moved to sharply higher price levels. Cotton, one of the leaders, faltered at the last after scaling a new 11 year peak.

The outlook for industrial users of silk as well as for the traders became clouded as tension between Japan and the United States resulting from last week's asset freezing orders brought far reaching moves in both nations.

Set $3.04 a Pound Ceiling.

The developments:

1. The New York Commodity Exchange, Inc., halted trading in silk for future delivery in compliance with a request from Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, who has announced that a price ceiling of $3.04 a pound will be placed over raw silk.

2. Governors of the exchange appointed a committee to confer in Washington, D. C., today with representatives of Henderson's Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply on the silk situation.

3. Hosiery manufacturers, who use about 90 per cent of all the raw silk processed in the United States, announced they will confer in Washington today with officials of the Office of Production Management. They conferred among themselves yesterday.

4. The Yokohama Silk exchange failed to open after an emergency meeting of its governors who, said a Tokio dispatch, decided to suspend operations temporarily because of the seriousness of Japan's economic problems.

Some Withdraw Prices.

5. In Chicago, large retailers reported that some wholesalers were withdrawing prices on silk hosiery and refusing to take new orders pending a clarification of the supply problem. Doubts as to what Henderson might do about prices of silk products left manufacturers and retailers wondering, they said, how to plan for the coming months.

A survey of wholesalers at the Merchandise Mart disclosed that a rush by retailers to place orders for silk hosiery already had started. Some wholesalers were turning to a policy of taking orders for immediate delivery only, without any commitment as to price. Others were rationing sales to retailers on the basis of past purchases.

Cotton was one of the liveliest performers in yesterday's futures trading. Strong trade and spot house demand, which found only limited offerings, was credited with pushing the price up 0.17 to 0.25 cent a pound to new 11 year high levels in early dealings.

Cause of Heavy Demand.

The increased demand was linked with congressional farm leaders' expressions of approval concerning recent price rises in cotton. Later in the day heavy selling dragged cotton futures down and left them uneven at 10 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower.

Henderson announced that a ceiling may be decreed soon for tin prices, which have been climbing recently. He said the government's buying price of 50 cents a pound for its reserve pool is a fair one. The current open market is about 55 cents.

BUY IN LARGER VOLUME.

Downtown retailers said yesterday that Chicago women have shown no inclination to rush for the hosiery counters as a result of the silk crisis, altho there have been occasional purchases in lots of a dozen pairs by customers who formerly bought two or three pairs at a time. One store reported that several men had placed orders for boxes of a dozen pairs of women's hosiery. No general change in retail prices was reported. Some merchants said they believed the silk supply pinch would be temporary. They said that even if wholesale hosiery prices go up, consumers may not feel the effects until a month or two later. The silk piece goods business was reported unaffected by the silk news.

SPEED DEMANDED ON SUBSTITUTES FOR HOSIERY SILK

New York, July 28 (AP).—The National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers estimated today that President Roosevelt's order freezing Japanese assets in this country came at a time when silk supplies were sufficient to meet approximately seven months' normal demand.

Silk substitutes such as nylon cannot avert the shortage that would result from an end to silk imports from Japan, the association said. Japan furnishes about 93 per cent of this nation's silk imports.

For the first six months of 1941, hosiery manufacturers' shipments were made up of 15½ per cent nylon products and 84½ per cent silk, association sources said.

Available Next Year.

Additional nylon production from a plant which E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. is building will not be available until early next year. Manufacturers and hosiery workers alike expressed fears their business would be badly handicapped by lack of materials before production of substitutes could be stepped up.

From Philadelphia came a plea by union hosiery makers for a hurry-up increase in the output of substitutes. William Leader, president of an AFL hosiery workers union local said: "It's only a question of getting enough of the synthetic materials, and it's up to the government to see that this is done."

Asks Import Licenses.

Quick licensing of silk imports from Japan was asked by Taylor R. Durham, Charlotte, N. C., secretary of the Southern Hosiery Manufacturers' association.

Earl Constantine, manager of the national association, said that hosiery and parachutes require different types of silk, and that because of this there would be little reason for the government to take over present silk supplies.

LEWIS ASSAILS SEAWAY PLAN AS PERIL TO TRADE

Washington, D. C., July 28 (AP).—John L. Lewis today put himself on record against the St. Lawrence waterway project, contending before the house rivers and harbors committee that it eventually would displace as many as 50,000 workers. The president of the United Mine Workers' union also criticized administration fiscal policies, denouncing "propaganda that attempts to convey the notion of our never ending ability to keep up our spending spree."

John L. Lewis.

Lewis argued that the $285,000,000 seaway project would mean the displacement of coal for the generation of electric power and would penalize the coal industry which the government has sought to stabilize thru price fixing.

Declaring the aftermath of the war may find the United States in an "international gypsy horse trading economy," he said the waterway "will be an invitation for other countries to unload whatever price or trade arrangements they can negotiate, in order to maintain exchange money and rates."

JAPANESE BONDS RUN UP 9 TO 17 POINTS IN DAY

New York, July 28 (AP).—The bond market made substantial recoveries today in divisions which were depressed by last week's far eastern flareup and the subsequent orders freezing assets.

Leaders of the comeback included various obligations of Japan, with rallies running to as much as 17 points. The government 6½s scored the top rise.

The rebound in the Japanese group was based primarily, brokers said, on the announcement Japan would seek to avoid any defaults.

Silesian-American 7s plunged more than 25 points after the company reported it would be unable to meet principal and interest due Aug. 1.

ALL COACH TRAIN CARRIES 300,000 IN FIRST 2 YEARS

New York, July 28 [Special].—In its first two years of operation, the Trail Blazer, a luxurious coach train operating between New York and Chicago on the Pennsylvania railroad, carried 300,000 passengers, C. H. Matthews Jr., passenger traffic manager, said today.

Reporting on the eve of the train's second birthday, Matthews said that 175,000 passengers had used the train in its second year, compared with 132,000 in its first.

For the first five months of the current year, patronage has shown a jump of 60 per cent as compared with the same period of 1940.

Calcium-Silicon Given Full Priorities Rating

Washington, D. C., July 28 (AP).—Priorities Director E. R. Stettinius Jr. imposed full priorities control today on calcium-silicon, used in the refining of high grade steels needed for arms production. The order stipulates that armament orders for the product must be accepted in preference to nondefense orders.

GOVERNMENT TO BUILD $7,000,000 ORDNANCE PLANT AT MOMENCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—The war department announced today that a $7,000,000 ordnance regulation station will be erected on a site yet to be selected at Momence, Ill. Approximately 3,000 acres will be utilized and about 500 persons employed at the station when completed.

Contracts will be announced later for construction and operation of the station, which will consist of warehouses for intermediate storage prior to shipment and a shell-loading plant.

Claims of Red Army Success Put Stocks Up

New York, July 28 (AP).—More optimism over the German-Russian war news today received the principal credit for another upswing in the stock market. Steels led the extension of last week's recovery, followed by rails, motors, and specialties. Gains ranged from fractions to a point for the more active stocks and a few issues were up as much as 3.

Dealings and prices slackened occasionally on profit selling, but final quotations were at or near the best in many cases. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held a net advance of .4 of a point at 44.3, where it was only .7 under the year's peak established last January. The rail composite went to a new 1941 top.

Reds' Claims Given Weight.

Aside from Wall street's belief there was something in the claims of the Reds that they were holding the Nazis and inaugurating offensives, there seemingly was less nervousness over the American-Japanese rift. Mild inflationary thinking persisted and generally pleasing business developments helped bolster the buying urge.

Stocks at new highs for the year included Southern railway, Industrial Rayon, Rayonier, Gotham Silk Hosiery, Duplan Silk, and Savage Arms.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Crucible tacked on a point or so each as this week's mill operations were estimated up 1.7 points at 99.6 per cent.

CHICAGO PRICES RISE.

Stocks of seven companies reached new 1941 highs on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as prices advanced briskly. Of 91 issues traded, 54 advanced, 16 declined, and 21 closed unchanged.

The peaks were set by Chicago corporation preferred, 31¾; Deere & Co., 26½; Illinois Central, 9⅝; McCord Radiator, 19; People's Gas, 43⅝; Swift International, 23½, and Utah Radio, 1⅝. The volume leader was Swift & Co. with sales of 1,950 shares, closing at 24, up ⅛.

Four dually listed stocks showed changes in the trading from 2 to 2:30 o'clock. Borg-Warner closed ¼ higher than at New York, and Aviation corporation, Consolidated Oil, and General Motors were ⅛ lower.

MAMMOTH POWER PROGRAM URGED ON SENATE GROUP

Washington, D. C. July 28—(AP).—A 2,500 million dollar steam and hydro power development program in 17 states west of the Mississippi was outlined today before a senate sub-committee that was repeatedly told by witnesses of an impending electrical shortage in arms industries.

H. W. Bashore, acting reclamation commissioner, presented to the public lands sub-committee a tentative list of potential power developments and estimated costs.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes recommended to the sub-committee last week construction as quickly as possible of multiple-purpose plants to produce 9,004,500 kilowatts by 1947.

The senate passed today without a record vote a bill authorizing army engineers to undertake a $275,000,000 flood control program. It raised by $15,000,000 the amount approved by the house, which must concur in senate amendments.

SET TEN MONTHS' GOAL FOR LARGE OIL LINE TO EAST

St. Louis, Mo., July 28 (AP).—Completion of a 1,560 mile oil pipeline from Longview, Tex., to New York and Philadelphia within 10 months was forecast today at a meeting of representatives of petroleum interests financing the project.

Preparations for an aerial survey of the $70,000,000 line were completed and Fred Casler, Tulsa, Okla., president of the company which will make the survey, said two planes probably would take off from here tomorrow to photograph the longest oil carrier route in the nation.

The new line will carry 250,000 barrels of crude oil a day from the producing fields of east Texas to midwestern and eastern refineries. Construction will start simultaneously at both ends and at several intervening points. A 22 inch pipe is planned from the Texas field to Salem, Ill., and a 24 inch pipe from the Illinois oil center to New York.

GASOLINE SALES RISE IN EAST AFTER PLEA TO CUT DOWN, SAYS ICKES

Washington, D. C., July 28 (AP).—Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes said tonight that despite his plea for a reduction in gasoline consumption in eastern states seven large suppliers in that area reported their sales last week were larger than in those of the preceding week—increasing 1,525,979 gallons.

"Even an incorrigible optimist like the average American cannot regard this as compliance with a plea for a 33⅓ per cent reduction," he said. "With Hitler running about the world like a mad dog, Americans still seem to act as if they were living in a normal world."

He called upon all people of the Atlantic states to ration themselves, expressing the hope that it would be accomplished voluntarily and immediately.

"If it is not," he added, "then we can only conclude that our many exhortations to conserve oil and gasoline have fallen on indifferent ears and that it will be necessary to put into effect some system of involuntary rationing."

Ickes said that suppliers of heavy fuel oil would meet at his office tomorrow with representatives of the Office of Production Management and the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply to plan for priorities for this fuel. He added that "the use of heavy fuel oil along the east coast may have to be limited immediately."

FIRM ACTS TO TIE UP CREDITS TO JAP COMPANIES

The Illinois Bronze Powder company, 2023 South Clark street, made certain yesterday that it will not lose any money if the current American-Japanese state of affairs prevents delivery of aluminum and composition leaf products ordered from two Nipponese companies.

The Chicago firm obtained an injunction from Superior Judge John C. Lewe ordering the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company not to honor drafts by the Japanese companies against letters of credit held by the bank totaling $14,220 unless the goods are delivered at a United States port.

Attorney Irvin K. Russ, who represented the company, said the merchandise was to have been delivered at either a Pacific coast port or at New York. The drafts might have been honored without delivery, he told the court. He said he believed part of the shipment was on a steamer now outside San Francisco harbor.

CHICAGO POWER OFFICIAL RAPS FEDERAL ORDER

Ralph H. James, president of the Chicago District Electric Generating corporation, yesterday questioned the jurisdiction of the Federal Power commission in its recent order that the company cut its rates to the Commonwealth Edison company. The company's entire output is sold to the Edison and Northern Indiana Public Service companies.

James said the company's power contracts have been passed upon by the Illinois and Indiana public service commissions and that the federal power act provides only for regulation of matters not subject to state control. He said the reduction ordered apparently was arrived at on the basis of rate making principles which, so far as he knew, have not received judicial approval.

EXPECT 22,000 APPAREL BUYERS AT FALL MARKET

Some 22,000 apparel buyers are expected to attend Chicago's annual fall market which opened yesterday and will continue thru Aug. 9, Chicago Association of Commerce officials said yesterday. They predicted that fall and early winter merchandise orders totaling 20 million dollars will be placed during the two week event. The Interstate Merchants Council, retail affiliate of the Chicago Association of Commerce, with 5,800 retailer members, will hold its 40th annual convention during the second week.

AMER. ROLLING MILL TRIPLES QUARTER PROFIT

Turning Out Steel at Capacity Rate.

The American Rolling Mill company, Middletown, O., last night reported June quarter profits of $3,068,735, almost three times the $1,079,405 the company earned in the second quarter of 1940. The earnings were equal to 89 cents a common share, compared with 20 cents in the 1940 period.

Charles R. Hook.

Profits for the first six months of 1941 were $6,667,976, or $1.97 a common share, compared with $2,084,599, or 37 cents a share, in the first half last year. President Charles R. Hook said the company's plants are operating slightly in excess of full rated ingot capacity and will continue to do so during the rest of the year if raw materials are available.

Crucible Earns More.

Crucible Steel Company of America and subsidiaries reported net income of $2,924,430 for the six months ended June 30, or $4.69 a share. In the first half last year the company earned $1,817,293, or $2.20 a common share.

Net earnings of General Mills, Inc., for the fiscal year ended May 31 declined $387,541, despite an increase of $239,458 in gross earnings. United States and Canadian income taxes rose $627,000 to $1,640,000.

Net income for the year was $5,251,732, or $6.23 a share, compared with $5,639,174, or $6.61 a share, during the preceding year.

Crosley corporation in the June quarter had indicated earnings of $371,105, or 68 cents a share, compared with $53,854, or 10 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 period.

Savage Profit Quadrupled.

Armament profits were reflected by the report of the Savage Arms corporation, which reported June quarter net earnings of $876,961, or $1.31 a share of capital stock, compared with $202,789, or 30 cents a share, in the 1940 June quarter.

Spiegel, Inc., Chicago mail order house, reported June quarter profit of $315,228, or 15 cents a share, compared with $304,371, also equal to 15 cents a share, in the second 1940 quarter.

Houdaille-Hershey corporation and subsidiaries reported a June quarter profit of $924,412, or $1.04 a share of Class B stock, compared with $711,055, or 77 cents a share, in the like 1940 period.

GRAINS WEAKEN AFTER REACHING SEASONAL HIGHS

Grain prices weakened yesterday after an early bulge had carried December and May wheat and all deliveries of rye to new seasonal high levels. Buying attributed to mills caused an advance of 2⅞ cents in rye, with December selling at 69 cents, but profit taking reduced the closing advance to a range of ¼ to ⅝ cent.

Pressure on the markets was mainly against the September deliveries, a reflection of the tight elevator storage situation in the leading markets. Closing trades on wheat were ⅝ to 1⅛ cents lower. Oats were ⅝ to 1⅛ cents lower, and corn was ⅜ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, the latter on May. Soy beans gained ⅛ to ¼ cent in sympathy with cotton. Lard, however, ignored all bullish influences and closed at losses of 12½ to 15 cents a hundred pounds.

New York City Electricians Call General Strike for Today

MEANS BROAD TIEUP

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

By unanimous vote, 5,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL] last night called a general strike of electricians in New York City for 7 a. m. [E.S.T.] today.

The brotherhood said more than 8,000 skilled electricians working for private contractors and other concerns would be affected thruout the five boroughs.

Union officials predicted a general tie-up involving New York's 250,000 construction workers.

Aimed at Consol. Edison.

They said the walkout would be a protest stoppage over a controvery between the union and the Consolidated Edison company concerning the right of union members to perform electrical construction work on a new Edison power plant in Manhattan.

An American Federation of Labor strike at Key West, Fla., spread to additional naval projects there and another at St. Louis, Mo., threatened to curtail construction of the $89,000,000 ammunition plant. The defense mediation board in Washington announced prograss toward settling three other disputes. They were:

1. Air Associates, Inc., Bendix, N. J., and the CIO United Automobile Workers, which called a strike over the discharge of nine unionists, agreed to resume work pending negotiations.

Union Accepts Terms.

2. The AFL Chemical Workers' union accepted board recommendations to settle its dispute with the Western Cartridge company, Alton, Ill., and a reply was awaited from the company.

3. The CIO-UAW and the Federal Mogul corporation, Detroit, which makes airplane and automobile parts, agreed to submit to the labor board a dispute over union recognition.

The labor department certified to the mediation board two disputes in which CIO unions threatened strikes today—at the Los Angeles plant of the Aluminum Company of America and the Lincoln mills of Huntsville, Ala.

The CIO-UAW threatened the aluminum strike in a dispute over wages, union shop, vacations, paid holidays and sick leave. A hearing was set for Aug. 6. The CIO textile workers' union at Huntsville seeks union security provisions and wage increases.

Navy Base Tie-up Spreads.

Some 2,200 AFL laborers continued their strike at the St. Louis small arms plant over the discharge of two ice-water haulers whom the contractor accused of idling, but most of the other craftsmen on the day shift returned to work.

HARVESTER RUNOFF VOTE

Six thousand employés of the McCormick works of the International Harvester company will vote tomorrow in a runoff election conducted by the National Labor Relations board to determine whether the American Federation of Labor or the Congress of Industrial Organizations is to be bargaining agent for workers at the huge Chicago plant at South Western and Blue Island avenues.

In an election held June 18 there were only 11 votes' difference between the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [CIO], which received 2,682 votes, and the AFL Federal Labor union No. 22604, which received 2,671 votes, while 206 employés voted against being represented by either union, and 78 votes were challenged.

Both Sides Claim Victory.

Spokesmen for both the AFL and CIO claimed that the runoff would bring them decisive victory. Harry O'Reilly, regional director of the AFL, and Irving Brown, international organizer for the AFL, said, "The last few days have brought a definite swing to the AFL. Employés are showing much enthusiasm for AFL representation, and many employés formerly aligned with the CIO have indicated they will vote with us."

Frank Sliva, director of the FEWOC, said the CIO was already bargaining agent for 16,000 Harvester workers in the West Pullman and Tractor works, and in the plants at East Moline, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Springfield, O. He expressed confidence in a CIO victory at the McCormick works.

New Wage Boost Sought.

Altho Sliva said that an increase of 5 cents an hour recently given all Harvester employés had won added support for the CIO, AFL leaders have asserted that the majority of employés are backing them in their fight for an increase of 12½ cents.

Charles A. Graham, regional direcor of the NLRB, said the board will certify one of the competing unions as bargaining agent only if there is a clear and unchallenged majority.

Voting will be conducted from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. in tents near the McCormick plant gates. Most of the voting will be on company time, with workers being released in rotation from the various departments. Employés in the armed services are being permitted to vote by absentee ballot.

OIL CONTROL ACT OF ILLINOIS IS EFFECTIVE TODAY

Springfield, Ill., July 28 (AP).—Illinois will have an oil conservation law tomorrow, after legislation voted by the recent general assembly is filed with the secretary of state without Gov. Green's signature of the new act.

Federal Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes referred to the new law as "a joke." Clarence T. Smith of Flora, Gov. Green's representative on the interstate oil compact commission, described the act as "a constructive step toward reasonable regulation" of the state's oil industry.

Most of the criticism has been directed at the measure's lack of stringent definitions and restrictions as to methods and production volume.

The new act does, however, contain regulations for spacing of oil wells, drilling practices to be followed, and protection of coal, water, soil, game, and other natural resources.

75 CENTS VOTED ON NEW SAVAGE COMMON STOCK

Savage Arms corporation yesterday declared a dividend of 75 cents on its new common stock, which in May was issued on a basis of four shares for one of the old common. The last previous dividend, paid on the old stock, was $1.50 in May.

American Car & Foundry CommonDividend Enjoined

New York, July 28 [Special].—Vice Chancellor Henry T. Kaye issued a temporary injunction today against the American Car and Foundry company, restraining it from paying approximately $600,000 of common stock dividends in an action brought by Oscar B. Cintas, former Cuban ambassador to the United States. Cintas, who says he holds $250,000 of preferred stock, sought the restraint on the grounds that the corporation failed to pay arrearages on preferred stock dividends from 1936 to 1938.

WASHER FIRMS FACED BY OPM, OPACS DILEMMA

Production Orders Directly Conflict.

The household washer and ironer industry, which has 12,000 factory employés and in 1940 had a business volume estimated at 100 million dollars, yesterday found itself entangled in conflicting orders concerning production from two of the numerous federal agencies created to facilitate the armament program.

Joseph R. Bohnen, spokesman for washer industry.

Manufacturers received letters from the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, headed by Leon Henderson, directing them to curtail production 30 per cent beginning Friday, Aug. 1. Last Thursday, they learned from press accounts that Office of Production Management officials said the reduction as proposed by Henderson would not be invoked on that date.

The OPACS letter, signed by Reavis Cox, assistant director of the division of civilian allocation, was the first official notice of the cut since it was announced July 19.

Asked for Output Data.

The firms also were ordered to supply production figures for the last five years to be used in determining individual allotments. The American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers association was designated to receive the information and forward it to the OPACS.

The association membership includes 25 manufacturers accounting for approximately 95 per cent of production. The Maytag company, 1900 corporation, Easy Washing Machine corporation, and Apex Electrical Manufacturing company are members. Birtman Electric company, Hurley Machine company, and Meadows corporation are Chicago companies in the association.

Joseph R. Bohnen, secretary-treasurer of the association, criticized as hasty and ill-conceived the methods being used to curtail production. He asserted the manufacturers were confused because of the conflicting OPACS-OPM statements. He said he did not know how any manufacturer could be expected to alter his operations to the extent directed in less than a week.

Wonder Which to Obey.

"If we obey this order, we'll be in a terrible mess," Bohnen declared. "Frankly, the industry doesn't know what to do next. In the first place, it is expected to reorganize its production on an official notice of less than a week. At the same time the government wants to know to the nth degree all about the manufacturers' business so that allocation can be made. We want to coöperate but we would like to know just what we're supposed to do."

Bohnen said he would instruct a representative in Washington, D. C., to determine the authenticity of the OPM order countermanding the reduction and then attempt to obtain a legal opinion as to OPM's authority in the matter.

He said Henderson has not replied to a telegram of protest sent Friday by 13 major washer and ironer manufacturers. They asked for more time, protesting that they had as yet been given no official notice of the cut and asking the opportunity to present "vital facts" which, they said, they had reason to believe had not entered into OPACS's calculations. They warned that the cut as proposed will result in unemployment and serious maladjustment since they are not prepared for an immediate shift to other work.

REMINGTON RAND PUTS DEBENTURE ISSUE ON MARKET

Other Concerns Announce Financing Plans.

A new issue of 15 million dollars of 15 year 3½ per cent sinking fund debentures of Remington Rand, Inc., will be offered publicly today by a group of underwriters headed by Harriman Ripley & Co. The notes are priced at 103¾.

Proceeds of the financing will be used along with other funds to redeem outstanding 4¼ per cent debentures. Remington Rand manufactures office equipment and electric shavers and is undertaking the production of armament items, including field kitchens and fuse parts.

Wisconsin Power and Light company filed with the Securities and Exchange commission a proposal to sell publicly 33 million dollars of securities for refunding.

Two Issues Are Planned.

The proposed securities would be 30 million dollars of first mortgage bonds due in 1971 and 3 million dollars of 2¼ to 3 per cent maturing between February, 1942, and August, 1951.

The company said it has completed negotiations to sell $2,500,000 of the 3 per cent notes to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, and $500,000 of 2¼ and 2¾ per cent serial notes to the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago.

Swift & Co. announced thru its vice president and treasurer, W. B. Traynor, that it is working with Glore, Forgan & Co. on a plan to sell the remaining 1,500,000 shares of Libby, McNeill & Libby capital stock which Swift owns.

Federal Approval Sought.

The government has ordered Swift to divert itself of the Libby holdings. Federal approval of the sale plan is being sought, and if it is granted, amendments to a previous registration of the packing company will be filed with the SEC. Glore, Forgan & Co. will head a syndicate which will handle the sale.

Lukens Steel company filed with the SEC a proposal to sell about 175,000 shares of $10 par common stock for approximately 3 million dollars.

Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., Makes 3 Appointments

Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., operator of department stores, yesterday announced three appointments as follows: Louis K. Bye, as assistant general operating manager; J. M. Barclay, as head of customer service, adjustments and deliveries, and William C. Weaver, as merchandise controler.

UPTURN IN BUSINESS LOANS EXTENDS TO 13 CONSECUTIVE WEEKS

Borrowing of funds last week by manufacturers with armament contracts helped extend the rise in bank business loans to 13 consecutive weeks, the Federal Reserve board said yesterday. It reported that banks in 101 cities boosted their commercial, industrial, and agricultural loans by $23,000,000 to a total of $6,011,000,000 as of July 23. This was $1,549,000,000 above the aggregate on the corresponding date last year.

HEAT CURTAILS MEAT PURCHASES AND PRICES FALL

Wholesale meat prices declined yesterday and several classes of live stock dropped as a result of light purchases by consumers over the week-end, and the reluctance of butcher shop owners to stock up in face of the weather man's forecast that the heat wave will last several days more.

A 50 cent decline swept the lamb market. The top was down to $11.15, the lowest of the season for new crop stock.

Most steers and yearlings were bought at prices about in line with last week's close. The top was $12.75.

Hog receipts, at 12,500, were smallest of the year for a Monday. Prices were steady to 10 cents higher.

RAIL EXECUTIVES PRESS CHANGES IN UNION RULES

Meeting Moves Toward Wage Boost Plea.

Changes which the nation's railroads propose to make in working rules affecting members of the five operating brotherhoods were presented in detail by management representatives to union spokesmen at a meeting yesterday in the Morrison hotel.

Fred G. Gurley.

The managements, the operating brotherhoods, and the 14 nonoperating railroad unions last week opened a series of meetings on questions of working rules and wages.

Gurley Tells of Meeting.

After yesterday's session had ended early in the afternoon, Fred G. Gurley, chairman of the railroad management executive committee and vice president of the Santa Fe railroad, said:

"We put in a full morning going over in more detail the proposed changes in rules, and then adjourned the meeting with operating brotherhoods until Wednesday."

Alvaney Johnston, spokesman for the operating unions and head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said: "We listened attentively to what the roads proposed."

Altho no details of the discussions were announced, it was indicated that the unions may be ready to outline their stand Wednesday on the rule changes.

Study "Featherbed Rules."

Included in this controversy are the "featherbed rules" under which employés, according to rail officials, often are paid a full day's wages or more for work either not performed or performed in trivial amounts. The negotiations have not yet reached the question of wages.

The operating brotherhoods have announced they will demand a 30 per cent boost. The nonoperating unions have asked increases of 30 cents an hour and a minimum wage of 70 cents an hour.

The management representatives will meet today with spokesmen for the nonoperating unions.

NO DIVIDENDS.

I have common stock of the Southern Transportation company on which I have received no dividends since the last war. Previous to that they were paying splendid dividends. A few years ago the company went into reorganization and since then I have received no word from it. Can you give me any information?—W. E. W.

Answer: Southern Transportation company was formed in 1936 in the reorganization of a company of the same name which was incorporated in 1901. The common stockholders of the old company received an equal number of common shares in the present concern.

The company has outstanding 2,500 shares of $100 par preferred stock, 47,500 shares of $1 par common stock, and $595,100 in funded debt. No dividend has been paid on the stocks. Income statements are not reported.

Southern Transportation operates a fleet of tugs and barges along the Atlantic coast between Norfolk, New York, Long Island sound, and Boston. Its main office is in Philadelphia.

PLOUGH.

Is Plough, Inc., a manufacturer of farm implements? I see its stock on the New York curb.—P. F.

Answer: Plough, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., manufactures cosmetics, proprietary medicines, extracts, and spices. The business was founded in 1908 by its president, Abe Plough.

Sales and earnings of the company have followed a fairly steady course. Results in the last five years follow:

RAILROAD TRACK.

What is the difference between miles of railroad and miles of track. I have noticed the different terms used in your reports on railroad companies.—W. B.

Answer: A mile of railroad, according to the Association of American Railroads, may consist of a single track, or of two, three, or more parallel tracks, and it may also include sidings, spur tracks, and yard tracks.
